MANY ASK FOR RELIEF. BOY THIEVES CAUGHT.

Several Applicants for Aid at Meeting of Poor Board-Action Postponed on New Buildings.

Contrary to expectations, the poor board did not decide, at its meeting yesterday afternoon, to immediately advertise for bids for the building of the four new almshouse buildings which are to be erected at the Hillside farm. The members have come to the conclusion that it is too late in the year to undertake any extended building operations, and it is not likely that any further steps in the matter will be taken until next year.

A large number of applicants for relief appeared at the meeting and stated their troubles to the board. Among those who asked for aid was Mrs. Bernack, whose husband was recently struck by a train and killed at Tonawanda, N. Y. She is left with five small children. The board granted her temporary relief, until she receives a small amount of insurance money which is due her

Mrs. Catherine Dimler, of 510 Irving ivenue, was granted admittance to the Hillside Home, but indignantly refused to go there, and before she left the meeting vigorously tongue-lashed the directors for not furnishing her other assistance. Jacob Young, who appeared before the board at a previous session and was refused exoneration from his poor tax yesterday, proved himself persevering, to sav the least.

He appeared before the board, and once more requested that the tax be removed.

"How much is it?" asked a member and something akin to a laugh arose when Young answered: "Fourteen cents." The request was again refused. Mrs. Thomas Dickson, of 1826 Bloom avenue, was refused aid, as she properly comes under the care of the Wilkes-Barre poor district. The latter's authorities had expressed their willingness to transport Mrs. Dickson to Wilkes-Barre and there look after her, but she had declined to go back Her appeal for aid yesterday met with a cold response

There was little other business before the meeting. Superintendent Beemer, of the Hillside Home, presented his regular report, which was accepted. It showed that there have been seven leaths at the farm since the last meeting. There are now 128 insane male emales, and 66 sane females

Had Systematically Pilfered from Board of Trade Building, Where All Were Employed.

Superintendent of Police Lona Day and Detective Robert Delter yesterday placed five youthful burglars under arrest, all of whom have been systematically stealing from tenants in the Scranton Board of Trade building for several months. The culprits are Al. Roberts, 19 years

Fred Motzenbacker, 17 years; Mile Dolph, 18 years; Howard Griffith, 16 years, and Calvin Dowling, 19 years of

The boys were employed on the elevators and in offices in the building and had access to a number of places, and to others they forced an entranc by prying open office doors. On the night of June 2, they entered the wine room of the Scranton club and abstracted $7.45 worth of wine.

They also carried off a chicken and broke the doors and locks. Later they entered the barber shop in Room 410 broke open a case and took a quantity of cigars valued at several dollars. A revolver worth $5 was taken from the Temple Iron company's office, and on July 7, five umbrellas, valued at $10; two revolvers, $17.50 and $9.50 in cash and a dress suit case, valued at $5, were taken from Rooms 412 and 413. About the same time they entered the vault in the Lackawanna Lumber company's office and took $80 in money. A number of other things have been missed from the building. When arraigned before Police Magistrate Howe, yesterday, the boys acknowledged their guilt and were committed to jail without bail. The round-up is due to clever work by Superintendent Day and Detective Delter.

FIRE DESTROYS

ORIGIN OF THE FLAMES IS A MYSTERY.

Bellevue Washery Consumed Last Night by a Blaze Which No One Attempts to Account for-Firemen Make Strenuous but Futile Efforts to Save the Building-Loss Will Reach $35,000-Had Been in Operation for Several Weeks but Was Idle Last Night.

The Bellevue washery, owned and operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, was completely destroyed by fire last night, entailing a loss of $35,000 on building and machinery. The origin of the fire is shrouded in mystery, and until a thorough investigation is made the cause cannot be ascertained.

A cloud of smoke was seen issuing from the engine room of the washery shortly before 9 o'clock, and following it came a volume of flame. The watchmen employed about the premises gave the alarm by sounding the gong at the Bellevue breaker, and this was supplemented by an alarm from Box 324, at the corner of Archbald street and Corbett avenue.

Six men were employed in the tower of the washery, making some repairs, when the fire broke out. They were hastily notified and succeeded in making their escape without much trouble. Shortly afterwards the building was completely enveloped in flames, the oilsoaked timbers being very susceptible to the fire.

When the firemen arrived, they experienced much difficulty in securing water, the only stream obtainable being from the pumps attached to the washery. This proved to be of little service, and in consequence the building was totally destroyed.

LIT UP THE CITY.

The illumination from the burning washery lighted up the whole southern end of the city, and attracted thousands of persons to the scene, many of whom were under the impression at first that the Bellevue breaker was being consumed. The city police and railroad detectives were on the scene, together with Superintendent R. A. Phillips, District Superintendent Evan Evans and a score of other officials, but they could render little service. None of them could give the slightest idea as to how the fire originated. They were positive in asserting that no fires of any kind were in the building. The steam plant is located several hundred yards away from the washery, and the operating power was supplied through a steam pipe line extending from the power house to the washery. As far as could be learned the impression prevailed that the fire started in or near the engine room, but as there was no one in there at the time, none of the workmen could attempt to explain its origin. A large force of watchmen were employed about the premises, but they could offer no explanation as to how the fire started. No demonstration of any kind was nade in or about the washery during the evening, and not an employe or watchman could be found who had seen anybody about the premises who night be suspected of having fired the building. The firemen worked heroically for several hours endeavoring to extinguish, the flames, but their efforts had little effect. The flames only died away when the massive timbers had een burned to ashes.

MACHINERY DESTROYED. Much of the machinery in the washery vas totally destroyed, and a loaded car of coal, which stood under the chute shed, was partially burned. The washery was situated far enough away from the steam plant and breaker to prevent the flames from spreading to either of these buildings.

When working at its fullest capacity, the washery had a capacity of over 1,000 tons of coal per day. About forty men were employed there yesterday, and 950 tons were turned out, which is a big day's work. It was built about three years ago, and has been operated almost continually since. A force of men will be put to work this morning clearing away the debris, and work will be commenced as soon as possible in building a new washery.
