Their Forty-Fifth Anniversary.

The 45th anniversary of their marriagwas celebrated Monday by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Benjamin, of 519 Wyoming avenue. The event was observed by a dinner at which were present a number of rela-tives and intimate friends. Mr. Benjamin is 67 years of age and Mrs. Benjamin Abused the Horse.

Fred Wittack was held in $300 bail and before Alderman Ruddy last night on charges of larceny by bailee and cruelty to animals preferred by Charles Fisher, of Frink avenue. The latter al-leged that Wittack rented a horse from him, and both abused and refused to return the animal Pattern Workers' Meeting.

An open meeting of the pattern workers aeld last night in Industrial hall was attended by Organizer Hugh Frayne and President John H. Devine, of the Central Labor union. Arrangements are be ing made for another meeting to be held next week. National President Wilson, of Erie, will attend.

Another Brass Case.

Hugh Healey and John O'Boyle were yesterday arrested by Captain of Police Williams and Patrolman Weber, at Vine street and Oakford court, where they were attempting to dispose of a quantity of brass. It is claimed that this was den from the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company.

Good for Jack Dunn.

Unofficial averages showing the work done, up to date, in the American and National Leagues, were printed in Mon-day's North American. They show that Jack Dunn, of this city, who is doing utility work for New York, leads both the third basemen and cheatations of the third basemen and shortstops of the National. He has also been batting well, of late.

Rogers Was Rearrested.

John Rogers, of Capouse avenue, was last night arraigned before Alderman M. J. Ruddy on the charge of illicit relations with Mrs. Mary Duggan. James Price preferred the charge. Rogers was dis-charged as he was held in bail Monday hight on the same charge by Magistrate Millar. Rogers has a wife in Poland and Mrs. Duggan who is also Polish, has a husband in Plymouth.

Milkmen Quarrel.

David L. Stark was held for court yes terday by Alderman Kasson, on the charges of assault and battery and aggravated assault, preferred by William Hall. Both men are milkmen, and when one of Hall's customers recently missed a bottle of cream and the former was told that Stark had taken it, bad blood arose between the men. Monday morning a quarrel resulted, and Hall claims that he was struck with a jagged edged stone by Stark.

The Misses Merrill's Private School, for primary and intermediate pupils, will re-open Monday, September 8, 1902. 612 Jefferson avenue.

September, '97, and as it's my duty to warn poor, deluded men, I will continue sounding the warning note.

WHAT HAPPENED.

"I started giving the warning in '97, and what happened? In September, '97, a flood came and cut in two their railroads. In November, I told them I saw more trouble coming. It got there, and in October, '99, fire burned down four or five acres of the city. I didn't go near the place again till November, 1901, when I saw part of the city in ruins. They laughed, and what happened? What happened?" said the seer, with a slight chuckle. "Why, ٠ ٠ there came a still bigger fire in February.' He shook his head vigorously as he leplored the skepticism of the average ÷ American, and continued to shake it until rays of light scintillated in all directions from the big diamond horseshoe in his black ascot "On October 29, 1901, I saw President Roosevelt thrown from his carriage, in one of my visions at Long Branch," the prophet continued, mentioning one of his prophecies which evidently has been for some time dormant, as he neglected to refer to it, on his previous ocal visits. "I had the vision early in the morning and it moved me so that I got out of bed and woke up the Rev. Asbury Smallwood, with whom I was stopping. "I said to him, 'It burns me, for it means something, and I must give warning.' But he persuaded me not to, as it might have caused alarm and troubles. I also told Rev. E. E. Jackson, of Plainfield, N. J. I also told Aubrey Alsop, of this city."

Rev. Jones leaned forward and called, "Brother Alsop, come here a minute." A quiet, intelligent looking colored man sitting in the rear of the hall arose and came forward. "Brother Alsop, didn't I tell you last June," said the prophet, impressively, "that I saw the president fall out of his carriage?"

"Yes, you did, suh; explained about it to me and my wife," said Aubrey, and the prophet beamed proudly. "Moreover," said he, "I have always said that distress would come upon this valley. And did the distress come? Was the word of the prophet Jones fulfilled? Look at the desolation caused by your strike. There's the answer. I fulfilled? Look at the desolation caused by your strike. There's the answer. I saw in my vision people in hard cir-cumstances in Wilkes-Barre. There's lots of distress there. Now, I have something painful to say, very painful. The curse of this land is that the rich people won't deal fairly with the poor. I am sure that among the many readers of your paper there are some Christians. I refer them to James, who says so much truth: 'Go to, now, ye rich men, weep and wall, for your miseries they shall come unto you.""
