High-Class TAILORED SUITS For Ladies' Wear.

There are many Suits advertised, all represented as of more than ordinary merit. But none know better than the well informed woman who has tried, and tried in vain, to buy a ready-to-wear gown that would fully meet her ideas of merit, how hard it is to get such a thing.

We cordially invite the ladies who have tried to get suitable ready-to-wear gowns, and failed, to visit our Suit Department this week. We are thoroughly convinced that we have succeeded in overcoming the objections they had cause to find in most of the so-called "highly tailored suits." These gowns—specified below—have all been made to our especial order and fully represent our ideas of what correct tailor-made gowns ought to be like.

At $22.00
Suits in fine Black Venetians, models of lady-like elegance, and perhaps the best examples of correct fashion that this season will produce. The jacket has embossed satin slot seams, cut satin ruff, is prettily lined with Skinner satin; blouse shape, with satin ruffle. Death of Mrs. Rice.
The many friends in town of Mrs. Charles L. Rice, who many years ago was a resident here, during the time Mr. Rice was pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be glad to hear of her death, which occurred on Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. H. Gillette, in Cortland, N. Y.
Mrs. Rice had been confined to her bed for the fiftieth anniversary of her marriage, which occurred on the Sunday before her death, but instead of a day of sickness, the day was spent in silent waiting for the coming of the Grim Reaper. During her residence here, Mrs. Rice formed many warm friendships, which had been continued through these many years. Interment was made yesterday in Cypress Hill cemetery in Brooklyn.
