EXCEPTIONS TO CHARTER. FILED BY BISHOP HOBAN AND FATHER ZYCHOWICZ. It is Alleged That an Effort is Being Made to Incorporate a Schismatic Body Under Guise of a Regularly Organized Catholic Church—Large Number of Matters Considered by Judge Vosburg in Orphans' Court. Next Session of Orphans' Court on September 8.

Right Reverend Bishop M. J. Hoban and Rev. Andrew Zychowicz, of this city, filed exceptions with Prothonotary Copeland yesterday, in the matter of the application for a charter for the St. Stanislaus Polish National church, of Scranton. In their exceptions, they suggest to court that this is an application, which while it purports to be for the incorporation of a church, apparently having in its purpose no direct reference to the Catholic church, is in effect an attempt to incorporate a schismatic body, under the guise of a regularly organized Catholic church.

Further exception is made to the effect that the congregation applying for the said charter is a schismatic body, having formerly obtained a charter from the local court, under the name of St. Stanislaus congregation of the Polish Roman Catholic church of Scranton, which corporation was dissolved by court June 29, on the application of the congregation. The congregation, as far as it is organized at the present time, has already received the censure and condemnation of the properly constituted authorities of the Catholic church, and still retains in its services the ritual and ceremonies of the Roman Catholic church.

St. Stanislaus, for whom the congregation is named, is a saint canonized by the Roman Catholic church and is venerated as a saint by the adherents of the Roman Catholic faith alone. The first four Ecumenical councils mentioned in the charter were distinctly councils of the Roman Catholic church, and their members were composed of bishops of the church and legates of the Holy See of Rome.

The councils were convened for the specific purpose of defining the doctrines of the church, and condemning heresies. At these councils the primacy of the pope of Rome was acknowledged, the decrees of the councils were sanctioned by the pope, and the present creed of the Catholic church was promulgated by the councils.

Exception 14 states that the words "Polish National Church" have a synonymous meaning in Polish minds with the title, Roman Catholic church, as the latter faith was designated the national religion of the kingdom in 1791, and that, therefore, the body which has an unqualified right to it is entitled to protection against its usurpation by others.

The following exception asserts that it would be impossible for the proposed corporation to carry out the objects of its charter, to wit, to conduct public worship under the name of "St. Stanislaus Polish National Church," as the latter is historically and by tradition identical with the Roman church, and the latter can only be conducted by a regularly ordained Roman Catholic priest in good standing.

Orphans' Court Matters. In the orphans' court yesterday, Judge A. A. Vosburg disposed of a large number of matters. In the estate of John Weber, in the proceedings to compel the executor to file an account, C. Comegys, for the executor, and H. A. Knapp and M. J. Martin, for the petitioners, agreed that an account should be filed within ten days; and an order was also made fixing Oct. 4 for the audit of the real estate fund.

On motion of Attorney L. A. Watres, an allowance to the guardian was authorized in the estate of Lemuel Amerman.

On motion of Attorney R. W. Rymer, an order for the private sale of real estate was made, in the estate of Charles McMullen.

In the estate of Frank J. Belcher, Attorneys Burr and Pletcher presented a petition asking for an appeal from the appraisal of the collateral inheritance tax, it being alleged that it should be reduced about $2,000. A citation was awarded, returnable September 15.

In the estate of Alason Hinds, deceased, testimony was taken in support of the petition for the specific performance of a land contract.

The hearing in the audit in the Isaac Everitt estate was filed for September 8, at 10 a. m.

Attorney D. J. Reedy made an application for a re-argument in the estate of Frederick Simon, deceased. This was approved by Attorney Comegys, and Judge Vosburg took the matter under advisement. A number of orders were made in other estates.

The next session will be on September 8.

TIMLIN AND HENDRICKS. BOTH NOMINATED AT CONVENTIONS YESTERDAY. Bitterness Between the Friends of the Two Candidates Broke Out in Selecting a Chairman for the Fourth District Democratic Convention at Olyphant—Two Conventions Held in the Same Room Amid Great Confusion and Wrangling—Both Men Claim to Be the Legal Nominees.

For continued, long sustained disorder no convention held in Lackawanna county deserves to rank with that of the Democrats of the Fourth legislative district which was held in O'Brien's hall, Olyphant, yesterday. The convention split over the selection of a temporary chairman and the two factions held conventions in the one hall. One nominated Hon. P. E. Timlin of Carbondale, and the other T. E. Hendricks of Jersey.

The convention was to have been called to order at 2 o'clock but at 3:30 Hon. P. J. Dougherty, chairman of the district committee, had not put in an appearance nor had the secretary, John Brogan, of Olyphant. Andrew Gavin of Jermyan, a Hendricks man, said he was tired of waiting and took upon himself the duty of calling the delegates together. He asked for nominations for temporary chairman. Thomas Price of Archbald was nominated and just then Peter Gaughan of Jessup arose, from the Timlin side of the house, and announced that in the absence of the chairman and secretary he would read the call.

OFFICERS ELECTED. A dozen Hendricks men tried to drown the sound of his voice amid cries and shouts from both sides of the house the Hendricks men elected Thomas Price, chairman; and Edward Gorman and James Dougherty, secretaries. The Timlin men elected P. E. Lawler of Jessup, chairman, and Michael Jennings of P. McDonald and Marcus Hart, secretaries.

Gavin objected to the Timlin men organizing a convention and when Chairman Lawler took possession of a table for himself and his secretaries, Gavin shoved them away and sat upon the table defying all comers to remove him. He held the fort until a flying wedge of Timlin men bore down and swept Gavin from the table.

Lawyer began a speech in which he intended to thank the delegates for electing him but his words were lost in the shouting and he heard above Gavin's ringing cry of "Is Price in the room." If he was he didn't deign to make answer to the doctory Gavin.

In the meantime the Hendricks organization was receiving credentials and making the temporary organization permanent by electing James McGrail of Carbondale, chairman and re-electing the temporary secretaries. It was announced that twenty-one delegates were present at the Hendricks convention and after resolutions were adopted sympathizing with the striking miners, declaring in favor of electing United States senators by direct vote of the people T. E. Hendricks was nominated for the legislature amid cheers from his supporters and groans from the Timlinites. During all this time the most dire confusion prevailed.

THE OTHER COMMITTEE. Ten feet away from Chairman McGrail's table, Chairman Lawler was running his convention at top speed and with a little more regard for regular procedure than his neighbors.

The following committees were named by him: Contested seats, Patrick Kearney, John Ledger, Michael Brady, William Draney, Paul D. Donnelly, William Lawler and Louis Blochberger; resolution, P. V. Donnelly, William Burke, John McDermott, R. Purcell, Thomas Grady, F. Brown, Henry Lofthouse.

Nothing was done by the committee on contested seats. The committee on resolutions presented a report in which the present state administration and the last legislature were denounced and the miners sympathized with.

It was announced by the Timlin convention that fifty-seven delegates were registered with them. The total number of delegates the district is entitled to is sixty-three.

When the Timlin convention got down to the nomination of a candidate, Chairman Lawler had been forced to mount the table by the surging crowd and had divested himself of his coat, vest, collar and tie, and was beseeching the crowd to keep back and give the orators who would nominate the candidates a chance.

While he was thus engaged, Gavin mounted a chair and gave Lawler lively opposition. He urged his hearers to be men and stand up like men. He was beginning to hurl his defiance at the Timlin convention when an officer was directed against Gavin, and he was dragged from the chair and silenced.

Both Nominated. The names of Timlin and Hendricks were put in nomination, but Hendricks objected.

"I don't want my name before this convention; I don't want it voted for!" "You have nothing to say in this convention," replied Chairman Lawler.

"I think I have the right to withdraw my name. I'm not a candidate." "You certainly are," replied the chairman. "Proceed with the roll call."

The result of the ballot was announced as follows: Timlin, 46; Hendricks, 7; White, 1.

When the result was made known, Timlin climbed to a table and thanked the delegates for the nomination. He placed the responsibility for the disorder on the shoulders of the Hendricks men. He was interrupted constantly during his remarks and made himself heard with difficulty.

Hendricks said after the convention was over that he considers himself the legally nominated candidate and will at once proceed to file his nomination papers.

It is so much better than any previously done for me that I am sending you today for me seven rolls of film. Kindly develop and print one each, and return by mail as soon as possible.
