GIUSEPPE CERRA ARRESTED YESTERDAY

Constables Edward Neary and Joe Cooper Capture the Suspected "Rugger" After Some Trouble.

According to a meagre description of the man who caused such excitement over his unseemly actions and attempted assault of young ladies in Gas-town Sunday night, Constable Neary placed Giuseppe Cerra, of the West Side colony, in the city jail on suspicion of being the guilty man. The man was inclined to be obstreperous, but the officials subdued him. He was positively identified by several reputable witnesses of the affair. After a hearing before Alderman Jones, he was held for court.

The story of the man's escapade is as follows: About 9 o'clock, three young ladies who live in the vicinity of Brooklyn street were returning home by the way of Seventh avenue. They were passing the entrance of the old Lindsay & Early foundry, the scene of several outrageous attacks upon the Italian, partially disabled, spring from the dark entrance and gave chase to the young women. One of them he caught, but the other two escaped.

The screams of the young ladies attracted the attention of several men who stood on the platform of the city station, and they hurried to the scene. Seeing that he could not accomplish his purpose, the Italian released his victim and fled. About fifty men joined in the pursuit. A few minutes after the Italian made his attempt on the young woman, Hon. Thomas Mooney, of Brooklyn street, found him hiding behind a tool house alongside the railroad siding near the gas house. As Mr. Mooney approached him, he drew a knife and darted off toward Main street. Here the crowd got sight of him again and pursued him down Pike street. At the Loftus property, he made for the river bank and managed to scrape himself in the bushes. After half an hour, the crowd gave up the fruitless search.

About 10 o'clock, as a group of young men sat on the platform in front of the McDonald store, on South Main street, the Italian passed on the opposite side of the street. The chase was again taken up. The fugitive darted up the south Main street hill, turned down Sand street, and on reaching the Loftus property, on Pike street, again made his escape by way of the river, his pursuers being unable to find any further trace of him.

As described by those who saw him he is a man of medium stature and wears a light hat, dark trousers and coat.

Mr. Brown's left hand, in some manner not thoroughly understood by those present, came in the path of the sharp knife wielded by his companion, nearly severing three of the fingers and a thumb. The injured member was skillfully dressed by Dr. Gillis, who fears no permanent disability will ensue.

Mae, the three-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Blue, of Richland, Oregon, was ill with cholera infantum, so ill in fact that the local physician had given her up. Mr. and Mrs. Blue, however, were at the house at the time when the doctor told them that their little daughter would not recover. Mr. Saunders told his wife that he knew Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy would cure the child and he at once secured a bottle and with the consent of her parents gave the little sufferer a dose of it. The baby at once went to sleep and when she awoke the next morning was out of danger. This happened almost three years ago. The child is living and well today, and Mr. and Mrs. Blue feel very grateful towards the manufacturers of this great remedy. It is for sale by all druggists.

The animal continued on his mad run until Pender's store was reached. Here the rig was upset and Miss Corwin was pinned beneath it. Bill of Fare for the Engineers' Clam Bake Will Make Your Mouth Water—Big Crowd Will Attend.

The biggest and best excursion from this city each year is that conducted by the members of G. W. West division No. 468, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. They have never spared expense in providing for the enjoyment of their patrons and every event has been a complete and unqualified success.

The engineers' excursion is always awaited with eager anticipation by all classes and the announcement of their ninth annual outing will be hailed with acclaim and most convenient resort, Lake Poyntelle, on Thursday, August 21. It will be a shore dinner that will make your mouth water. There are thousands who will tell you that the Engineers' clam bakes are the most delicious meals they ever enjoyed.

The bakes have never been carried out as a money making scheme, the projectors resting content to cover expenses and extend to their friends and families this most tempting attraction. It is a day of unalloyed pleasure. In evidence of this is the fact that the charge is but 15 cents for dinner while at Coney Island and all other day resorts the regular price is $1.25. There will be an abundance of viands for the big crowd that will sit down to their comfortable table on August 21 for the committee in charge reported at yesterday's meeting that they had ordered 30,000 clams, 500 pounds of spring chicken, 400 pounds of blue fish, 2,000 ears of green corn, 2 barrels of sweet potatoes and all the other delicacies of the season in like ratios. Dinner will be ready at 12:30 and will be served until 3 p. m.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

The funeral of the late C. D. Winter took place yesterday. Business was generally suspended, and all stores in both Jermyrn and Mayfield were closed at noon as a mark of respect to the deceased.

At 3 o'clock Rev. Mr. Simpkins offered a brief prayer, after which the remains were taken to the Methodist Episcopal church. On the east wall of the church was suspended a large portrait of deceased, which was surrounded by a festoon of crepe, and underneath in large letters the words, "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." As the funeral procession entered the church the organist played "Elee as a Bird." Rev. M. D. Fuller, D. D., pastor of the church, had charge of the services, and he was assisted by Rev. Dr. Sprague, of Wyoming seminary; Rev. J. B. Cook, of Binghamton; Rev. Stephen Jay; Rev. G. A. Cure, of Providence; Rev. Mr. Ewing and Rev. Mr. Simpkins, of Hawley. The service was deeply impressive and the sermon preached by Dr. Fuller was full of beautiful thoughts. The eulogistic remarks were a just tribute to the memory of the deceased man. Throughout the service the choir, which was augmented for the occasion, sang several well-known hymns, which were favorite ones of the deceased. At the conclusion of the services the remains were taken to the borough cemetery, where the services were concluded. The choir sang a hymn, and the Odd Fellows went through their well known ritual. The floral offerings were very numerous and of the most beautiful quality. The favorite flower of the dead man, the pink and white roses, surmounted with a white dove, from employees of the firm of roses, from Sunday school; broken wheel, from business men of Jermyrn and Mayfield; crescent and star of roses, from Ladies' Aid; Bible of roses, from the choir; wreath of white roses, from Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Hall; crescent and star of white roses, from friends; wreath of white roses, from Mrs. J.
