The generals were escorted to the colonial office by an officer of that department of the government, and drove there in an open carriage. The visitors received a hearty welcome from the considerable crowds assembled at either end of the route. The Boers wore faultless frock-coats and silk hats, and repeatedly doffed hats in response to the cheers. Just prior to the generals' departure from their hotel Abraham Fischer, the Boer delegate, had a conference with them. The conference lasted two hours. Inside the colonial office, the corridors in the vicinity of Mr. Chamberlain's room were filled with clerks anxious to get glimpse of the generals. The Boers were conducted to the ordinary public waiting room, where they remained for ten minutes before they were ushered into the colonial secretary's office. Two stenographers were present at the conference. The faces of the generals as they drove back to their hotel gave no hint as to whether or not they had derived satisfaction from the conference. They conversed together volubly, occasionally raising their hats in response to cheers. They refused to be inter-

ASSESSMENT FOR 1903.

Board of City Assessors Is Now at Work on It.

The board of city assessors are now at work on the assessment for 1903, and by making a systematic division of the work, expect to complete their task easily by the first of the year.

The work is not so arduous this year as it was last, when the triennial property assessment was made. This year the levy on personal occupations will take the greater part of time and exertion in making the assessment. facilitate matters the board has diided the city into five taxable districts, and each member of the board is assigned one district to cover.

In former years it has been the custom for the board to inspect in a body all real estate and buildings. As only few new structures will have to be taxed this year, however, the members will be at liberty to do all the assessing in their own districts, without any conclave being held for inspection The assessors expect that this year's work will take just about two-thirds the time consumed by last year's as sessment, even though they worked steadily every single day for several months on that assessment. This year they can go about the work a trifle more at leisure.
