LEADERS SAY THEY KNOW NOT HOW THEY STAND.

Best Information Obtainable Is That a Few of the Locals Instructed Their Representatives to Vote for a General Strike, bt a Majority Simply Told Their Delegates to Do What They Thought Was for the Best-Oxford Washery Starts Up. Rockmen Return to Work.

None of the strike leaders will admit hat they know anything definite as to how the eclegates from this region will vote at the Indianapolis convention on the proposition to declare a general strike. There has been no conference of the delegates, it is claimed, and no one has attempted to make a canvass to ascertain how they stood. The best knowledge that can be gained is to the effect that some few locals instructed their representatives to vote for a general strike, but that the majority of the delegates received no instructions further than to do what they deemd best.

It is almost a certainty that the officers of the mine workers do not want a general strike, and that the rank and file in the soft coal regions are unanimously against a general strike, except in the small isolated regions where strikes are already on or impending from local causes. The chances are that the delegates opposing strike will be in the majority and that the convention will do no more than impose a per capita tax on the soft coal men to support the anthracite strikers,

Reformed Episcopal church, held last evening, the resignation of Rev. George L. Alrich was accepted, and the following resolutions adopted: Having received the resignation of our pastor, Rev. George L. Alrich, and having been unable to persuade him to recall it, we accept it with reluctance and regret. We desire to express our appreciation of his faithful service and his untiring Industry during a pastorate of nearly nine years. He has preached the plain simple gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. He has avoided sensational topics. He has studied the Word with diligence, and has given us well prepared and instructive expositions of Scripture. He has been true to his convictions and has presented the truth without fear or favor.

His work has not been confined to our own parish. He has ministered constantly to the poor, the sick and the sorrowing, outside of his own flock. He has labored in the Rescue mission and in the Florence mission, with our consent and approval he has taught several Bible classes in this city and in Wilkes-Barre. ANOTHER STREET CAR STRIKE THREATENED.

Dispuce Over the Interpretation of the Clause Regulating Seniority of Service and Preference of Runs in the Agreement That Was Entered Into at the Close of the Last Strike, Four Months Ago-Meeting of the Union's Officers and Executive Committeemen.

When the last street car strike was settled, on April 7, a written agreement was entered into between the strikers and General Manager Sillman, It was provided in this agreement that all the strikers should be taken back as fast as places could be made for them the company to pay the unemployed, a bonus equivalent to fifty per cent, of the difference between a common laborer's pay of $1.25 and what they had been averaging before the strike, and that no new men should be hired until the old men were back and the entire force reduced to 307, at which figure it stood the day before the strike, Sept. 30, 1901, and further, that when the force was diminished to this number the preference in runs should be governed by "the length of service." June 15 the force was reduced to 307 and a committee of the ex-strikers waited on General Manager Silliman to confer about preferences according to

LENGTH OF SERVICE.

The committee contended that the term "length of service" should be interpreted to mean that the strikers did not lose their standing as to seniority because of the strike. Mr. Silliman declined to so interpret the clause, maintaining that the men who went on strike lost their standing the same as would an employe who quit or was discharged and some years later was re-employed. In support of the correctness of this interpretation, Mr. Silliman pointed to the fact that he had declared repeatedly during the strike the negotiations for settlement that one thing would have to be understood, and ploy of the company, the imports and those of the strikers who had returned to work, should not be disturbed in any way by the reinstatement of the
