The injury was ugly one, and as quickly as possible the boy was taken to the West Side hospital, where the nurses cauterized the wound.

TELEPHONE IMPROVEMENTS.

Old Company to Put in New Switchboard and Conduits.

The Pennsylvania Telephone company—the old company—proposes to make extensive improvements in its local system during the coming year.

Chief among these is a new and modern switchboard, which will do away with the necessity of subscribers ringing when making a call. The new switchboard will be the most modern in the possession of the Bell people and will be a great improvement on the present one.

It is also proposed by the company to extend its underground conduits a mile or more during the summer. The underground line extending from the exchange to the corner of West Lackawanna and Main avenues is to be extended down Main avenue to Jackson street. Extensions will also be made on Mohr court, between Olive and Gibson streets; Forest court, between Linden and Vine streets, and Linden street, from the board of trade building to the Kressler court. This will mean the burying of hundreds of overhead wires. When the work is completed the company will have over seven miles of underground ducts, carrying twenty-five miles of cables, containing 120 pairs of wires.

James L. Gaynor, of Harrisburg, formerly of this city, who is the company's new superintendent of lines and equipment, is now in the city working on the plans for these improvements.

FINAL GAME IS TONIGHT

SEASON'S BOWLING WILL THEN BE AT AN END.

Game Is Between the Arlingtons and Independents—Former Is the Leader of the City League and After Tonight's Game Will Be the Formally Declared Champions of the League—William Meister Is Captain of Winning Team—Progress of Bowling During Season.

The local bowling season will be closed tonight, when the two leaders in the City league will meet on the Elk alleys and roll three games. The contest will be between the Arlingtons and Independents, and a lively and close contest is expected.

WILLIAM MEISTER,
Captain of the Winning Arlingtons.

testing teams will be the Arlingtons and Independents, and a lively and close contest is expected. The Arlingtons, of which William Meister is captain, are at present in the lead, and even if they should lose all three games, they cannot be headed off. The remaining teams stand as follows: Franklins, Beckers, South Scranton, Cambrians.

The weather has now become far too warm for match bowling, and although there will be no more league work until autumn, tonight's games will complete a season which has been eventful in the history of the game's sudden and rocket-like popularity in this city.

MANY BOWLING ALLEYS.
Bowling alleys have sprung up throughout the central city and suburbs, as though by magic, and whereas three years ago bowling leagues were merely idle fantasies of the old fellows who used to do their rolling on the green, now there are so many city, club and county bowling tournaments on during the winter, that there's never a night when enthusiastic crowds are not cheering their favorites on to victory.

The city has maintained its reputation as a producer of good athletes in this branch, as well as all others, and proportionately as many good bowlers may be found in Scranton as in any city in the country. There are a number of exceptionally crackjack twirlers and lists, who can give the bowling leaders of the country a hard run for their money.

William Hopkins, captain of the Backus team, made the season's record, in his splendid average of over 200, for thirty games on the Hampe alleys. This is fast rolling, and would come pretty near winning first prize in any tournament, no matter how fast or how many were the participants in it.

NO 300 SCORES HERE.
It is a strange fact that, despite the enormous number of games, either match or individual, which have been bowled here, a 300 score has never been chalked up on the scoring slate. It is true that 300 scores are not very plentiful, but still they have been already made in the majority of cities where bowling is popular.

The high score record of Scranton is still held by Charles Fowler, of the Green Ridge Wheelmen, who made 288 on the Elk alleys, a couple of years ago. Effort after effort has been made to break this, but it still remains as the goal, towards which the knights of the pin dogtightly press forward.

FELL DOWN FLIGHT OF STAIRS.
Serious Injuries Sustained by Mrs. Donlin, of Lackawanna Avenue.

Sergeant of Police Charles Ridgway was, last night, informed that Mrs. Donlin, of 18 Lackawanna avenue, had fallen down a flight of stairs at her home and was seriously injured. He went to the house, with Patrolman Louis Goerlitz, and found the woman apparently in severe pain.

She had a half-dazed, dreamy look about her, which it was later determined was the result of the use of narcotics, a habit to which she is addicted. She was taken to the Lackawanna hospital. It is believed that the woman is suffering from internal injuries.

KILLING OF VINAZZA.

Coroner J. F. Saltry Conducted an Inquest in the Case in the Court House Last Night.

Coroner J. F. Saltry conducted an inquest last night in the case of Luigi Vinazza, whose dead body was found near the stockade surrounding the William A. Colliery at Lackawanna on the morning of July 1. A large hole was found behind Vinazza's head, and where evidently a bullet of large calibre had entered. An examination of the head by Coroner Saltry failed to reveal the bullet however.

The principal witness last night was Bettino Giuseppe, who says that Vinazza was in this country since April 25, and even through an interpreter it was difficult to get his testimony. He contradicted himself several times, evidently because he misunderstood the questions.

Giuseppe has known Vinazza for eight or nine years and their friendship has always been close, he said. On June 30 they came to this city and remained here until 3 or 4 o'clock, when they went to Bellevue and remained until 9 o'clock at night with friends. During the day they had six or seven glasses of beer apiece, but were not intoxicated. They got on a trolley car after leaving Bellevue and rode to Stanton and started to walk from that point to their boarding place at Collington. On the way toward the William A. Colliery they met two other Italians, and they all walked along together until they reached the homes of their two companions near the breaker, when they separated.

The witness and Vinazza continued their journey, the latter a few steps ahead, but they had passed on only a very short distance from the point where the other two Italians left them, when a shot was fired from behind and the witness felt a bullet which along his head and tear the leaf of his hat. He was dazed and frightened by the shot and fell to the ground, but a moment later got up and started for home. He has only the vaguest kind of an idea of what happened from that time until the next morning. He does not remember having heard any shot other than the one that struck his hat, and did not see his companion shot or observe him fall. They had no words or quarrel with anyone, and he never owned such a weapon. Neither did Vinazza have a revolver that night or at any other time. When they started for home that night Vinazza had between $6 and $7 on his person. When the body was found there was five fifteen cents and a cheap silver watch which Giuseppe said the dead man had carried for some time in his pockets. A five chamber revolver containing empty shells was also found in the clothes of the deceased.

SPECIAL MEETING TONIGHT.
Call Issued for Session of High and Training School Committee.

A special meeting of the High and Training school committee of the board of control has been called for 7:30 o'clock this evening, and it is expected that a large amount of business will be transacted.

The members will probably discuss the question as to whether the increase in the number of pupils at the High school warrants an increase in the teaching force there. While Principal Joslyn has not formally applied for any extra teachers, still he has signified that the addition of one more instructor would be duly appreciated.

A number of applications have been made for positions at the High school, and it is likely that the committee will on the matter serious consideration tonight.

ACTIONS IN TRESPASS.
Suits Begun Yesterday Against the City of Scranton.

Two actions in trespass were begun yesterday against the city of Scranton. John Shields, who owns a property at 424 and 441 Phelps street, is the plaintiff in one suit. He alleges that on July 28, 1901, and at divers other times, because of the change of grade of Phelps street, water was diverted onto his property and it was damaged to the extent of $2,000. He is represented by Attorneys Balentine & Howell.

Mrs. Bridget Walsh, who is represented by Attorneys I. H. Burns and C. B. Little, owns a property at 1313 Penn avenue. She charges that the city filled up a natural water course to her property, with the result that each rainstorm throws a large quantity of water on her land, which has injured the walls, rotted the timbers and made the place uninhabitable for long spells. She asks damages in the sum of $5,000.

DESERTER BACK IN THE RANKS

A LITTLE STRIKE ENLIVENMENT AT JESSUP.

Italian Who Endeavored to Induce Miners to Return to Work Is Waited Upon at His Home by a Committee of Two Hundred and Convinced of the Error of His Ways.

Coal Company Clerks Given Vacations with Orders to Report for Duty August 1.

Jessup was, last night, the scene of a bit of strike enlivenment which threatened for a time to assume a very serious phase.

An Italian, named Frank Gardan, has been about lately trying to induce men to sign a paper agreeing to return to work at the Dolgo colliery.

Last night, two hundred strikers surrounded his house, called him out and proceeded to convert him. It was not necessary for them to put into practice the measures they might have had in mind for effecting a conversion, for when Gardan saw the crowd he sank on his knees and swore by everything he held sacred, he would give up his canvass and be a good union man.

This is the first real disclosure of the fact that a canvass is being made to secure the return to work of strikers, but it is only what has been alleged for two weeks past and which various little circumstances have tended to corroborate.

GIVEN VACATIONS.
What may or may not be significant is the fact that the Delaware and Hudson company, yesterday, directed its coal department clerks to take their annual vacations at once and report for duty Aug. 1. Ordinarily the clerks are allowed to take vacations during the summer in small squads. Yesterday practically the whole force received instructions to take their vacations now. One of them was told to report by Aug. 1. You will be needed then."

Superintendent Rose like all the other superintendents continues to deny that any effort is being made to start up collieries, but these denials are beginning to bear the semblance of "diplomatic evasions," in the light of various circumstances. It can be counted upon as a surety that there will be collieries in operation in this region on Aug. 1.

There is some possibility of a conflict between the municipal and state authorities by reason of the fact that Sheriff Schadt has men detailed to preserve order around the Grassy Island washery at Olyphant. Burgess Manning has notified Sheriff Schadt that deputies are not needed there and that if they interfere with the local police they will be arrested. Sheriff Schadt says "Ha, Ha," and continues to keep a squad of his men at the washery. Just what the Burgess had in mind when he made his threat is not very clear. Sheriff Schadt was not sufficiently concerned to seek an elucidation.

NOT HIRING STRIKERS.
Farmers in the territory adjacent to Scranton are not hiring many strikers. Usually, at this time, there is a big demand for farm help. This year, on account of the strike, the farmers have not as much planting as in former years, believing there would be a poor market for their produce. This coupled with their animosity against the strikers, makes them refuse work to the strikers.

There were no arrests yesterday in Magistrate W. S. Millar's crusade against the hotelkeepers who refuse to employ non-union employees. Evidence is being accumulated, however, and Magistrate Millar said last night that he will vigorously push the cases, as soon as he returns from the Gettysburg encampment.

AN ENJOYABLE OUTING.
Attended by Employes of International Textbook Company.

A number of the employes of the International Textbook company enjoyed an outing to Nay Aug park Tuesday evening. Luncheon was served on the grounds, after which games added to the enjoyment of the evening. On leaving the park the party embarked to Chroon for a trolley ride.

Among those present were the Misses Margaret Eckersley, Vina Swingle, Rose Rosenzweig, Lucy Schieder, Nettie Duggan, Laura Roderick, Gertrude McGreevy, Mayme Schreiber, Nellie Ruddy, Lucy Maguire, Katie Gilbride, Mayme Marion; John Donnelly, John Collins, George Miller, Gilbert Oliver, Charles Berkeimer, Joseph Wunsch, Will Swift, Dave Dodd, Charles Higgins, Frank McNulty, Harry Rempe.

Shirt Waist Talk

All Shirt Waists are good. Some are better than others. Ours are of the better kind. A little better cloth, a little better fit, and a little better sewing, a little more care all around, are the improvements we offer with our Waists, besides the reduced prices.

Closing Out Sale Of Porch Furniture

Up to within the past week the weather has been anything but favorable for the disposing of goods as strictly summery as porch furniture, yet we have had an unusually large sale of these goods.

The high quality and low prices of the line we have been offering is the only reason we know of for the unexpected demand.

Besides deducting the freight (which we saved by buying in car lots and which amounts to about 15 per cent.) we have also cut the regular profits and have thus brought our selling price far below the usual price of furniture of similar quality.

Chairs, Rockers and Settees
Settees with or without Rockers

In this line is found the best porch furniture that can be produced from sound white maple with continuous reed seat and back. The workmanship throughout is unexcelled.

Accident Which Occurred Yesterday Morning to Charles Wrenn.

Wrenn was descending a ladder, from the top of the building, about 9 o'clock, when he slipped and fell, landing on a scaffold. At the hospital it was stated that he was merely badly bruised, and that no serious injuries had been sustained.
