OPINION IN NOLAN CASE

HANDED DOWN YESTERDAY BY JUDGE EDWARDS.

Dissolves the Co-partnership and Appoints One of the Members as Receiver, After Discussing the Contentions of the Warring Brothers. Amended Statement of the City's Indebtedness Filed—Suit Against Old Forge Borough—Award in Case of Caulk vs. White et al.

Judge H. M. Edwards yesterday handed down an opinion and decree in the equity case of John F. Nolan against Thomas J. Nolan, Peter Nolan and William H. Nolan. The opinion follows:

The co-partnership in this case was originally formed in October, 1897, by and between two brothers, John F. Nolan and Thomas J. Nolan, for the purpose of carrying on the business of plumbing, gasfitting and other work of a like nature. In the year 1900 two other brothers, William and Peter Nolan, were taken into the firm on certain conditions which need not be explained now. There were no written articles of co-partnership. The business seems to have gone on satisfactorily for a while after the formation of the new partnership. There were a few disputes between the brothers, but not of a serious character.

The first important difficulty occurred about August, 1901, when William and Thomas had a disagreement, resulting in William's leaving the business. Whether he was prevented from participating in the business of the firm by Thomas, or whether he voluntarily abandoned the business in consequence of a quarrel is not a question of much importance. In view of the testimony I do not think the conduct of Thomas was a sufficient excuse for William to abandon the business. At any rate, with the exception of a short time during which William returned to the store or shop as a result of intercession on the part of John, it appears that William has done no work in connection with the firm since August, 1901.

The two members of the firm who actively conducted and apparently controlled the business are John Nolan, the plaintiff, and Thomas Nolan, one of the defendants. They also constituted the original firm. Several disputes during the year 1901 between these two brothers resulted in a substantial severance of their partnership relations in December of that year. Since then John ceased active work, the kind of work he used to perform, but he continued to collect bills and to exercise the rights of a partner until some time in March, 1902. There were some attempts at a settlement made previous to the filing of the bill in this case, but they failed, because, according to Thomas' contention, John asked an exorbitant price for his interest in the business. Without discussing the merits of the various claims, charges and counter charges made by the brothers, especially by John and Thomas, it clearly appears from the evidence:

JUDGE'S FINDINGS.

1. That there must be a decree dissolving the co-partnership. This is conceded by counsel on both sides; but, whether conceded or not, there are abundant grounds for such a decree. It may be based on the evident improbability of the partners ever being able to carry on the business without constant quarrels, thereby endangering the business of the firm; or, on the abandonment of the business by William and the partial abandonment by John, or on account of the final severance of all partnership relations between the brothers at the end of March, 1902.

2. It would appear that the co-partnership should be considered dissolved as of April 1, 1902. Nolan Brothers ceased doing business at that time. Since then the business has been carried on by Thomas J. Nolan in his own name. Nevertheless, we cannot limit the rights of the parties nor the powers of the receiver by the interlocutory decree dissolving the co-partnership, although the date mentioned would be a convenient point at which to end and wind up the affairs of the firm.

Now, July 22, 1902, after considering the evidence in this case, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that the co-partnership, heretofore existing between John, Thomas, William and Peter Nolan, under the firm name of Nolan Brothers, be and the same is hereby dissolved.

We deplore the necessity for the appointment of a receiver. At one of the hearings in this case before my colleague, Judge Kelly, it was suggested that the parties avoid the expense of a receivership by having the defendants, meaning principally Thomas Nolan, wind up the affairs of the firm, security to be given to pay any balance that might be due to the partners. An order allowing this to be done was made, but the parties failed to agree on the amount of the bond and the arrangement failed of consummation. We still suggest the same plan as the most economical and the best for the interest of all the partners. It also answers the purpose of a receivership. If the parties should yet agree to such an arrangement the order for the appointment of a receiver may be revoked by agreement.

Under the present circumstances the only alternative left to us is to appoint a receiver. The appointment of a receiver rests in the sound discretion of the court. No positive or unvarying rule can be laid down as applicable to all cases. In exercising its discretion the court should proceed cautiously and should be governed by a view of the whole circumstances of the case: Beaumont vs. Beaumont, 166 Pa. 615.

PARTNER AS RECEIVER.

We are also convinced that it is proper in this case to appoint one of the partners as receiver. John and Thomas are the two partners who are the best qualified for the position. We can find nothing in the evidence which would justify a charge of misconduct against either one. It is true that John failed in his full duty to the firm since December last and that Thomas at the end of last March severed the partnership relations and thus contributed to complete the exclusion of the other partners, especially John and William. But we look upon this action of Thomas as a natural consequence of the attitude of the other partners.

On account of Thomas J. Nolan's experience and his greater knowledge of the business of the firm, especially during the first three months of this year, we are of the opinion that on the whole the interests of the partners will be best subserved by his appointment as receiver.

And now, July —, 1902, upon consideration of the bill, answer and testimony, it is ordered and decreed:

1. That Thomas J. Nolan be and he is hereby appointed receiver of all the assets and property of the late firm of Nolan Brothers (composed of plaintiff and defendants) of whatsoever kind, within the jurisdiction of said court, with power to take, hold, demand, receive and collect all the funds, assets and property belonging to said firm, or in the hands of any debtor, agent or depository of said firm, and to account to the court for the same. And any debtor, agent or depositor of said firm is hereby directed to forthwith pay, deliver and assign all money, securities, assets and property of every kind whatsoever to said receiver. And the said receiver is hereby empowered to bring, prosecute and defend all suits at law or in equity which in his judgment may be necessary for the preservation and protection of the property and interests under his care and control.

And the said receiver shall file an inventory and appraisement of the property committed to his custody, and shall file his account and accounts therefor and shall distribute the same according to law to the persons entitled thereto, with such other powers as may be necessary and incident to protect the rights and interests of all parties in interest.

2. That security be entered in the sum of $3,000, to be approved by the court, or by any judge thereof.

Award of Arbitrators.

Arbitrators C. B. Gardner, J. W. Carpenter and Thomas Beck yesterday filed their award in the case of L. D. Caulk against Dr. Blythe R. White and Carl Lorenz.

Dr. White bought a dental chair and tools from Caulk on a lease and opened a dental office in Carl Lorenz's building at Green Ridge. He did not pay his rent and the effects in his office were levied upon by Lorenz. Then Caulk appeared with a writ of replevin, alleging that the goods belonged to him. He took them, but gave an indemnifying bond.

The arbitrators award Caulk six cents in damages against Dr. White and give Lorenz an award of $162.50 against Caulk. In other words, Caulk can have the goods, but must pay Lorenz the rent due.

Old Forge Borough Sued.

Patrick Durkin, through his attorney, George M. Okell, yesterday instituted an action in trespass against the borough of Old Forge to recover $5,000.

On January 25 last, Durkin says, he was driving over one of the streets in that part of the borough known as Austin Heights, and because of the negligent manner in which the street was maintained his wagon was overturned and he was thrown out and badly injured. His injuries confined him to the house for a long time and he is permanently disfigured.

GREEN RIDGE.

The grounds of the Green Ridge Quoit club on Capouse avenue were brilliantly illuminated and tastefully decorated last evening when the members with their lady friends gathered to enjoy a clam bake. A large number of steamed clams were disposed of and a delightful evening enjoyed by those present. The members of the club are John Hornbaker, C. O. Eshleman, Otto Eshleman, F. Hendrickson, George Seid, Charles Parker, J. H. Stevens, H. T. Jackson, M. D. Frear, Henry Benson and William Baker.

Mrs. Cross, of Theodore street, brought suit before Alderman Bayley yesterday afternoon against James and Bridget Crane, charging them with disorderly conduct. The case was a counter one as the Cranes had previously had Mrs. Cross arrested before a Providence alderman. After both sides of the case had been heard, the parties agreed to settle both cases and divide the costs.

THE MARKETS

Wall Street Review.

New York, July 22.—Today's stock market was not up to the recent level of activity, the total dealings falling considerably below the million share mark. This was practically the only affect apparent from the doubts aroused by the current outward movement of gold. The speculative forces recently at work continued operations to new quarters. The eastern railroad stocks, led by New York Central were the feature of the market, the Reading stocks being included in the movement. The buying was by the brokers usually employed of late by the western contingent in its large operations. The ostensible basis of the buying was the rumor of the comprehensive agreements amongst the railroad powers in the eastern territory, including the Pennsylvania railroad, the Vanderbilts and Mr. Morgan. With the addition of striking gains by a miscellaneous group of stocks, the market made a fair show of strength. The grain carriers were inclined to heaviness early owing to reports of showers in the western states but they stiffened up afterwards apparently under the influence of the violent rise in Rock Island which advanced more than eight points and then collapsed, with a final recovery to about 4 points over last night. The strength of Amalgamated was attributed to the securing of an injunction against the working of a disputed mine by a rival. A number of other industrials arose strongly without explanation. It was noticeable, however, that there were neglected and heavy stocks all through the list. Total sales, 784,500 shares. Some of the convertible bonds were active today in sympathy with the movement of their relative stocks, but the general market was rather dull and irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,330,000. United States refunding 2s declined ⅛; old 4s regular ¼; do. coupon ⅜ and the new 4s ½ per cent. on the last call.

Chicago Grain Market.

Chicago, July 22.—There was a marked variance between the slumping provisions market today and the highly manipulated condition of September wheat that influenced sharp advances in all grains in the face of bearish conditions. Outsiders, tired of carrying the load of lofty prices for the packing interests, unloaded today with such vim that pork broke 75c. a barrel. On the other hand the rumor that a leading packer was under September wheat pushed that cereal up sharply. Sympathy did the rest and July and September closed ¾c. up; July corn 1½c. higher; September corn, 1a1⅛c. up; July oats, 3c. higher and September oats, 1a1¼c. higher. Provisions closed 22½c. to 70c. lower. The Anticipation of a Quiet Season Transformed Into the Realization of One of Great Buying Activity.

The Opportunity Sale ...OF... Dressers, Sideboards and Iron Beds

Has Done It.

Only buying opportunities of the sacrifice order would do this. The story of how we took these goods from the freight house at ridiculously low figures after those to whom they had been shipped failed to make good, is now too well known to require repetition in detail.

Sufficient it is to say that the Dressers, Sideboards and Iron Beds upon which the following quotations are made present examples of excellent workmanship, and in no case does the price approach within 25 per cent. of the actual worth.

Sale limited to this week, on account of elaborate preparations for our Great August Trade Sale.
