LIVE WIRES CAUSE TROUBLE. Exciting Times in a Peckville Home. About 5 o'clock last evening the borough electric light wire in Peckville became crossed with the fire alarm wires, and at the Wilson house, Termentant Man Samuel Hazen was surprised to hear the relays emitting a hum like the buzz of a trolley car motor. He called the driver, Gerry Brown, who started in to investigate. To get to the relays a step-ladder has to be used. When Brown climbed the ladder and opened the box where the relays are kept, he received an electrical shock that threw him from the ladder, but did not injure him. The electric fluid set fire to the woodwork and at the same time fire was discovered igniting the woodwork at another relay box in the permanent men's sleeping room.

MADE MOULDS WHILE IN JAIL. JAMES BROOK PREPARED TO CAST NICKELS. Received His Instructions in the Art While Serving a Sentence in the Eastern Penitentiary—His Brother-in-Law, William Fennell, Fearing Arrest, Jumped Over a 40-Foot Wall Into the Roaring Brook—Another Man Frightened as a Result of the Circumstances. One of the strangest counterfeiting cases imaginable was brought to light in this city last night, through the arrest of James Brook, who has already spent most of the past ten years in the Eastern penitentiary and the county jail. The odd thing about the case is that Brook first received instructions in "the art of making money" while incarcerated in the penitentiary at Philadelphia, and successfully carried out his instructions while serving a sentence in the Lackawanna county jail. Brook, it will be remembered, was twice sent to the Eastern penitentiary for terms of three years each, for counterfeiting nickels on "little girls," and he says, while there, he was taught by other prisoners how to make moulds for casting counterfeit money. The prison authorities are now engaged in investigating this alleged system of instruction.

FROM FOREST CITY TO PHILADELPHIA. It Will Soon Be Possible to Go the Entire Distance by Trolley. Last Link to Be Built. "A charter has been granted at Harrisburg to the Hazleton, Weatherly and Mauch Chunk Traction company, in which local capitalists are interested," says yesterday's Wilkes-Barre Record. "The charter itself was delivered here by noon yesterday and is in the hands of President Frank W. Larned, who is one of the promoters of the new road. "From the charter it is learned that the road is to commence on Broad street, Hazleton, just in front of the Central hotel, and run down Broad street to the Susquehanna turnpike and then to Beaver Meadow, a distance of four miles; from the latter place over a public road, constructed upon the old Beaver Meadow plane, to Weatherly, another distance of four miles, and from Weatherly over the Lehigh and Susquehanna turnpike to Nesquehoning, where it is to join the Mauch Chunk Traction company, another distance of seven miles, the total length of the road to be fifteen miles. "The projectors of the road say that it now looks possible to travel, in a few months, on connecting electric street car lines from Mauch Chunk to Philadelphia and within the next three months to ride from Wilkes-Barre to Hazleton by trolley line, so that the Hazleton, Weatherly and Mauch Chunk Traction company will constitute the link in a system of trolley lines from Forest City, Susquehanna county, to Philadelphia, a distance of 188 miles. "This newly chartered company has the absolute right over the public roads between Hazleton and Mauch Chunk, offering the most feasible route to these points. The charter also covers the right to use the shortest route from Hazleton to Nesquehoning. "The new company is capitalized at $100,000. The officers are: Frank W. Larned, of Wilkes-Barre, president; Elmer Warner and Lawrence Tarleton, of Weatherly; M. J. Stauffer, of Beaver Meadow; Frank W. Larned, J. K. Weltzenkorn, A. H. Bloom and Christian Walter, of Wilkes-Barre, as directors. The work of putting the road in running order will be commenced with a little delay as possible."

FENNELL MADE A DASH. Just as the officers entered the house, Fennell, believing they were after him, darted out the back door and down through the yard, and over the retaining wall, alongside of the Mattes street bridge, and into the Roaring Brook, a distance of thirty-five or forty feet below. Griffin and Deiter gave chase, the former tearing a part of Fennell's clothing in his attempt to catch him, and the latter firing at him with his revolver. The fleeing form was soon lost in the brush, but Deiter is of the opinion that he saw Fennell cross the brook and go up the bank on the other side. The detectives made a diligent search up and down the bank of the brook, but failed to find any trace of Fennell, and up to a late hour nothing was known of his whereabouts. While the officers were making the search they encountered a man looking for his son, who had threatened to commit suicide by jumping into the water.

SEARCHING FOR SON. The searchers told the somewhat distracted man that some one had jumped into the water, and without waiting to learn that it was Fennell, he started off on a wild run for his home. The police and a number of others searched until a late hour for both victims, but were unsuccessful in their search. Brook was taken to the city police headquarters and locked up for the night, and will be given a preliminary hearing this morning before Commissioner Taylor and sent to jail to await a further hearing next week.

ADDITION NEARLY COMPLETED. The New Building at Second Church Will Soon Be Ready. The new addition to the Second Presbyterian church, which is being erected by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Fuller, is nearing completion, and Conrad Schroeder, the contractor, gives assurance that it will be ready for occupancy in about a month. The building was designed by Architect Robert W. Snyder, and is being erected on the southwest corner of the church. It is about 35x45 feet in size and is two stories high, being constructed of stone to match that used in the church. It will contain but two rooms, one on each floor. The room on the first floor will be used for the primary department of the Sunday school, thus relieving the overcrowded condition of the present Sunday school rooms. The second floor of the new building will be fitted up as a hall and will be used as a meeting room for the Women's Missionary society and the Ladies' Aid society. The cost of the building, which will be heated by steam and lighted by electricity, will be between $10,000 and $12,000.

CAN'T COMPEL THE ISSUE OF TRANSFERS. City Solicitor Watson's Opinion on Bellevue-South Side Question. No Action by Committee. City Solicitor G. M. Watson sent an opinion yesterday to the special joint committee of councils appointed to consider the resolution directing the Scranton Railway company to issue transfers from the Bellevue line to the South Side line and from the South Side line to the Bellevue, in this opinion the solicitor decides that the city cannot compel the issuance of transfers from these two lines of cars. An examination of the charters under which these lines of railroad were built and under which they are now operated and the ordinances granting them the privilege to use the streets of the city as they are today used by the said railway company forces me to conclude that the city of Scranton cannot legally compel the Scranton Railway company to issue transfers from the line known as the Bellevue line to the South Side line, neither can it compel the South Side line to issue transfers to the Bellevue line. I am sure the city would have no legal standing in an attempt to compel the company to issue transfers, particularly on these two lines of cars. Only three members of the committee on one part and quorum met yesterday afternoon, and so no definite action on the resolution was taken. A report will be framed, however, before next Thursday night's meeting of select council.

LEWIS BATES CONTINUES TO SURPRISE EVERYONE WITH HIS RAPID STUDIES IN THE TRIBUNE'S EDUCATIONAL CONTEST. Yesterday he scored twelve points and advanced five places among the leaders and now occupies twenty-second place. Mr. Bates only entered the contest on Thursday, Sept. 18, and in the past eight days has advanced almost daily. He has not only gained a commanding position in the main table, but is in eleventh place among the leaders for the special honor prizes for September. He will probably be unable to make such a large jump again, but every score of twelve points is sure to make a change in his standing unless some of the others just above are more active. The points scored yesterday were: Lewis Bates 12 William T. S. Rodriguez 6 Herbert Thompson 4 A. J. Kellerman 2 A. J. Thayer 1 Mr. Thayer's one point ties him with Harry Danvers for thirty-third place. There were no other changes in the main table, but the race for first prize among the top leaders is becoming very interesting. Only six points separate the first three and at one time yesterday Mr. Kellerman and Mr. Thompson were tied for first place. The next three days will decide who are to receive the four prizes.

ORDINANCES HAVEN'T PASSED. And So Contemplated Plans Can't Be Carried Out. Director of Public Works Roche had a number of plans in contemplation at the beginning of the present fiscal year and secured appropriations for the carrying out of these ideas in the general appropriation ordinance. The plans have not been carried out, because of the failure of councils to pass the necessary ordinances providing for the expenditure of the money already appropriated. An item of $2,000 was included in the appropriation ordinance for the purchase of street signs to mark the intersections of the principal streets in the city. Later an ordinance providing for entering into a contract for the supply of these signs was introduced, but it is slumbering in councils still and the money remains unused. An appropriation of $500 was made for the lighting of Nay Aug park, but the second ordinance has never passed councils. Neither have the ordinances providing for the purchase of a street sweeper and a one-horse sprinker, though appropriations for these were made in the appropriation ordinance. Another important ordinance which was introduced some four months ago, but which has never been up for passage, is the measure establishing rules and regulations for the government of the several parks. A similar ordinance was introduced last year, but never passed. The reason advanced for the failure of these ordinances to pass is indifference on the part of the councilmen, rather than any particular objection on their part to the expenditure of the money involved. Director Roche has decided not to make any special effort to have the ordinances passed, leaving the matter entirely in the hands of the councilmen and depending on their civic pride to do the right thing in the end.
