MAY BE ENDED

AN INGENIOUS SCHEME FOR RAISING WAGES.

No Increased Cost to the Consumer, No Embarassment to the Mine Owner-President Baer's Principal Arguments Met-Efforts of a prominent business Man to Do Justice to Both Sides to the Controversy. Plan by Which He Would End the Present Struggle.

"Miles of literature have been spun since the coal strike was inaugurated seventeen weeks ago," said a well known business man yesterday to Tribune man. "Acres of white paper," he continued, "have spoiled with denunciation and diatribe from both sides to the conroversy but few, if any, practical suggestions have been made as to how the miners and the operators might settle their differences and restore peace and prosperity to themselves and the community.

"Somehow the impression is abroad that in resisting the demands of the men the mine owners are actuated by nere obstinacy; that they are wilfully deaf to advice and impervious to reason; that their one great object is to destroy the organization of the United Mine Workers by starving its members into submission but such suspicions are not founded in common sense; they are far-fetched because there is not one lota of any published statement of any representative of the mine owners to justify such a conclusion.

"To believe some current literature one must regard President Baer singly and alone as the only obstacle to a speedy settlement of the coal strike. "To credit the news from the other side and to not know the man, one must suspect John Mitchell as an ambitious young man who is leading a cause which he believed to have been lost before it was begun. Neither side is wholly right; neither wholly wrong.

BOTH SIDES OF THE STRIKE. "I believe that the contending forces have a sufficiency of the strike and that a better understanding by each of the rights of the other is all that is necessary to bring to a speedy termination the unpleasantness now existing. In the published statements of President Baer there does not appear any denial of any lawful right to which the mine worker is entitled. Now if President Mitchell will proclaim, the legal right of the mine owners to operate their mines in every lawful manner, including the right to employ and discharge men for cause, with assent to members of the United Mine workers to resume their former positions I believe it would be a matter of only a very short time until a substantial readjustment of conditions and wages is made in favor of the men.

"It seems to be a foregone conclusion that this will be a very long strike unless the mine workers return to work on the basis of unconditional surrender. And in doing so I candidly believe that no sacrifice of principle would be made and much good would be almost certain to follow. Let me offer some reasoning for my conclusions. In the first place, employers, like other people, are HEAVY TEAMING AND DRAYING not in the best condition to be liberal when business is not prosperous. As is well known the schedule of prices for ter price on the first day of April in through the menth of April. On the first days of May, June, July, August and September the price is advanced ten cents per ton, and the price is then fixed for the seven months from Sept. 1 to April 1. It is thus evident that when the strike was declared coal was after selling for a month at the lowest price of the year, and at the time the operations ceased only one advance of > en cents had been made. GOOD TIME FOR SUSPENSION. "With coal selling in May at 40 cents per ton less than the winter prices is there not good reason for the mine owners to prefer a suspension of operations rather than submit to demands which would result in great loss besides possible ruin to many individual It is an easy matter to offer plans and methods for the conduct of another's business. Let the result be success or failure, the promoter may win, but cannot lose. "Usually the fellow who is most prolific in suggestions for spending the capital of another has very little to show for the wisdom applied to his own business. All parties concerned might as well face the question squarely, and the sooner the better. Neither corporations nor individuals can afford to conduct any kind of business at a loss for any great length of time and every employer must have a liberal margin of profit to conduct his affairs successfully and to provide against possible losses, accidents, wear and tear and the thousand and one items of expense that cannot be calculated on the cost of the product. The mine owners' profit at the end of a year is very often formed in the good fortune he has had in escape from costly accidents. So I think it must be admitted that the coal operator is entitled to some profit on his output of coal as well as his chance of escape from ac-

NO SACRIFICE OF PRINCIPLE. "I have stated that no sacrifice of principle would result from an unconditional surrender of the men at this time. My reasons for this statement are based on the presumption that prosperity makes all men liberal, and others altered. We recommend our readers, who are contemplating a trip readers, who are contemplating a trip other lines of trade and commerce. There is a beautiful precedent that gives a basis for this reasoning in the action of the United States Steel corporation in the case of the Amalgamated Steel Workers, when the latter, after a long and bitter contest, were vanquished and overthrown, returned to work, were most handsomely treated to a voluntary advance in wages by their high-minded victors, and today they are enjoying the fruits for which they fought-and lost. So, too, I believe that if the mine workers return to work, local grievances will be adjusted. When the mines are put into successful operation, some of the heavy losses resulting from the strike are met and a period of prosperity is entered upon, the mine workers may expect treatment similar to that received by the Amalgamated Steel Workers. "In this connection I venture to sugat a plan for compromise on the folow ng basis:

"Beginning Jan. 1. 1903, an advance of ten per cent, be added to the wages of every mine worker for the months of January, February and March. To April wages no addition for the reason that April coal will be sold at 50 cents per ton off the winter prices. For May-coal an advance of 10 cents per ton being made to the selling price, the mine worker to get the benefit of this in an addition of 2 per cent, to his wages, in June an additional 2 per cent., in July 2 per cent, in August 2 per cent., and in September 2 per cent., making the addition in September 10 per cent., and this to remain every month until April following, when the 10 per cent. would again be taken off and made up at the rate of 2 per cent. per month until the 10 per cent, is again reached, and so continue.

WOULD SEEM EQUITABLE. "If the coal operators can afford to do this the plan would seem to be most equitable and the mine workers would be getting the full benefit of the winter prices on coal. When it is known that this advance of 50 cents per ton applies only to prepared sizes, or sizes above pea coal, which average only about 60 per cent. of the output, and also that anthracite coal is sold at the mines on the basis of 65 per cent. of idewater prices, it will be readily seen that the mine worker receives all that comes from the advance on winter

PHILLIPS NOMINATED.

He Is the Candidate of the Democrats of the Second Legislative District.

The Democrats of the Second legisative district, at a convention held at the St. Charles hotel yesterday afteroon, nominated Fred J. Phillips, common councilman of the Eleventh ward, as their candidate for legislature in that He had no opposition, the candidate having been selected at a meeting of Democratic leaders Monday evening, when John C. Roche was induced to retire from the contest.

J. F. Hammes, chairman of the district standing committee, called the convention to order, and Edward J. McNally was elected secretary. The credentials of the delegates were received and the roll of the convention prepared.

The chairman appointed a committee on resolutions consisting of John J. each year. This reduced price rises Fahey, Sheriff C. H. Schadt and Martin Cadden, and the temporary organization was then made permanent. The report of the committee on resolutions was read by Mr. Fahey and adopted. They condemned the Republican party endorsed the Democratic state candidates and concluded as follows:

We sympathize with the miners in their efforts to procure more favorable treat-ment from their employers. We earnestly hope that a basis of settlement may so be found which will amicably adjust all differences and avoid future conflicts, The peace, welfare and prosperity of the country depend upon harmonious relations existing between those who hire and those who sell labor. The necessities of all forms of industrial and commercial enterprises acknowledge that a primary ondition of social contentment and ness activity is that capital and labor shall work in concert and for each others

Chairman Hammes asked for nominations for the legislature, and Martin Cadden presented the name of Fred J. Phillips. That was the only nomination, and on motion of Martin Ferguson, of the Thirteenth ward, Mr. Phillips was chosen by acclamation. He thanked the delegates and then said: "If elected I promise to do everything I can to help the Democrat-

SETTLEMENT OF THE DEAN-HOWELL CASES

The Equity, Consipracy and Orphans Court Proceedings Are Satisfactorily Compromised.

The legal proceedings brought by Mrs. Jennie Howell-Dean against her brother, Franklin Howell, were ended yesterday at a meeting of the parties and their attorneys in the law offices of O'Brien & Martin.

On this week's equity list appeared the case in which Mrs. Dean sought to compel her brother to make an accounting with reference to certain property their father had left to them Franklin being named as the trustee. It was alleged by Mrs. Dean in her bill that her brother had squandered upwards of $150,000 that belonged to her. These charges were denied by Mr. Howell. Then there was a conspiracy case in which Mrs. Dean sued to recover damages from her brother and Thomas Bevan who she charged with inspiring the lunacy proceedings against her.

Proceedings were also pending in the orphans court where Mrs. Dean filed 117 exceptions to the report of Franklin Howell as the executor of his father's Yesterday's rain apparently did not dampen the ardor of the workers in The Tribune's Educational Contest, as seven made goodly additions to their scores. Albert Freedman, of Bellevue, and C. W. Dorsey, of Scranton, made the greatest gains, the former bringing in 19 points and the latter 15. The others who scored were J. A. Havenstrite, 11; William Cooper, 3; Maxwell that after Sept. 12 she will serve them Lawsons..... Shepherd, 3; Herbert Thompson, 2; Homer Kresge, 1.

Although three of the contestants added materially to their scores it did not affect their standing in the main table, but the day's work caused considerable changing about among the leaders for the September prizes. Mr. Havenstrite advanced from seventh to fifth place, and Mr. Dorsey and Mr. Freedman make their first appearance in the table. The race for the September prizes is becoming very interesting, as but five points separate the leaders for the four prizes offered for the best work during the month.
