TO STAY OUT

RESULT OF THE VOTE OF THE OXFORD LOCAL.

At Least, President Crawford Received a Letter to This Effect. Warnke and Pancoast Washeries Are Expected to Start Up Today. Possibility of the Woodward, Storrs and Dickson Resuming-Full Text of the Injunction Order Rendered on Friday by Judge Keller.

The members of the Oxford local have decided by vote to remain on strike until the strike is at an end. On Saturday the president of the local sent he following communication to President Crawford: August 2, 1902.

Mr. J. L. Crawford, President People's Coal Company, Scranton, Pa. Dear Sir: I desire to inform you that your communication of the 25th inst., notifying me, as president of Local union, 1.715, of your intention to resume work at the Oxford colliery, was read by me at a meeting of the above mentioned local union, held August 1, at which meet-ing all the men and boys who were employed at the Oxford mine at the begin-ning of the strike were present, and, by a unanimous vote, decided that they would not return to work, but would re-main on strike until notified by and through the organization of the United Mine Workers and its officers that the strike is ended.

I am, yours truly,
Theophilus Phillips,
President Local Union, 1,715, United Mine

Workers of America. President Crawford declares that various members of the Oxford local have told him they would return to work, whether or not the local voted to

The Warnke washery, at Duryea, and the Pancoast washery, at Throop, are expected to resume operations this morning. Sheriff Jacobs, of Luzerne county, has been requested to furnish protection to the Warnke washery. It s also likely that several Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and Delaware and Hudson collieries will start up again today or tomorrow. The Woodward, at Kingston, and the Storfs and Dickson, in North Scranton, are among those most likely to resume. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company officials indicate that they have a suspicion the Bellevue washery was set afire by an incendiary. Superintendent Reese A. Phillips offers a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who committed the act.

THE KELLAR INJUNCTION. Following is the full text of the inunction order issued Friday by Judge Cellar, of the United States District court, against fifty coal mining companies in the New River district West Virginia, John Mitchell and more than one hundred other strike leaders and miners in the suit of the Chesapeake and Ohio Coal Agency company, a New Jersey corporation doing business in

New York city: These and all others associating or eting with them are enjoined from in any wise interfering with the management or operation of said mines by their owners or those operating them, either by menaces, threats or any character of intimidation used to prevent the em-ployers of said mines from going to cr and coke plants, or from e business of mining in engaging in the said mines or laboring upon said coke

The defendants and all others asso ciating with them are further restrained rom entering upon the property of the owners of the said mines and coke plants for the purpose of interfering with the employes thereof, either by intimidation or by the holding of either public or pri-vate assemblage upon said property, or in any wise molesting, interfering with or intimidating the employes of the coal companies herein mentioned, so as to induce said employes to abandon their work said mines, or to prevent any person who may desire to enter the employ ment of said core company or to work in said mine or upon said coke yards. And the defendants and all others asociated with them are further restrained from assembling in the paths, approaches and roads upon the property of the said coal companies, leading to and from the homes and residences of the miners and mine laborers therein employed, along which the employes of the said coal companies are compelled to travel, or in an way interfere with the employes of sai mining companies in , ssing to and fron their work, either by threats, menace or intimidation, and the defendants an all others associated with them are fu ther restricted from marching and paraing in a body across, at or near to th properties of the said coal companies either of them, or assembling in large numbers at or near the property of sa coal company defendants, or either o them, as to intimidate any person or pe sons at work or desiring to work for either of said coal company defendants and from being a part of such body

PURPOSE OF THE ORDER. The purpose of this restraining order to prevent all unlawful combinations ar conspiracies and to restrain all of the d fendants engaged in the promotion such usuawful combinations and consp racies and all other persons from enter ing upon the property of the coal com panies named in this order, and from any wise interfering with the employe of the said coal companies or either of them in their mining operations and man ufacturing coke, either with the miner or upon the coke oven plants, or in passing from their homes to the mines, and coke oven plants or from the mines and coke oven plants to their homes, and from in any manner unlawfully inciting persons who are engaged in working the said mines or in the said coke oven plants to cease work therein, and from unlawfully preventing persons who desire to work in said mines or upon said coke oven plants entering ino such service for the said defendant coal companies and from in any way aiding or abetting any such acts as may result in the violation and destruction of the rights of the com-plainant under its contracts as recited in the bill herein.

The motion for a permanent injunction is set down for hearing at the United States court room at Charleston, W. Va., on the 18th day of November, 1902. This injunction is not to take effect until the complainant or some responsible per-son for it shall enter into bond in the sum of $5,000 conditioned to pay all such costs and damages as may accrue to the de-fendants or any of them by reason of the complainants suing out this injunc-

An effort will probably be made with in the next day or two to have the final hearing on the injunction set for an earlier day than Nov. 18.

a Conservatory Student of Seven.

In a Conservatory recital in June the audience was astonished at the planoforte playing of a class of children who had entered in September, when still under seven years of age. These children, including the subject of the following letter, accurately transposed a piece into all of the 15 major keys from memory.

Rehoboth, Delaware, August 1, 1902. Dear Mr. Pennington:

We are stopping at a seaside hotel and Sara is considered a mar-vel by the people. One music teacher of Philadelphia, when told that she was only seven years of age, and knew all of the fifteen major scales, and could transpose into some of the minor scales also, said he did not

When we met, he put her through an examination and was won-derfully surprised. He told one of the ladies that Sara thoroughly understood what she was doing, and added that none of his pupils had ever made such progress in a year's time.

I told him that it was the delightful method you were teaching which made it easy and interesting for the children. Respectfully yours, Mrs. W. H. Chandler.

COURT HOUSE TEAM WON.

City Hall Ball Players Were Again Defeated Saturday.

The court house team is again winner. Even Dr. Charles Gelbert, the old University of Pennsylvania star, could not stem the tide of victories Saturday, and the city hall attaches again bit the dust of Athletic Park, before the county ball tossers.

It was not Gelbert's fault that his team lost, as he pitched a first-rate game. A young man named Jones officiated for the court house nine in the box. He acted as though he were a combination of Christy Matthewson and Mike O'Neill, and not only struck out ten of the unhappy city hall players, but did not allow them a single hit. His mates gave him poor support in the field, and this, coupled with three costly bases on balls, gave the municipal stars their four runs. Wallace G. Moser umpired the game. The score:

WILL RETURN TO NEW YORK.

Chief Accountant Preumers to Leave Pennsylvania Brewing Co. Henry W. Preumers, of North Irving avenue, who has long been connected with the Pennsylvania Central Brewing company, has resigned his position as chief accountant, and will leave for New York, to resume the duties of persident and manager of the H. W. Preumers Malted Meat company.

A charter was granted the company, bout two weeks ago. It is capitalized at $20,000. Mr. Preumers was elected president and appointed manager, and Dr. Dillion Brown, of New York city, was chosen secretary-treasurer. Charles E. Robinson of this city is one of the directors.

The company's plant will be at First ivenue and Forty-seventh street, New York, and a sales office will be situated at 90 William street. Mr. Preumers formerly had a plant in this city, all the machinery of which has been transferred to the metropolis and a large uantity of new supplies purchased.

The product which the company will put on the market is an extract from nalt, which the company claims is highly superior to beef extract. It is used for the same purposes, and the laims of superiority are based on the fact that it contains more albumen and acks any animal fat ingrediments or uric acid, "These latter facts" said Mr. Preumers yesterday "make the extract eminently nourishing for the sick, as it produces a soothing, pleasant effect, and is also very nourishing.

OLD FORGE TOWN HALL.

Plans Have Been Drawn by Architect F. L. Brown.

Architect F. L. Brown has drawn plans for a new town hall at Old Forge, and his blue prints will shortly be submitted to the borough officials for their approval. Provision is made in them for a two-story yellow pressed brick

It will be forty-five feet long and thirty-five feet in width. A heating plant will be installed in the basement, and the first floor will be utilized as a joint fire and police station. One portion of the floor will be used for the housing of the hose wagon, and another will be the borough police station, which will consist of three cells and a lobby. A vault and small meeting room will also be on this floor.

The council chamber will be on the floor above, as will also rooms for the burgess and his clerk, and the tax collector of the borough. Bids have been advertised for on the building and will be opened August 18. It will cost seven or eight thousand dollars.

AWARDED THE CONTRACT.

City Assessors Consider Bids on Blotters and Books.

The board of assessors met Saturday norning in their office, and considered bids on the contracts for the 1903 assessment books and blotters. Eight ids were submitted, and the York Printing company received the contract.

Six of the contestants in The Tribune's Educational Contest brought in points on Saturday, the largest number being scored by L. E. Stanton, who added fifteen to his score, thus drawing away from William Sherwood, of Harford, who came very near passing him on Friday. Mr. Stanton now holds tenth place by eighteen points, and is but thirty-one below ninth. The only advance in the table was made by Fred Kibler, of South Scranton, who three points passed up two places, now occupying twenty-fourth position. Three more points would put him in twenty-second. The other contestants who scored were Herbert Thompson, of Carbondale, three points; Newton Hawley, of Green Ridge, one; William Cooper, of Priceburg, one; Charles Dorsey, of Scranton, one. Mr. Hawley has not yet sufficient points to get within the limits of the main table as he only started last Monday, but his steady work is sure to count and he will soon be seen climbing up among

What Was Accomplished in July. During the month of July there were many changes in position. Most of the contestants who did the greatest amount of work earlier in the contest, rested during July and allowed some of those who were further down in the list to creep up nearer the top, A. J. Kellerman, however, was not among those who rested. He kept up his steady work, winning the first special honor prize for the best work during the month. As a consequence, he occupies first place today, whereas he was third one month ago.

held first place all during the past month, was obliged to relinquish his hold on that position with the opening of August, and is now in second place, but holds that position by over Oscar H. Kipp, of Elmhurst, made very few returns during the month and was obliged to drop one place, as Mr. Kellerman passed up from third to was eighth at the beginning of the month, went up to fourth place, havng about doubled his score, and winning the second honor prize. This is a remarkable record for one month, and if he continues his good work he will probably be still nearer the top by September 1.

and Herbert Thompson and Maxwell Shepherd, of Carbondale, each fell back one place, owing to Mr. Freedman's great advance. The two Carbondale boys are still together, although Mr. Thompson has drawn ahead of his colleague considerably.

Went Up Eighteen Places.

The most remarkable advance of the month was made by Charles' W. Dorsey, of Scranton, who went from twenty-seventh place to ninth. Mr. Secure August Prizes, Offered in Dorsey came very near winning one of the special July prizes, but though he failed to do so, there is certainly great satisfaction in having made such a wonderful jump in the short space of ne month.

L. E. Stanton, of Scranton, and Willlam Sherwood, of Harford, who occupy tenth and eleventh places, are each one point further down in the list, although both advanced their scores materially.

J. A. Havenstrite, of Moscow, went up one, and Miss Beatrice Harpur, of Thompson, two places, the latter adding a goodly number of points to her

There were six contestants among the list of thirty-three leaders who did not score a single point during the month. They were: Harry Madden, of Scranton; Grant M. Decker, of Hallstead; Lee Culver, of Springville; Walter Hallstead, of Scranton; Louis McCusker, of Park Place, and C. J. Clark, of Peckville.

Thompson Dempsey, of Olyphant, and Don C. Capwell, of Scranton, whose names appeared among the thirty-three leaders on July 1, failed to increase their scores, and were obliged to drop below the line as others passed
