CHARLESTON BLACKLIST. Some Interesting Facts Developed at the Trial of John Richards.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Charleston, W. Va., July 29.—One of the points which was brought out in the trial of John Richards and others in the federal court here before Judge Kellor, today, is that Richards threatened to blacklist all miners who refused to come out and join the strikers.

When Richards was speaking to a crowd and the working miners were listening, he turned to the working miners and pleaded with them to quit work and said that when the strike was over and the union had been recognized, which it surely would be, they would not be able to work in any section of the country. He told them he had a list of all their names and it would be furnished to every local union in the country and wherever they went they would be pointed to as "scabs" and would not be allowed to earn a living.

This point was emphasized as much as the prosecution could emphasize it, so that it could be shown to the court that the organization which proposed to a blacklist by that employer proposed to maintain a blacklist among those of its craft. The speech was taken by the stenographer of the Collins Colliery company, and the transcript was submitted in the court today.

One employed in the mines testified that he was in the work at the time of the gathering of the strikers, and while the speakers counseled obedience to the law, it was shown they continued to gather in large crowds in the vicinity of the colliery and asserted they would stay there until the men came out of the mines.

The prosecution brought out evidence today to show that checks to purchase food were sent here by Secretary Wilson and John Mitchell. The prosecution has closed its case and the defense will open tomorrow.

THE PENNSYLVANIA TUNNEL CONFERENCE. By New Terms Offered New York City Will Gain Many Advantages.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. New York, July 29.—Mayor Low and other city and borough officials, as well as members of the rapid transit tunnel commission, conferred today with representatives of the Pennsylvania railroad with regard to the franchise sought by the company to build a tunnel across Manhattan. The railroad men, who had come direct from Philadelphia to attend the conference, were Vice President John P. Green, Assistant General Solicitor George V. Massey, Engineer of Maintenance Joseph T. Richards and Nathan Sperring, of President Cassatt's staff.

The conference was a success, inasmuch as a partial agreement was reached, as the railroad allowed certain concessions on the terms, the city can put wires in the subway for police and fire purposes; can now be certain of a definite time being fixed for the commencement and completion of the tunnel; has assurance that no freight line will be used and no freight station built at Montauk Point, as was the contention of President Cassatt. The eight-hour agreement which the Central Federated union wished inserted, it was thought would be impracticable, but the railroad authorities say they will pay union wages and in no case work the men as long as eight hours, as they could not work that long in the tunnel.

The matter of the franchise will now go to a joint conference committee of the board of alderman and rapid transit commission, which committee will frame a new franchise, containing the points mentioned and also contain a clause putting the tunnel under the control of the health department and fix a review of the compensation at the end of twenty-five years.
