THE SILENT MAN IS SOME PEACHES

The Mute Kelleher, from Forest City, pitches superb ball and backed by almost faultless work of the Crescents easily takes a game from the West Side Browns—Great batting by the Pets—Score, 11-4.

With Kelleher, the silent man from Forest City, in the box, the Crescents yesterday took a game from the strong West Side Browns and demonstrated anew that they are back again in the lane of victories and is playing in the form that it can.

The score was 11-4, and for the little wildness of Kelleher in the second inning, it would have been 11-2. He forced two men home, and then he began to hand over the game to the Crescents.

THE PORT JERVIS TRIP.

Mitchell Hose Company Hustling Excursion Details and Hopeful of a Special Train for Carbondalians.

The members of the Mitchell Hose company are hustling these days the details of their trip to Port Jervis, on Thursday next, and are hopeful of the success that will attend when the project was taken up several weeks ago.

PRESIDENT THOMAS CAMPBELL, Mitchell Hose Company Officer Who is Hustling Port Jervis Trip Details.

In the hope that there will be a big delegation of Carbondalians to accompany them to lend their encouragement to the company in its efforts to bring home one of the several prizes that will be given to visiting companies for best appearance, largest number in line, best drilling, and the like.

The hose men are aiming at securing a special train for their accommodation. To achieve this, it will be necessary to guarantee 150 excursionists. As a special rate of $2.10 for the round trip has been secured, and as the members have been exceedingly active in making the details of the trip known, there is hope that the required number will be secured.

FOREMAN THOMAS HERBERT. He Will Be a Conspicuous Figure at Port Jervis Celebration.

A big delegation of it being a decided means of encouragement to the popular hose men. The company will not be the financial gainer in the least by an increased attendance, the profit will go to the railway companies, but it will conduce to the firemen's enjoyment, as well as the other excursionists, and will be a helpful factor in their contest for the prizes.

How can you have confidence in a store if you haven't confidence in its advertising? And how can you have confidence in some advertising?

A Sprinkling of the New Dress Goods

Nevertheless it gives a pretty strong suggestion of what you may expect later. There will always be plain cloths. Cheviot and Broadcloth will be as good as ever because they are staple and stand for certain classes and certain sorts of dress.

Flannelette, 8 Cents

Some of the new Flannelettes have arrived, prettier than ever, dainty colorings, in stripes on white and tinted grounds; for Wrappers, Night Gowns and Children's Dresses.

Flannelette, 5 Cents

The best and prettiest goods we have seen this season for so little. Some people have bought whole pieces. Staple and cluster stripes of blue, pink and gray on white and tinted grounds.

1,000 Tooth Brushes, 10 Cents Each

When we say that they are all worth 20c, 25c and 30c each, we have said enough. They are a great accumulation of Manufacturers' Sample Lots—are perfect in every respect—are even better than regular stock goods.

Furniture Selecting

The new designs in furniture are, like the sands of the seashore, innumerable. To choose from them is no easy task. There are the ornamented and carved styles, the severely plain pieces, the gracefully curved patterns and the designs of straight lines, with their hundreds of extremes and modifications.

The first thought must be of workmanship. The article selected should be carefully and well made.

Then the room, the particular spot, which your selection is to fill, should be seriously considered. The surroundings and decorations of the room also have their effect.

The use or uses to which the new article of furniture is to be put should have its bearing upon the selection.

The suitability of design, in the article itself, and its correspondence to the true principles of art should not be forgotten.

We have most carefully selected our present stock and shall be pleased to aid you in choosing therefrom.
