NEN OF THE HOUR. His Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, the bishop of the Central Pennsylvania diocese of the Episcopal church, who has been thrust so prominently in the public gaze of late through the proceedings against him of Rev. Mr. Irvine, was born at Fayette, Mo., October 9, 1848. His early education was received in the schools of his native town. He was graduated at Dartmouth in 1870 and at the General Theological seminary, New York, June 29, 1873, and ordained a deacon at the church of the Transfiguration, New York, June 23, 1873, and priest at St. Mary's church, Fayette, Mo., November 4, 1873, both by Bishop Robertson. He was at once made rector of St. James' church, Macon, Mo., which post he held until his election to the episcopate. He opened a parish school at Macon in September, 1874, which afterward became St. James' military academy, a diocesan school for boys. He twice represented the diocese of Missouri in general convention and was rural dean and a member of the standing committee of the diocese. He was consecrated May 27, 1887, missionary bishop of Wyoming and Idaho. He was next elected to his present office, his enthronement taking place at St. Mark's church, Mauch Chunk, February 2, 1898. His see house is at South Bethlehem. He received the degree of LL.D. from the University of Missouri in 1887, that of S. T. D. from the General Theological seminary in 1887, and that of D. D. from Dartmouth in 1888.

The manner in which Sheriff C. H. Schadt is performing the onerous duties that devolve upon him as a result of the miners' strike wins for him general approbation. It is remarkable but true that he is succeeding in satisfying both parties to the conflict. As the strike approached, he was figuring out a policy for his office, and when the strike came he was ready to act. With the independence of spirit so characteristic of him in all his dealings, he proceeded to see to it, firstly, that order was preserved, and, secondly, that his office should not be used to help or hinder either party to the strike. His proclamation, posted promiscuously throughout the county, and his refusal to appoint any deputies who would not be working under his own personal supervision were first steps in the proper direction. Each side saw that he proposed to be sheriff of the county and for the county, and for no one else, and that he meant business. The consequence was that his acts were accepted as being prompted wholly and solely by a sense of duty. Both operators and strikers declare him to be judicious and honest. Unless something occurs to upset the good record he is making, the sheriff will emerge from the strike a mighty popular man.

FOUR BAPTIZED IN THE ROARING BROOK. Services Were in Charge of Rev. J. B. Boddie, Assisted by the Rev. Andrew Jones.

Four women were baptized yesterday afternoon in the Roaring Brook, below Dam No. 4, in the presence of several hundred people, most of whom were colored, and identified with the Shiloh Baptist church, at the corner of Adams avenue and Mulberry street. The service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. J. B. Boddie, assisted by Rev. Andrew Jones, who has gained a wide reputation as a prophet. The women, who were immersed in the brook, were Mrs. Bessie Richardson, Mrs. Matilda Davis, Miss Lucy Akers and Miss Ida E. Johnson. The baptismal services were similar to those held at the same place several weeks ago, and the presence of Prophet Jones added interest to the event. He warned the people to prepare for the future by accepting Christ as their guide. In referring to the recent mizedaster at Johnstown, he said the people should be in mourning for the sufferers of a stricken sister city. At the home of Rev. Boddie, after the service above referred to, a Tribune man had a talk with Prophet Jones. He is a sober-minded, serious man, who says that it is his duty to go about the country wherever God tells him to go, and forewarn people of impending dangers, which are revealed to him in dreams.

At that time Mr. Jones preached from the text found in the sixth verse and twenty-ninth chapter of Isaiah, "Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hosts, with thunder, and with earthquake, and great storm, with storm and tempest, and the flame of devouring fire." It will be recalled that the Mt. Pelee eruption occurred shortly afterward. The prophet is positive that the cities of New York and Chicago are cursed, and that the wrath of God will surely be visited upon them. He also fears a food famine, as the recent weather conditions indicate such to him.

WOMEN SHOULD BE PRACTICAL

THOUGHTFUL SERMON BY REV. J. P. MOFFAT, D. D. In a Discourse on "Fewer Divorce Proceedings if the Girls Were Properly Trained in the Homes," The Pastor of the Washburn Street Presbyterian Church Delivers Some Sound Advice to Mothers Regarding the Training of Their Daughters.

If all the women of Scranton could have heard the discourse given by Rev. J. P. Moffat, D. D., in the Washburn Street Presbyterian church last evening, they would have received a lesson which would be the means of making of them better daughters, sweethearts, wives and mothers. His theme, "Fewer Divorce Proceedings if Girls Were Properly Trained in the Homes," was suggested to him by reading in the newspapers of the many divorce cases, in court, recently. His text was based on passages found in the thirty-first chapter of Proverbs, which, he said, was a sermon in itself, which had come down through the ages, furnishing a splendid illustration of what a woman should be.

The passages of this chapter are as true today as when they were written, he declared, and if a man had a wife or daughter who was a woman like King Lemuel's mother, there would be no occasion of divorces and misunderstandings. If mistakes are made in marriages, he said, they should be remedied by mutual forbearance. Mutual forbearance, he declared, would ultimately result in happiness. The keeping of a still tongue, and the power of not talking at the right time is also effective in overcoming many mistakes which occur through marriage. In order that girls be prepared for the state of matrimony they should have a liberal education, practical home training and religious instruction, as the early years of training determine character of later years. Home training means all possible instruction that will prepare a girl to take upon herself the management of the home, of which, by and by, she is to become the mistress. The average man is strongly inconsistent; he swears by all that is good and true that he loves a woman for herself as she appears to him in the days of courtship and the average young lady believes every word of his protestation. TO MAKE YOUNG MEN HAPPY. But, as a rule, they don't talk about cooking and meals before marriage, and as a result, a deal of education is needed along the line of household management to make a young man happy. The religious instruction of the girl is essential to the training of children in after years, as no words do more good than those from a Christian mother.

In referring to the causes for divorce, Dr. Moffat said: "Lack of moral strength is traceable to neglect of the mothers who do not practice what they preach to their daughters, and personal, intimate interest in their girls is necessary to train them for the duties of life. The church and the Bible school do much towards developing the spiritual nature, but no words can have the power for good in the minds of our daughters, as those which fall from the lips of a spiritually minded mother. The lack of moral strength on the part of many girls is traceable, in many instances, to the neglect of duty upon the part of the mother, especially at a period of her daughter's life when instruction by precept and example is absolutely necessary. There are mothers in this city who find time to purchase a note a dozen needy objects, worthy in themselves, but sadly neglectful of their own daughter's welfare. The social life, perhaps, from the age of fifteen to twenty-five exerts one of the most powerful influences for or against the formation of the character a girl is to bear. Culture of mind and heart should constitute the highest aim of all classes, but oftentimes this highest culture is relegated to the background, if the owner of it does not possess that which the world wishes to be first—the possession of riches. THE FOUR HUNDRED. The appealing on the part of scores of families to receive a foothold in this seemingly to be desired inner circle of felicity—the four hundred—by depriving themselves of many necessary blessings, would be ludicrous to the extreme were it not pitiable. "Four our girls to spend these years from fifteen to twenty-five in an atmosphere of this kind would result in all noble, unselfish, loving characteristics being crushed out of their hearts, and their influence would not be what it ought to be. Mothers and daughters, don't be fretting your lives away because you are not some one else, and cannot do as some one else. Be what you are, where God placed you. "See yourselves as others see you. Not all among the four hundred will enjoy you any more than you will enjoy them. By all persons of culture and true refinement of heart you will be recognized for what you are, worth, whether you have money or not. "When girls show to young men sterling good qualities and less of frivolous thoughts, then will the young men learn to love and care, in the proper way, not only for the wife he has chosen, but also for the home into which he has brought her. "A good wife is to a man wisdom, courage, strength, hope and endurance. A bad one is confusion, weakness, discouragement and despair. No home can be complete without the recognition of the Christian religion, with love, forbearance and the establishment of the Christian altar. With faithfulness upon the part of each, the married life will be happy and divorce courts unknown. "God grant that the time may come, established by law, when no divorces will be granted, except for the Scriptural causes given by Christ himself. Then will be fewer hastily-entered-into marriages, and they will be happier ones."

THOUSANDS AT THE PARK. Large Number of Comfortable Seats Set Out. There was a big throng at Nay Aug park yesterday, the capacity of the trolley cars being taxed all afternoon. The number who enjoyed the beauties of the park during the day was not less than 10,000. One of the improvements they gratefully noted was the setting out of a large number of comfortable seats on the mall.

Paymaster Kronacher Drowned. By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Norfolk, Va., July 13.—David A. Kronacher, assistant paymaster United States navy stationed on the receiving ship Frankland, of the Division staff, was drowned last night while en route to the launch Mudge in a small boat with two companions. Kronacher's body has not been recovered. The boat left Norfolk early in the evening on the launch and came ashore at Ocean View in the small boat.

SILK WORKERS' OUTING. Annual Excursion to Lake Lodore on Saturday.

The Petersburg silk mill employees and their friends to the number of over 1,000 spent Saturday at Lake Lodore, where ample provision was made for their enjoyment and comfort. Two athletic events were enjoyed, a base ball game and boat race, which added much to the pleasures of the day. The former was between a team from the silk mill and the Crimson, of Dunmore, in which the Crimson won by a score of 15-14. In the boat race three prizes were given, the first and second being ham-mocks, and the third a watch fob. The winners were Lewis Diefenbach, first; Mr. Wackerly, second; Mr. Zaner, third.

Thirteen carloads left the Delaware and Hudson station at 8 o'clock in the morning and a large number went to the lake on later trains. The excursionists left the lake at 7 o'clock, and arrived home safely before 9 o'clock. The treatment accorded the employees by the proprietors of the mill on this occasion is an evidence of the happy relations existing between them.

SERVICES AT CAMP MEADE

found convenient to divide the regiment, and at Avoca two sections were formed. The one was under Colonel L. A. Watres, and consisted of the first headquarters' car, the First battalion, composed of Companies L, F, A and H, and two cars bearing Companies B and C. The other section was under Lieutenant Colonel F. W. Stillwell, and consisted of a second headquarters' car, Companies D, E, G and K, the band and the horse car. The first section was joined by Company I at Easton, Colonel George M. Hallstead, of Governor W. A. Stone's staff, and Major W. W. Inglis, ordnance officer of the Third brigade, accompanied Colonel Watres, and the members of his staff. In the first headquarters' car, Captain W. A. Raub, of Company L, was officer of the day, and L. M. Foote, of Company A, acted as commander of the guard. A Quiet Sunday. It was a quiet restful Sunday which the Thirteenth passed in camp after its long and irksome trip of yesterday. The weather is, very nearly perfect, the sanitary conditions excellent, the general health good, and a spirit of contentment and comfort pervades the entire regiment. In quiet, the only maneuvers for which the regiment was called out being guard mount in the morning, and a brigade dress parade at 5.30. Chaplain W. H. Swift, this morning conducted services held jointly with the Ninth in the Y. M. C. A. Tent. To-day afternoon the general and officers of the regiment were thronged with guests, a large number of excursions having been run from Philadelphia, Allentown, Reading and other surrounding places. Many Scrantonians were in camp. The encampment promises to be one of the most enjoyable well as beneficial ones in the history of the National Guard. Colonel W. J. Elliott, assistant adjutant general of the state, today compiled his figures for Adjutant General T. J. Stewart, and they showed a total attendance in camp of 96.8 of the division. There were 3,192 present today out of an aggregate of 9,568. Of this number 729 are officers and 8,839 enlisted men. Major General Charles Miller, division commander, was seen by The Tribune correspondent this afternoon, and in the course of a short talk said: "It is an mighty pleasure with the splendid corps shown by the adjutant general's report. The figures on the whole, constitute a better average than they did at the division encampment, two years ago. The Third brigade shows up particularly well. General Miller declined to discuss any action which would be taken in case of trouble at any of the striking collieries. The statement was however given out from division headquarters, that in case of any trouble the brigade whose regiments came from the vicinity where it occurred would be sent to quell it. May Be Called Out. General Gobin has stated that he would not be surprised if ordered to Carbon county in case of further trouble there. It is practically assured that it will be the Third brigade which will be ordered to the field. This morning General Gobin and staff inspected the Thirteenth camp, and after afternoon the general and officers of the regiment enjoyed a ride over Gettysburg's battle fields. All of last year's coldness between General Miller and General Gobin has vanished. The last chilly signs of a misunderstanding were cleared up yesterday, when the commander of the Third brigade, accompanied by Major W. S. Millar, of Scranton, his assistant adjutant general, dashed up to division headquarters in an automobile owned by Captain Calvin Pardee, of the Fourth regiment, and paid their respects to the division commander. Tuesday the inspection of the Third brigade will take place and the Thirteenth will be put through its paces during the morning. Friday is governor's day, when Governor W. A. Stone, who is expected to be present and review the troops. Secretary of War Elihu Root and Adjutant General Corbin will also be here. The majority of members of the governor's staff, among them Colonel E. H. Ripple and Colonel George M. Hallstead, of Scranton, are already present. Lieutenant Colonel L. F. Loree, of the division staff, has been appointed officer of the provost guard for the week. Lieutenant Colonel Ricketts, of the Sixteenth infantry, was today officer of the day, and Lieutenant Colonel E. N. Frankland, of the Division staff, was division staff officer, and Captain John Huff, of Company H, was regimental officer of the day today. Lieutenant Barron, of G, was officer of the guard. Lieutenant Whitney, of E, was supernumerary officer, and Capt. L. M. Foote, of the Division staff, was officer of the day, and Lieutenant Elmer Berry, of B, was officer of the guard. L. M. Levy.

BISHOP AND SIDE DOORS

STRONG SERMON AGAINST A DEFLOABLE EVIL. In His Sermon at St. Peter's Cathedral, Yesterday Morning, Bishop Hoban Declares for a Crusade Against Saloons Which Sell Drinks to Young Girls—Men of the Holy Name Society Called Upon to Fight Against This Form of Vice—Indication of Bishop's Determination.

In his sermon at the cathedral yesterday morning, Bishop Hoban declared for a war on saloonkeepers who serve drinks to young girls. He addressed himself particularly to members of the Holy Name society, an organization composed of the adult male members of the congregation, and having for its chief purposes the suppression of immorality and profanity. The bishop told of several instances of the evil results of the saloon "side door" that had come to his notice and of how he had been rebuffed in his personal efforts to correct the evil. After this, he called on the men of the parish to get together and fight against this curse, urging them to stop at no legitimate ends to accomplish its obliteration. One of the instances he related was to the effect that when he sought to stop this evil at one saloon by having an influential citizen personally appeal to the saloonkeeper, he was told that the saloonkeeper declared he had no fear of any one as he was backed by a certain brewer. "I care not," said the bishop, "if every brewer and every millstone be in the city, for that matter, was back of a saloonkeeper, he must give up this practice of selling drink to young girls." "That it is high time some one should make a move against this evil is patent to everyone who is 'about town' to any considerable extent. It is not every saloon which indulges in this practice, but there are so many that it is not fair to say that it is general. Scores of girls of tender years think it a jolly lark to pick up with a 'drummer' or some man about town and accompany him to a saloon to have a glass of beer or wine. Some of them are strong enough to resist the temptation to 'see life' a little further. Eventually, in some cases, the 'ladies entrance' of the saloon is the portal to the path not straight or narrow. Just what practical movement against this evil will come of the bishop's sermon is yet to develop. It can be relied upon, however, that his words will bear good fruit.

QUARTERLY CONVENTION. Gathering of Temperance Men in the Hall of Holy Cross Church Last Evening.

In the hall of Holy Cross church, Bellevue, yesterday, was held the quarterly convention of the First district of the Total Abstinence union of Scranton diocese. After the convention was called to order at 2 o'clock, Rev. Father Carmody, assistant pastor of the Holy Cross church, was introduced and welcomed the delegates to the church and wished them, on behalf of St. Peter's society, every success in the noble work they were there to further. At the conclusion of the address the president named the following committees: Auditing—John W. Carroll, John McLain and James Arthur. Resolutions—W. B. McDonough, M. J. O'Toole and Michael Kelly, Mrs. Margaret Durkin and Thomas Gilroy. Credentials—Michael Burke, James P. Lavelle, John B. Bevin. Rev. P. J. McManus, the president of the Scranton Diocesan union, was introduced and made an eloquent address, which stirred the whole convention. During his remarks he made a strong appeal for the boys, who were the future hope of the organization. He said: "Save the young men and boys from the curse of drink and you will have saved parents, brothers, sisters and lovers from future shame and unhappiness, and you will also protect the future homes from the terrible effects of drink." He concluded his remarks by advising the young women to use all their influence in building up and advancing the Father Mathew movement. Timothy Burke, secretary of the Diocesan union, made a few remarks pertaining to the national convention, which will be held in Dubuque, Iowa, next month. At the request of the convention, Miss Margaret Durkin read her prize essay on "The Best Means to Advance the Cause of Total Abstinence." Following this in rapid order were the reports of the committees on credentials, showing that eighteen societies were represented; report of secretary, financial report, and report of treasurer, all of which were received as read. The question of a labor bureau was brought up and discussed, with the result that the presidents of the various societies were instructed to meet, form such a bureau, receive applications for employment and by the use of circulars sent to contractors, etc., secure for applicants positions as far as possible. The following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing year: President, J. C. Gallagher; secretary, John Baldwin; treasurer, Thomas Gavin. Stirring resolutions, condemning the use and sale of intoxicating drink, were read and adopted. The evening session of the convention was a musical treat. The piano and violin duet by Louis Senker and Frank O'Hara was one of the features of the evening. The vocal solos of James McHugh, Gustave Repper, Miss Margaret Gerrity and Lizzie Durkin were exceedingly well rendered and received high praise. Miss Kate Reardon and James Gilroy each rendered with ease and grace very fine piano selections. The entertainment closed with a violin solo by Frank Doyle, which was accorded great applause. The place where the next quarterly convention will be held was not decided upon.

WHEELS LEFT RAILS. Passengers on a South Side Car Shaken Up.

Three or four persons were slightly injured and a number of persons badly shaken up by the derailing of one of the Scranton Railway company's cars near the site of the old Connell breaker on Cedar avenue, last night. The car was in charge of Conductor John Conley and Motorman John Burke and was inward bound. It had, fortunately, been slowed down before reaching the curve, in making the turn into Genet street, the front wheels of the car left the track, facing down the steep hill, and instantly all was confusion in the car. The rear truck wheels stayed on the rails. A woman named Lafferty, a resident
