WEST PITTSTON FAIR OPENED

HEAVY RAIN INTERFERED WITH PROGRAMME.

There Is a Large and Very Fine Line of Exhibits of the Things Usually Seen at a County Fair-Base Ball Games Scheduled for Yesterday Had to Be Abandoned-An Attractive Card of Races Is Scheduled for Today-Horses That Have Been Entered.

From a Staff Correspondent. West Pittston, Pa., Sept. &-The seventh annual fair and race meeting of the Luzerne County Fair association opened today under discouraging conditions. Rain was the principal feature, and although it was not a steady downpour the showers came with sufficient frequency to keep everything in an extremely moist state. The track was converted into a marsh and its sticky, yet slippery surface made the exercise spins of the races more than a trifle hazardous. About 4 o'clock a miniature hurricans threatened to blow everything out of business. Scranton is well represented in the speed department. Among the horses from the Electric City are the entries of C. R. Connell, James J. Mahon, Dr. William Haggerty, William Koch, jr. George W. Dunn, W. Belles, John Slattery, C. P. Wentz and H. S. Gorman.

The damp conditions doubtless prevented many exhibitors from bringing their displays to the grounds today Yet there is a fair showing in the agricultural, horticultural, fancy work and domestic manufacture departments, all of which are in the main exhibition hall. This part of the fair is presided over by Superintendent P. K. Richards, and his tasteful arrangement of the various booths is no small aid to the success of the exhibits. Up to almost dark the exhibits were being added to. THE EXHIBITS.

Among the largest exhibitors in agricultural hall is A. O. Farnham, of Exeter, president of the association, who has a great variety of vegetables and farm produce on display, among them a new variety of hubbard squash, which is of an old-gold color and attracts attention from those who do "know pumpkins."

Solomon Lewis, of Harding, the "apple man," as he has come to be known from his regular attendance at this fair and his always large display of Eve's favorite fruit, is again on hand with close to a hundred varieties of apples, pears, plums and peaches in the glossiest and judiest state of perfection. Mrs. A. L. Towner, of West Pittston, occupies considerable space with her showing of preserves, canned goods and jellies, about three score of jars and glasses, each containing an entirely different fruit product, testifying to her housewifely skill.

The poultry building was the real centre of attraction today. In it there are all sorts of feathered creatures, eclipsing any previous poultry dis-play; rabbits, Belgian hares and ferrets on one side, and on the other a fine bench show. This feature is a new departure here, and it is a successful venture. The quarters originally constructed to accommodate choice samstructed to accommodate choice sam-ples of man's most faithful friend First Empire period; picturesque, romanproved to be wholly inadequate and a tic and powerful. Of all Mr. Mantell's gang of carpenters had to be sum-moned to build more kennels this af-ternoon. One of the "taking" features wrote "The Two Orphans," "Celebrated One of the "taking" features of this building is a long cage containing fourteen ferrets, of differing from a litter of five new born white ones, the size of mice, to the fullgrown rabbit hunters. Several of these are Albinoes, with pink eyes and snow-

OTHER ATTRACTIONS.

On the outside of the buildings the usual attractions for visitors are in abundance. Yesterday's rain interfered seriously with the getting ready of most of the ring-toss and ball-throw-ing games. Maurice Welch, of Scranton, is here, with his shooting gallery, A merry-go-round from Pen Argyle is being put together and tuned up for the youngsters. A wheel of fortune is in handy reach of those with sporting

A base ball game was scheduled to be played this afternoon between a team from Simon Long's store in Wilkes. Barre and the Luzerne borough team, but the diamond would have been better suited to a game of water polo, and this feature was postponed.

A den of live snakes under canvas is one of the outside features that requires an admission fee. Inside the buildings medium-sized displays of photographs, flowers, needlework, farm produce, painting and drawings will cause admiration. Secretary Saxe has cause admiration. Secretary Saxe has cause admiration. Secretary Saxe has loud in their praises.

The Star will be dark Thursday, Friday and Saturday, owing to the construction of the construction of the construction. early to estimate, it looks as if his labors will not be in vain.

William Alden, or "Bill," as every attendant, horseman and fair-goer calls him, is again in evidence with has canvas restaurant.

OFFICERS OF ASSOCIATION.

The officials of the Luzerne County Fair association are: A. O. Farnham, Exeter, president: W. E. Saxe, West Pittston, secretary; W. T. McCabe, Pittston, treasurer; W. T. McCabe, R. M. Hughes and T. J. Corcoran, executive committee.

An attractive card of races is scheduled for tomorrow. The first race, for 2.17 trotters and pacers, will be called at 2 o'clock, Starter James Kelly, of Dunmore, will have charge of the speed events. With a good wind tonight the track should be in prime condition for fast time. The entries for tomorrow's two races are:

THEATRICAL.

"The Dagger and the Cross." At the Lyceum last night Robert B, Mantell began his engagement by pre-senting "The Dagger and the Cross," a five-act play by W. A. Tremanyne, from the novel of the same name written by Joseph Hatton.

The play is intensely dramatic and affords Mr. Mantell a splendid opportunity for the kind of acting that has won him fame throughout the length and breadth of the land. As Herneado Roubillas, the Italian painter, he realized fully the various phases of that charac-

Assisting Mr. Mantell is one of the best companies he has had in recent years. The scenic adornment of the drama was superb.

This afternoon "The Dagger and the Cross" will be repeated at a special mati-nee at 2.15. Tonight, Mr. Mantell will produce his grand production of "Mon-Case," and many other melodramas of that school, but in all he never pictures such a hero as Robert Monbars. Seats

That Fire Dancer. They had just arrived from Pike county and strolled into Dixle's theater for a brief season of enjoyment at the matince. "Ameta, the fire dancer," said one as he scanned the programme, "Wonder how she does it without getting scorched?"

"Wears asbestos clothes, of course, ye blamed idiot!" said his companion. "Don't show yer ignorance by asking fool ques-"Them ain't asbestos clothes," re marked the first as the dancer appeared enveloped in a cobweb-like drapery. "Quess yer right," admitted the other as the dance continued. "She wouldn't need 'em anyway. No danger of fire there. She gits around so durned lively lightin' couldn't catch her."

"Gay Morning Glories."

The Gay Morning Glories conclude their engagement at the Star with matinee and night performance today, and those who have not yet witnessed this performance will do well to surely attend either one or the other of today's shows. The "Morning Glories" are undoubtedly as and Saturday, owing to the construction of a fire wall between the stage and the auditorium, and the installation of a new asbestos curtain. Manchester's Cracker-jacks will reopen the house on Monday, Sept. 15.

"A Colonial Girl."

Miss Bertha Creighton, who portrays the character of Mollie Hedden in "A Colonial Girl," has a part that fits her like a proverbial glove. The sweetest, simplest sort of a trusting girl. Miss Creighton has surrounded herself by a cast of exceptional merit. It is said that she carries the most complete and elaborate scenic production that will be on the road this season.

There are but two settings in the play, but both show the touch of a master hand. "A Colonial Girl" will be seen at the Lyceum on Thursday night, hand-somely costumed, scenically correct, artistically played. Seats now on sale.

"In Posterland."

"In Posterland."

"In Posterland." the new spectacular music comedy in which the Royal Lilliputians will appear at the Lyceum Saturday afternoon and evening is an up-to-date extravaganza in which the little people will be scen to a better advantage than in the past. They introduce us to all our friends of poster and cartoon fame. Foxy Grandpa and his boys, Mrs. Katzenjammer and her offsprings, Lady Bountiful. Sis Hopkins, Omega Oil Boy and the Goose, the Gold Dust Twins, Generously Good. Alphonse and Gaston, Happy Hoolligan, Billy Bounce, Fuzzy White.

White.

The gigantic representative who has made the high ball famous on the sides of New York's buildings is portrayed by one of the giants of the organization, for this troupe carries large as well as small people, besides a chorus of beautiful girls, who assist by their looks and singing in making up an entertainment rarely to be found or equalled in popular priced houses. Diagram opens Thursday at 9 a. m.

STAGE NOTES.

Ameta, the fire dancer, has proved to be he stellar attraction at Dixle's theater this week. A more beautiful and artistic blending of color has never been witnessed than in the spectacular effects accompanying Ameta's great dance.

Two large houses greeted the Schiller Stock company yesterday. In the afternoon, "The Indian" was presented, and in this, Campbell Straton, in the dual role of Rex Sterling and Red Feather, carried off the honors. In the evening, Howard Hall's greatest success, "Slaves of Russia" was presented. This afternoon "Slaves of Russia will be repeated, and tonight "Private John Allen" will be the bill.

THE MARKETS

Wall Street Review.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Sept. 9.—With business in excess of 1,000,000 shares and widely distributed today's market ruled generally illim with many marked advances and closed with sentiment rather mixed. Except for further good crop advices and word of an approaching importation from Australia, there was little to account for the strength shown. On the other hand the financial outlook was again menacing, call loans advancing to 9 per cent. No little dissatisfaction was shown at the status of the coal strike situation. In good part, the day's operations were attributed to the many pools. The market opened with gains in the Southwestern stocks, particularly those in the Gould system and the strength of these issues fore especially Missouri Pacific, which was the feature in point of activity, was accompanied by a host of rumors, none of them authoritative. The "street" ascribed much of Missouri Pacific's strength to the operation of a well known pool and this belief was heightened by the character of the buying. Later there were large and brisk operations in some old favorites, such at Louisville and Nashville and Southern Railway, and it is in these stocks that manipulation was most manifest. Total sales for the day were 1,129,700 shares. United States old 4's advanced ¼, the new 4s coupon quarter and the 3s % per cent. on the last call.
