By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 8 .- A fight occurred between striking miners at Maltby this morning, which resulted in the death of one man and the fatal injury of another. The victims were Italians. The name of the man killed

All last night strikers gathered in the vicinity of the Maltby mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal company at Maltby the Harry E. colliery at Forty It was rumored that both of these mines were to start today with a full force of men, and the strikers had pickets out on all roads leading to the mines to intercept any men who might be on their way to work. heavy fog prevailed and it was difficult to see people in the roadway. Shortly after 7 o'clock a number of strikers on guard at the Maltby colliery saw two men approaching. They carried guns. After being terribly beaten by the mob, Fisher was finally lodged in the town lockup.

A mob surrounded the place all night threatening to demolish the lockup. Fisher suffered much from his injuries, and Burgess Dando was afraid to give the man a hearing, as the crowd on the outside threatened to lynch him if they laid their hands on him. At noon, under strong guard, Fisher was removed to an ambulance and driven to this city, where his injuries were dressed at the hospital. Some of the foreigners attempted to hold up the ambulance, but were driven off by the special officers. Burgess Dando breathed a sigh of relief when he got the man out of his bailiwick.

Sheriff Jacobs was much exercised today over the riots and bloodshed in the county, and at one time it was thought he would have to call upon the militia for aid. Some citizens urged him to do so without delay. But this afternoon order was pretty well restored in the Wyoming region, and if there are no further outbreaks the sheriff will not ask the governor for Judge Arnold Sends Prisoners to Criminal Court for Trial.

Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press Philadelphia, Sept. 8-Whether or not he juvenile court has the right to exist is a question that has been puzzling the lawyers and judges of the state since the tribunal was established on June 14, 1901, and, while there has been no judicial decision in the local courts on the subject, Judge Arnold took action vesterday on a point which is significant in that it throws light upon one of the chief contentions of those attacking the system. Several boys, when arraigned today, pleaded not guilty to the charges preferred against them and Assistant District Attorney Von Moschzisker asked Judge Arnold if he would hear witnesses to determine the defendants' guilt or innocence.

THE MAINE ELECTIONS.

Republicans and Democrats Both Sustain Losses-Good Weather and Quietude at the Polls.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press Portland, Me., Sept. 8.-Republicans and Democrats both had losses in to day's elections, the returns from 200 cities and towns showing 14 per cent. decrease for the former and 12 per cent. loss for the Democrats, as compared with the governor's vote of two years

These two hundred places give fig ires as follows: For governor: Hill (Rep.), 34,051 Gould (Dem.), 20,546.

The same towns two years ago gave Hill (Rep.), 39,620; Lord (Dem.), 23,272, The indicated plurality for Governor John W. Mr. Roosevelt is Elected Honoraru Member of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen.

ADDRESS DELIVERED AT THE AUDITORIUM

The President Expresses His Admiration for the Railroad Men of America-In the Opinion of General Sherman the Railroad Men Make the Best Soldiers-The Speaker Believes Empathically in Organized Labor-The Opportunities to Advance-A Profession That Does Away with the Tendency to Soft-

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Chattanooga, Sept. 8. - President Roosevelt was elected an honorary nember of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen today. He attended the executive session of the order in the morning, walking from the hotel to the auditorium, escorted by Grand Master Sargent, a committee of the brotherhood and a detachment of Troop B, of the State Guard. The rotherhood first held its executive session, which the president attended, Acting Grand Master Hannahan welomed him.

The president returned thanks. He sald, in part:

Mr. Grand Master, Governor McMillan Mr. Mayor, My Brothers and all of you Men and Women of Tennessee, My Fellow Citizens, My Fellow Americans; I am glad to be here today. I am glad to come as the guest of the Brotherhood. Let me join with you, the mem bers of the Brotherhood of this coun try, in extending a most cordial wel-come to our fellows from Canada and Mexico. The fact that we are good Americans only makes us all the better men, all the more desirous of seeing good fortune to all mankind. I needed no cressing influence to accept the invitation to come to this meeting. I have always idmired greatly the rallway men of the country; and I do not see how any one who believes in what I regard as the fundamental virtues of citizenship can ful to do so. I want to see the average American a game man, an houest man, and a man who can handle himself, and who does handle himself well, under difficulties. The last time I ever saw General Sherman I dined at his house, and we got to talking over the capacity of different soldiers and the general bappened to say that if ever there were another war an in Maine had so much cutting been he were to have a command, he would endeavor to get as many railway men as possible under him. I asked him why and he said because, on account of their profession they have developed certain qualities which are essential in a soldier. In the first place, they are accustomed to taking risks; there are a great many men who are naturally brave, but being entirely unaccustomed to risks, are at first appailed by them. They are accustomed to enduring hardships; are accustomed to irregular hours; they are accustomed to act on their own responsibility, on their own initiative, and yet they are accustomed to obeying orders quick. In raising my own regi-ment, which was raised mainly in the southwest, partly in the territory in which Mr. Sargent himself served as a soldier at one time, in Arizona, I got a ness in violating equity and good mor-als proportionately increases," says Mr. Point, appeared in police headquarters Hodge, through his lawyers. "It is be-tonight and paid $50 in lieu of a fine coming more and more important for for driving an automobile through this them to stifle inquiry in court, and city at a speed estimated at fifty miles and we did not have time to teach him either. He had to know how to handle horse and how to handle a rifle, to start with; but given the possession of those two qualities, I found that there was no group of our citizens from which greater men could be drawn to do a soldier's work in a tight place, and at all times than the railway man. But gentlemen. the period of war is but a fractional Georgia. Now, I come here along the part of the life of our republic and I upper waters of the Tennessee to see the hope and believe that it will be an even first place to be settled by people of our smaller part in the future than it has been in the past.

Believes in Organized Labor. I believe emphatically in organized labor. I believe in organizations of wage workers. Organization is one of the laws of our social and economic department at | of whom you see there-gathered to go this time. But I feel that we must always keep before our minds that there is mountain the decisive blow which in the nothing sacred in the name itself. call an organization an organization does volutionary war. Right from the begin-not make it a good one. The worth of ning, the Tennesseans showed themselves an organization depends upon its being handled with the courage, the skill, the wisdom, the spirit of fair dealing, as between man and man and the wise self-restraint which I am glad to be able to say your brotherhood has shown. You now number close upon 44,000 members. During the two years ending June 30 last, you paid into the general and beneficiary funds close on a million and a haif dollars. More than six and one-half millions the insurance clause in the constitutionhave been made to disabled members and their beneficiaries. Over 50 per cent. of the amount paid was pald on account of accidents. Gentlemen, that is a suffi-cient commentary upon the kind of profession which is yours. You face death and danger in time of peace, as in time of war the men wearing Uncle Sam's uni-form must face death. Your work is hard. De you suppose I mention that because I pity you? No, not a bit. I do not pity any man who does hard work worth doing-I admire him. I speak to the Brotherhood of Locome

ive Firemen, but what I say applies to all railway men-not only to the engineers who have served apprenticeship as fire-men; to the conductors, who, as a rule, have served an apprenticeship as brake men; to the conductors, who, as a rule, izations connected with railway work. know you do not grudge my saying that, though I am talking to all the railroad men of the country. You, in your organization as railroad men, have taught two lessons—the lesson of how much can be accomplished by organization, but by mutual self help of the type that helps an-other in the only way in which in the long rum a full grown man really can be helped; that is by teaching him to help himself. You teach the benefits of organization, and you also teach the indispen-sible need of keeping absolutely unim-paired the faculty of individual initiative.

The Brotherhood has developed to this enormous extent since the day, now many years ago, when the first little band came together; and it has developed not by crushing out individual initiative, but developing it, by combining many indi-vidual initatives. The Brotherhood of Firemen does much for all firemen, but I firmly believe that the individual fireman has been more, not less, efficient than he was twenty years ago Much May Be Accomplished.

Much may be done by the Brotherhood, I have just hinted in the general figures I gave you at how much has been done, but it still remains true in the Brotherhood and everywhere else throughout American life, that as a last resort nothing can supply the place of man's own individual qualities. Much can be done by the association. A great deal can be accomplihed by working each for all, and all for each; but we must not forget that the first requisite in accomplishing that is that each man should work for others by worink for himself; by devel-oping his own capacity. Is not that com-mon sense? I think so. The steady way in which a man can rise is illustrated by a little thing that happened yesterday. I came down here over the Queen and Cre-scent route and the general manager, who handled my train and who handled yours, was Mr. Maguire. I used to know him in the old days when he was on his way up and he began right at the bottom. He was a fireman at one time. He worked his way straight up and now he is general manager and he put this con-vention here and he put me here.

I feel that the profession of railroading is a fine anti-scorbutic—that it does away with the tendency toward softness. A man is not going to be a fireman or an engineer, or serve well in any other capacity on a railroad long, if, to speak technically, he has a "streak of yellow" In him. You are going to find it out and he is going to be painfully conscious of t very soon.

It is a fine thing for our people that we should have those fine qualities. In American citizenship we can stand permanently only upon the basis of standing shoulder to shoulder, working in association, working for all, and yet re-membering that we need each to shape things that each man can develop to best advantage all the forces and powers at his command. In your organization you accomplish much by means of the Brotherhood, but you accomplish it because of the men who go to make up that Brotherhoood. If you had exactly the organiza tion, exactly the laws, exactly the system, and yet were yourselves a poor set of men, the system would not save you.

And, now let me say a word, speaking not merely to you, but speaking to all our citizens. Governor McMillan, Mr. Mayor: I fall to see how any American can come to Chattanooga and go over the great battlefields in the neighborhood and see evidences of the mighty deeds done by the men who were the blue and the men who wore the gray and not go away a better-American, prouder of the country; prouder because of the valor displayed on both sides in the contest, the valor, the self devotion, the loyalty to the right as each side saw the right.
