An extensive cave-in occurred yesterday in the Clark vein of the Leggett's Creek mine of the Delaware and Hudson company. District Superintendent Ross, of the latter company, said last night that the cave could be directly traced to a squeeze in either the Storrs No. 3 or Cayuga mines of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, but the officials of the latter company asserted that the trouble originated in the Leggett's mine.

MITCHELL AT DICKSON CITY

BIG DEMONSTRATION BY STRIKING MINERS.

Mass Meeting Addressed by National President of the United Mine Workers, Bishop Fallows, of Chicago; District President Devine, of the Central Labor Union and Others—Mitchell Says a Proposition for Settlement Will Not Emerge from Him.

Dickson City was yesterday the scene of one of the biggest and most enthusiastic mine workers demonstrations that has yet occurred in these parts since the beginning of the strike. There was a parade, participated in by three thousand members of the Dickson City, Olyphant, Throop and North Scranton locals and a mass meeting, at which fully 7,000 men, women and children listened to addresses by National President John Mitchell, Bishop Samuel Fallows, of Chicago; District Presidents T. D. Nicholls and John Fahy, President

PRESIDENT JOHN MITCHELL.

John H. Devine, of the Central Labor Union; Rev. W. A. Moore, of Avoca, and others.

The strikers from all the region round marched to the center of the town in the neighborhood of Fallon's Corners, shortly after noon, and, forming in line under the direction of Grand Marshal William Hodgson, of Throop, marched to the Delaware and Hudson depot to meet the 1:30 train, which bore President Mitchell and the other speakers.

With the visitors in carriages at the right of the line, the parade moved up Main avenue to the Olyphant line, counter-marched to a point near the city line and then proceeded down Bowman street, through Dickson flats, to the grove at the rifle range, where the mass meeting was held.

HOUSES DECORATED.
Business places and residences along the whole line of march were decorated with flags and bunting, and numerous pictures of Mitchell, surmounted with flags or flowers, were displayed.

In the line were many interesting features. Chief among them was a cavalcade of drivers boys mounted on mules, which a friendly barn boss at a colliery of the neighborhood generously loaned them. Another crowd of mounted mine boys were attired in fantastic costumes. Burlesques on the coal and iron police predominated in the make-ups. Many banners were carried, and the most of them had something to do with President Baer. One of them announced that "The Hunting Season for Baer is Now Open." "God Bless Our John Mitchell" was a conspicuous banner carried by the Erieburg local.

A wagon carrying eight women also bore a banner on which was printed "We Are the Wives of the White Slaves of Mine Workers." Green Ridge was represented by another wagon load of women displaying a banner with this legend:

"The Green Ridge women intend to stand with the men, heart and hand."

The stand in the grove from which the speeches were made had on three sides of it a crowd averaging fifty yards in depth. The trees were filled with men and boys, and the space beneath the stand was taken up with children who could not be left at home, and who would be in danger of being crushed to death if allowed to remain in the crowd.

MITCHELL INTRODUCED.
Most enthusiastic applause greeted President Mitchell when he appeared on the platform and again when he was introduced to speak. Considerate of the fact that the assembly was so large, hear Mitchell, the speakers who preceded him were brief, and out of consideration of the further fact that his auditors were undergoing a severe hardship in being compelled to stand in a tightly wedged mass, Mr. Mitchell himself was brief. He said:

"I have not come with the expectation of discussing the issues involved in this strike. Imprinted indelibly in the hearts of every one of you are the wrongs we have suffered from time immemorial. What we are fighting for, the American people have passed judgment on the conflict and 90 per cent. of them at least have decided that the miners are right and their employers wrong."

"I am not one who believes in deriding men because they are rich. None of us are poor because we want to be. Some of us are poor because we cannot become rich honorably. Some, probably, because we cannot become rich at all."

WHAT THEY SAY.
"Those who present the other side of the strike question want it believed that I do not stand for the miners. A distinguished ex-mayor of New York has said I did not desire arbitration, but the recognition of John Mitchell personally. If I thought I stood in the way of a settlement of this strike I would willingly resign my position."

"No, never." "We won't let you," and the like greeted this declaration. "Others have said I am not a faithful leader of the miners; that I am not leading them right. John Mitchell does not lay claim to any superior knowledge as a leader, but he knows that he is the coal companies want him to lead the local companies want him to lead them. (Laughter.)

"I regret that the coal companies do not look with favor on our organization and its methods. It does seem to me that an organization which has brought about permanent peace between operators and miners in thirteen different

SIDNEY WILLIAMS' HOME

At 538 Madison Avenue Is Offered for Sale by W. T. Hackett the Real Estate Broker.

Among the handsome residences recently erected in Scranton that of Mr. Sidney Williams may justly lay claim to first rank from any point of comparison. It is seldom that such a property is offered for sale, especially within a year or two after its erection. It is needless to say that nothing but the change of Mr. Williams' business from Scranton to Hazleton would cause him to part with a home which embodies not alone the combined good judgment and taste of its owner, but also the skill of such men as Architect Rutherford and Contractor Lord, both of them men of pronounced ability in high-grade work.

Among the many good features in connection with this property may be mentioned the following: First of all, the lot is large, being sixty feet wide by one hundred and sixty feet in depth, with large, handsome shade trees and spacious lawns, both front and rear. The avenue and the court are both paved. Substantial fences, flagging, stone steps, with other stone and brick work, lend an air of solidity to the outside appearance of the property, which at once creates a favorable impression. The house, which is nearly square, with a large, handsome hall in the center, contains thirteen rooms, not counting the store-room and hall and the bath rooms, of which there are three, one of them handsomely tiled, and all equipped with the highest grade of open nickel-plated work. Every room is steam heated throughout, and all indirect radiation, except the third floor, which is direct.

The entire ground floor is finished in hard woods—oak for the hall and library, mahogany for the dining room, Southern pine in the kitchen and butler's pantry, and white enamel for the parlor. Hardwood polished floors cover the entire first and second stories. The house is well lighted, with combination fixtures, the chandeliers being of very handsome design.

In addition to the coal and gas ranges there is a stove in the laundry, which heats a two hundred gallon boiler that supplies the bath rooms and other parts of the house with hot water. The cellar is cemented. When one considers its situation, only four and one-half blocks from the court house, making it so accessible to the central city, and yet in the choice residence section of the city, together with the other excellent features, some of which have been enumerated, it must be admitted that it leaves little to be desired further in a Scranton home.

For further particulars as to price, and terms, also card of admittance, call upon or address W. T. Hackett, Real Estate Broker, Price Building, Washington avenue.

Miss Le Vay, the famous milliner, came to Hotel Jermyn yesterday with a wonderful line of excellent fall hats. Many Scranton ladies availed themselves of the opportunity thus offered by calling on her yesterday. Miss Le Vay will remain at the Jermyn today.

MRS. TRAUGER ON THE STAND

SHE DENIES THE CHARGES MADE AGAINST HER.

Declares That Dr. Bentley Was Never Anything More Than a Physician to Her and That She Kept Knowledge of Some of His Visits to Her from Her Husband as the Latter Complained About the Amount of Her Doctor Bills—Other Court Matters of Yesterday.

The feature of yesterday's proceedings in the divorce case of George H. Trauger against Mrs. Vira Trauger was the appearance on the stand of Mrs. Trauger, who denied that she had ever maintained illicit relations with Dr. J. K. Bentley. She said her husband had been cruel and abusive to her for years and that he wanted a divorce because she was in poor health.

At the morning session, Robert Von Storch, Mrs. Kate Griffin, Mrs. Mary Thomas, Miss Belle Calderwood, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lake and Mrs. S. G. Cobb testified that they frequently saw Dr. Bentley enter or leave the Trauger house on East Market street, prior to the separation of the couple. Mrs. Trauger, who testified that on the night of the separation, Trauger came to her room and told of the unfaithfulness of his wife, in the latter's hearing. Mrs. Trauger made no comment on what her husband said.

Mrs. Louis Trauger, step-mother of the libellant, said she was asked by the respondent if she thought it was wrong for her to have Dr. Bentley come to the house to see her, and the witness said she told her it was improper. Mrs. Minnie Trauger was at the Trauger residence when Dr. Bentley called on one occasion. Mrs. Trauger took him upstairs, and they remained there for an hour.

Called on the Doctor.
On one occasion, Mrs. Angela Lowry said she was out driving with Mrs. Trauger, and the latter stopped at Dr. Bentley's office, went in and remained about fifteen minutes.

Attorney C. W. Dawson testified that after the divorce proceedings were brought, he called on Mrs. Trauger, who gave some papers on her, and he asked him to use his influence to get her husband to take her back. He asked her why she had confessed to her husband, and she told him she thought she would not go to heaven unless she did, and she wanted to ease her conscience. She said she liked Dr. Bentley and having sinned with him once could not resist him.

Henry Smith, a detective, testified that in the summer of 1900, about 11 o'clock one night, he saw Dr. Bentley drive into an alley and stop at the rear of the Trauger house. Mrs. Trauger came out of the house, got in the carriage and drove away. Louis Winters, a justice of the peace of Mill City, said that soon after the divorce proceedings were begun Dr. Bentley came to his office with a paper, which set forth that there had never been any improper relations between him and Mrs. Trauger. He wanted Mr. Winters to go with him to the house where Mrs. Trauger was staying and get her to make affidavit to the truth of the contents of the letter. They went, but Mrs. Trauger would not sign it. Dr. Bentley was called and asked to produce the letter. He said he had destroyed it. The libellant rested his case at that point.

DEFENSE OPENED.
Attorney C. Balentine opened the case for the defense. He said they would show that Mrs. Trauger was abused by her husband and was in constant fear of him; that she had been ill for years and her illness had affected her nerves. On the night of Feb. 29, 1901, he had wrought on his wife's feelings until she was in a state of hysteria and then he forced her to say words concerning her relations with Dr. Bentley which he put in her mouth.

Dr. J. W. Coolidge was called and testified that in June, of 1901, he operated on Mrs. Trauger at the Hahnemann hospital for a disease that had probably lasted for several years and which would have a tendency to affect the nerves.

Mrs. Trauger was then put on the stand and remained there until adjourning hour. She will be cross-examined this morning. She said her husband had misused her, been suspicious of her, and had tortured her with his unjust accusations. She denied that Dr. Bentley had ever been anything more than a physician to her. She said the doctor came to the house at times when her husband was not at home, as he was always complaining about the doctor bills. On the night of Feb. 29, 1901, she said her husband had simply terrified her by his nagging and abuse.

OTHER CASES.
The jury in the case of Mary Foster against John Reese went out yesterday morning and had not reported a verdict at adjourning hour. In the case of A. Henderson against M. E. Worden, an appeal, the court directed a verdict of $7.50 for the plaintiff.

The Farmer's Success Depends Upon Freedom from Disease and Suffering.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

IS THE MEDICINE THAT HAS MADE THOUSANDS OF COUNTRY TOILERS WELL AND STRONG.

There are thousands of farmers in our land who are rich in broad acres and gold, yet lack that true wealth known as good health.

It is a melancholy fact that men and women in the country districts, breathing the purest air and drinking from God's bubbling fountains and limpid springs, are liable to the same diseases and ailments that come thick and fast to city people. We find rheumatism, neuralgia, debility, dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles, and blood diseases almost as common in the farmer's family as they are in city homes.

Paine's Celery Compound, Heaven's best blessing to the farming community, has done more for the banishment of dread disease and building up of health than all other combined medicines. Mr. John Zuspan, a prominent and well known farmer of Middleport, Ohio, writes specially for the benefit of sufferers in the rural districts; he says:

"Last November I was so badly crippled up with rheumatism, which came on in June, that I could hardly walk without the aid of crutches or a heavy stick. About the tenth of November, I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound, and after using four bottles I was completely cured, and was able to attend to my usual work as well as when I was forty. I am now sixty-six, and can walk and run as well as a man of thirty."

At adjourning hour, the case of H. Goldsleger against L. Freedman was on trial before Judge Newcomb. There was no appearance for the plaintiff in the case of George Jones against E. Conway and others, and a non-suit was allowed.
