Peculiar Accident. At the Wilkes-Barre station of the Lehigh Valley road, last night, a sleeping car on the north bound 11.15 train, jumped the track and crashed into the iron stand of the water tank. The tank and the front end of the car were demolished.

A False Alarm. An alarm turned in from box 623, at the Green Ridge station of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, called out the Green Ridge fire companies about 12:30 o'clock this morning. There was no fire, the box having evidently been pulled by some vicious middleman person.

Postal Clerks' Vacations. Evan G. Reese, Ben F. Allen and E. P. Jamme, postal clerks, resumed their duties yesterday, after their vacations. Miss Julia White and Joseph W. Hall started on their vacations yesterday. The former will visit in Washington, D. C., and the latter in Bradford, Pa.

His Leg Broken. Henry Weizel, a waiter at the Scranton house, was badly injured on Sunday night while attempting to board a moving street car on South Main avenue. He slipped and fell, breaking his right leg. He was removed yesterday to the Scranton Private hospital, where an operation will be performed.

A Lineman Injured. John Kelly, of 255 Webster avenue, a lineman employed by the Scranton Electric Light, Heat and Power company, fell from a pole on Lackawanna avenue in front of Goldsmith's bazaar yesterday morning and was seriously injured. He lost his balance while trying to avoid contact with a live wire and fell to the street, a distance of thirty-five feet. He was taken to Dr. Thompson's private hospital, where he was found to have two broken ribs and a sprained wrist. He was reported to be resting comfortably last night.

Civil Service Exams. Civil service examinations for the position of mechanical draftman in the bureau of ordinance of the war department, which has been less arduous than expected, will be conducted at the local federal building on Nov. 11, 12 and 13. Applications should be made to the secretary of the local board of examiners.

Sabbath Observance. The fact that not one prisoner appeared in police court yesterday morning, led Magistrate Howe to remark yesterday that he has noticed since his appointment that there has been less arrests on Sunday than ever before in the history of the city. The cause can be attributed to the observance of the Sunday closing law by licensed dealers and generally. They are cautious about selling because of fear of their licenses being revoked.

Bible Class Social. The members of the Wednesday noon Bible class of the Young Women's Christian association conducted a social last night in the association rooms on North Washington avenue, and had as their guests the members of the Tuesday noon class. Rev. Dr. Robert F. Y. Pierce, pastor of the Penn Avenue Baptist church, delivered an interesting lecture on "The Tabernacle," illustrated with crayon sketches. Refreshments were afterwards served by a number of the young women.

Spanish War Veterans to Meet. General Gobin command, No. 41, Spanish War Veterans, will hold their first meeting following the summer season, in Grand Army Republic hall, next Saturday night. Much business of importance will be discussed, among which will be a proposition to change the night of meeting. Great interest also centers in the recent national convention of Spanish War Veterans, held at Detroit, Mich., when the various organizations practically agreed to consolidate, a scheme that received the hearty approval of President Roosevelt, when he addressed the delegates. Lieutenant L. P. Carter represented Gobin command at the convention, and he will present his report of the proceedings Saturday night.

NO BIDS RECEIVED. Contractors Apparently Not Anxious to Construct the Nineteenth District Sewer.

Bids for the construction of the big Nineteenth district sewer were to have been opened yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, but there were no bids to open. Director of Public Works Roche decided to let the advertisements run for one more week, bids to be opened next Monday.

When asked to explain the reason for the failure of sewer contractors to bid, he said: "It's hard to tell just what the trouble is, but I'm inclined to think that it is the fact that the bond report from the contractor for the faithful performance of the contract. There is a provision in the 'ripper' act which requires the city to insist upon a bond for half the amount of the engineer's estimate of the cost of construction."

The engineer's estimate of the cost of this sewer is $180,000, so that the bond required is $90,000, a very large sum. We have been insisting on trust company bonds, and in order to secure such a bond the contractor is required to put up collateral security, which some contractors are anxious to bid might find it hard to do.

"The sewer contracts let under this act up to the present time have all been small and the contractors have had no difficulty in furnishing bonds. I am hopeful, however, that we will be able to bid. A Philadelphia contractor was on here looking over the ground last week, but was not able to secure data in time to make a bid."

Director Roche is especially desirous of having the contract awarded soon, he says, a great deal of the work to be done during the winter months, particularly the work of tunneling, of which there will be considerable.

A well-known sewer contractor said last night to a Tribune man that he believed the bids would have been higher had the engineer's estimate been higher. He expressed a belief that instead of $180,000 it should be $225,000, because of the fact that the payment of only about twenty per cent. of the contract price is guaranteed by the city.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. McDonnell, together with a number of relatives and friends, celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage last evening at their home, 848 Quincey avenue. The event was an elaborate social function, and while of an informal nature, the features were of a very entertaining character. Instrumental numbers were given by members of Lawlor's orchestra, and Mrs. Logan sang several pleasing vocal selections. The courses were served by Caterer Cook, of West Pittston. The guests were:

ORDER HAS BEEN FULLY RESTORED

Lackawanna County Was Wholly Free Yesterday from Any Serious Disturbances.

TROOP OF CAVALRY ON THE SCENE

Infantry Will Be Relieved of Some of Its Most Arduous Duties—Conflicting Claims Regarding the Effect of the Troops on the General Strike Situation.

Because the troopers had not opportunity to acquaint themselves with the lay of the country, Colonel Watres did not call on them to do duty last night. Today they will be sent out with guides on a tour of the valley, and tonight, they will be detailed to do patrol duty.

CAPTAIN G. C. MERRIMAN, of Company F.

after an almost continuous absence of five days. Last evening's rain was a sore disappointment as it was thought the wet season was at an end. With fair weather today, coupled with the prospect of assistance from the cavalrymen, the life of the infantrymen will be made much more endurable.

Nothing of a startling nature was reported by the patrols that came in yesterday morning, after having covered the valley from Scranton to Archbald. Lieutenant Breig and Sergeant Major Vail, with a detachment of thirty-two men, dispersed a small gathering of strikers at the Marvine yesterday morning, without encountering any show of resistance.

A detail of three men in command of Lieutenant Richard Thomas, of Company A, put in an afternoon at city hall yesterday afternoon and created no little surprise. The soldiers hung around the corridors until Patrolman James McGouldrick put in an appearance, he having come to draw his salary. The patrolman, who is a member of Company C, and who failed to report, for duty was placed under arrest and taken to camp. He had supposed his position as patrolman excused him from military duty, and only on this account neglected to report at the camp.

CIRCULAR FROM CLERGY. Pastors of the Forest City churches have issued a strong circular to their people appealing to them to maintain order.

Private Bretan, of Company G, accidentally shot himself and his tent mate, Private Hawley, in camp yesterday morning. Bretan was cleaning a 22-caliber revolver when it was accidentally discharged. The bullet cut through the front part of the middle finger of his left hand and then struck Hawley in the right cheek just below the outer corner of the eye, flattening itself against the cheek bone. Assistant Surgeons Gunster and Arndt extracted the bullet and dressed both wounds at the hospital, after which the men returned to their company. Neither was incapacitated from duty. Colonel Watres ordered all enlisted men to turn in their revolvers to their captains.

Private Williams of Company D, was stricken with an epileptic fit while doing duty at Jessup, yesterday morning. In falling his head struck a rail and he sustained a cut on his lip and ear. The hospital corps went after him with a stretcher and took him back to camp on the troop train. He had recovered at noon.

The Thirteenth regiment ambulance, which was purchased in 1888 by a public subscription, started by The Tribune and which has been in use at the Hahnemann hospital, was yesterday taken to camp. Major Whitney brought on a pair of livery horses from Honesdale to haul the ambulance. The staff officers are bringing their horses to camp. They will be boarded in an Olyphant livery stable.

A QUIET DAY. It was expected that yesterday would see in these parts a repetition of the disturbances which characterized the two preceding Mondays and the days immediately following them, but these expectations were far from being realized. Yesterday was quite as free from disorder as any day of the strike.

The disorderly element among the strikers have seemingly come to realize the soldiers are out for business and as every locality in which disorder has been wont to occur is patrolled by Colonel Watres' men, those who might be inclined to continue the lawlessness are held in check.

ing of the troops, seemingly, had a tendency to make some of the reckless spirits, a bit desperate, but when it was seen the troops did not affect the strike situation itself, one way or the other, these reckless spirits were disposed to be less aggressive.

SOME DESERTIONS. The company superintendents maintain that when the lawlessness is permanently suppressed and it is seen that the troops can guarantee protection, there will be so many desertions from the strikers' ranks, by men who have only been kept from working by fear of violence, that the strike will be surely broken.

The mine workers leaders, on the other hand, aver that the presence of the troops is driving men out of the mines and back into the union ranks and that if the present ratio of desertions from the companies' side continues a little while longer the few collieries that have been started up will have to shut down again.

The companies admit there have been some desertions from the mines during the past week, but assert that the number has been so small as to be not worth noting. The cause of these desertions, the superintendents all say is the dread inspired by the "reign of terror" of the fore part of last week. Already the deserters are returning to the mines, it is claimed, and new accessions to the ranks are of daily occurrence.

No new collieries started up yesterday in this region, but before the week is out, it is claimed, several places will be gotten under way. At United Mine Workers' headquarters it was given out that fifty men quit work during the day. Of these thirty-five were from the West Scranton and Providence collieries. The others were from collieries in Olyphant and Carbondale.

Nothing would be said by any one at strikers headquarters concerning the visit of the national and district presidents to Philadelphia. It was even denied they were in Philadelphia until the press dispatch came with an account of the movements in the city of Brotherly Love.

Mr. Loomis met a number of old Delaware, Lackawanna and Western miners in the mining engineers' office at the Lackawanna station, yesterday afternoon. "It's just what a heart-to-heart talk, that's all," said Mr. Loomis, when asked what had taken place at the meeting. "There were some old-time employees of the company who wanted to see me, and whom I wanted to see. We talked over the situation as man to man. That's all I can say about the matter."

At a meeting of the ways and means committee of the North Scranton strikers held in St. Mary's hall, West Market street, on Monday, Sept. 29, 1902, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, By the several locals of the North End, of which this ways and means committee is the representative, that those now working and wishing to return to the United Mine Workers, may do so for some of the ways and means committee and coming back to their different locals. They are guaranteed they will be taken care of. By order of the Ways and Means Committee.

CAVALRY TROOP HAS ARRIVED IN CAMP

The Sheridan troop, of Tyrone, Blair county, arrived in Olyphant at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, and is now encamped on the hillside overlooking the Thirteenth's locality.

The troop is composed of fifty-eight men and five officers, and all but three of the men are on hand. The call came at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. It was necessary to send couriers sixteen miles for some of the men, but despite this fact, the troop with its horses was ready to leave its armory at 8 o'clock, and did leave at 10 o'clock. A car containing its tents and other camp equipment, from the state arsenal, was attached to the train at Sunbury.

Quartermaster Vandell, of the Thirteenth, had rations for the men, and feed and bedding for the horses, all ready when the troop arrived, and besides, had partly laid out the camp site for it. The troopers went at once at the work of fixing up their camp and before daylight everything was in ship-shape fashion.

The troop is commanded by Captain C. S. W. Jones, who was a captain of cavalry in the Civil war and a major in command of a squadron under General Miles in Porto Rico, during the Spanish-American war. The other officers are: First Lieutenant L. F. Crawford, Second Lieutenant H. S. Fleck, Assistant Surgeon J. L. Brubaker, Quartermaster R. A. Zeutmeyer.

The troop was organized in 1871 and is the oldest cavalry organization in the state. It served in the 1877 strike, the Homestead strike in 1892, the Jefferson county riots in 1894 and the Spanish-American war. More than half the men now in the troop served in the Porto Rico campaign. They are a sturdy-looking lot, mostly farmers' sons, and every one of them is an expert horseman.

EIGHT REGIMENT HAS A QUIET DAY. An uneventful day was passed yesterday by the two battalions of the Eighth regiment, which have gone into camp at the extreme lower end of Lackawanna county, between Lackawanna and Duryea. No disturbances of any kind were reported in the neighborhood of the camp and no details were sent out.

The Third battalion of the regiment, comprising Company I, of Harrisburg; Company C, of Chambersburg, and Company G, of Carlisle, which was left behind at Shenandoah, is expected to arrive either today or tomorrow. It will be replaced at Shenandoah, it is understood, by a battalion from the Twelfth regiment.

In expectation of its coming, a detail of men was at work, yesterday afternoon, constructing board floors for the tents which will be sent on ahead, in charge of an advance detail.

The presence of the Eighth regiment near Duryea has had the effect of quieting things down remarkably in that locality. The camp is surrounded at all times by a curious crowd of on-lookers, but there is no jeering or hooting at the soldiers, such as has manifested itself at other places.

SOLDIERS PAID. The members of the eight companies in camp were paid yesterday afternoon for the month ending last Saturday. Each company was lined up in the company streets and the roll called, under the supervision of the battalion majors. Extra precautions will be taken to prevent any of the men from celebrating pay day. As it is, the very strictest discipline prevails and no one is permitted to leave camp except on a pass issued by the colonel.

The Eighth regiment camp is an ideal one in many respects. The location could not be finer. The site chosen is about midway between the Lackawanna and Duryea Lackawanna railroad stations on the top of a high bank, which runs up from the railroad tracks.

The camp ground slopes gradually from the edge of this embankment, affording almost perfect drainage. The ground was almost entirely dry yesterday afternoon, though the sun was out for only a part of the day. The two hundred and more tents comprising the camp are set up with uniform regularity and the casual observer would fancy, looking at the neatness of things, that the regiment had been in camp for weeks, instead of only three days.

During the present week, if there is no disorder requiring their attention, the soldiers will be put through a series of company and battalion drills on the field to the east of the camp-ground.

Among those in the crowd surrounding the camp yesterday afternoon was National Organizer Memelo, of the United Mine Workers of America. He gathered a large crowd of strikers about him and exhorted them to treat the troops with every courtesy and refrain from disorder and breaches of the peace.

Captain J. B. Fisher, of Company D, was surprised at camp on Saturday night last by the presentation of a beautiful sword, the gift of the members of his command. The presentation speech was made by Colonel Hoffman.

Surgeon Peters says the health of the men is splendid, and but one sick case has been reported since arriving here.

Colonel Hoffman's headquarters, which are located on the brow of the hill overlooking the river, have been connected with the new telephone and the long distance phone will be put in this week, so the regiment will be in easy communication.

All the necessary canvas for officers' tents did not arrive with the special car on Thursday and the colonel telephoned to Harrisburg to have it shipped on. It is expected within a day or two.

RECENT OUTBREAKS HERE AND NEARBY

David J. Thomas, a fireman employed by the Hillside Coal and Iron company, at Forest City, living one and a half miles out of town, was ambushed by about twenty-five strikers and shot at while on his way home from work on Saturday evening. His horse was shot in the eye and body and will die. Mr. Thomas was not hurt and fired three shots at his assailants, which had the effect of frightening them away. Yesterday he moved his family into town and is still at work.

David Owens, son of Mine Superintendent W. D. Owens of the Exeter colliery, has been subjected to much abuse by strikers. Owens lives on River street, Sturteville, and has been working at the Exeter colliery. A few nights ago, while he was at work and only his wife and family at home, his residence was the target of a fusillade of stones and many of the windows were broken. His goods were removed from the place to a house on Delaware avenue, West Pittston, and prepared to cart his household goods thither, yesterday. A crowd of strikers gathered in the vicinity, however, and made things decidedly unpleasant by their interference. The goods were finally moved, under the protection of a force of coal and iron policemen.

The situation in Exeter is acute, and it is feared there will yet be very serious disturbances. A majority of the population is of the foreign element and shows a very unruly and restless disposition. Officials of the Valley company have received information that last Tuesday's affair was thoroughly premeditated and that a meeting of the foreigners was held yesterday and a decision reached to make a raid on the stockade fence with axes and wreck it.

ACTRESS' BODY HELD. Pending the Arrival of Friends from Richmond, Va.

The remains of Marie Beach, the actress, who committed suicide at the Conway house early Sunday morning, were to have been interred in the Cambria cemetery yesterday morning, but a telegram was received from Marcus E. Murray, of No. 10 North Fourth street, Richmond, Va., requesting that the body be held until his arrival. Coroner Saitry ordered the remains held until the relatives of the dead woman are heard from, and they have been deposited in a vault. Edward McGowan, with whom the woman quarrelled and lived with as his wife, left for Philadelphia on Sunday with the "Devil's Daughter" company. Before going, however, he arranged for the burial expenses.
