HURLED SIXTY-FIVE FEET TO HER DEATH

Mary Tricol Struck by a Train On Bridge Near Nay Aug-Her Companion Injured.

Two Arabian women, Mary Zider and Mary Tricol, were crossing the Erie's high railroad bridge over the Roaring brook just above Nay Aug early last night when they were struck by a wildcat engine. The former was knocked to one side of the tracks and badly hurled to her death below.

The women were peddlers and had eturning to their homes on street in this city and had almost crossed the bridge when the locomotive came upon them. The engineer saw them too late and made an ineffective effort to stop the train.

The Tricol woman was struck : giancing blow and fell on the up track. The Tricol woman was tossed in the air and her body fell, a bruised and formless mass, on the rocks sixty-five feet below. It was removed to Undertaker Letchworth's establishment where it will be viewed this morning by Coro-

The Zider woman was removed to the Lackawanna hospital where she was found to have sustained serious bruises about the back.

MANY COMMITTEES MET.

Number of Councilmanic Bodies Transacted Business.

The finance committee of the common council met last night and decided to report favorably upon the ordinance providing for the issue of $100,-000 worth of bonds for the purpose of paying off all outstanding judgments against the city. Action on the other bond ordinance, which provides for the issue of $328,000 worth of bonds for various municipal improvements, was deferred until a later date. There is every reason to believe that this ordinance will be very much amended in its journey through councils. The special committee of councils, to which the resolution directing the Scranton Railway company to furnish ransfers from the Bellevue line to the South Side line and vice versa was recommitted, also met and decided to redetailed opinion, giving his reasons for contending that the city cannot hope to compel the company to issue transfers between these two lines. d to report favorably upon the ordinance providing for a system of rules The Central Woman's Christian Temper, and regulations for the government of since union will meet this afternoon at 3 the city parks. This ordinance was introduced in common council four months ago. The auditing committee met and approved of all bids presented for consideration. Still a fifth committee, the judiciary of select council, was to have met, but no quorum was present.

An attempt to blow up the dwelling house at 921 Kellerman court at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, occupied by Max Lazzar and family, was brought to light at a hearing before Alderman Ruddy yesterday afternoon.

Lazzar is employed at the Dodge nine, and continued at work in order to support his family. Several attempts have been made to wreck his home, and it has been necessary to have some one on guard at night to insure safety for the occupants.

Altogether, Piz-inofski is under $1,800 bail, and one of his cases is scheduled in court this week, and another at the next term of court. Colonel Watres came to Scranton, yesterday, and while here had interviews with a number of attorneys concerning the powers of the militia in the matter of anticipating trouble. The colonel is satisfied that at the Ridge, Sterrick Creek, Grassy Island and some other places there are men of anarchical tendencies who incite others to breaches of the peace and in one instance that there is drilling going on among foreign strikers. The colonel does not believe it is necessary for him and his men to wait for a demonstration of lawlessness on the part of these people before taking steps against them, and proposes if the law is on his side to do some preventative work.

THEY ARE NOT DREAMS.

That some of the reports along this line which come to Colonel Watres are not idle dreams was proven Sunday when he sent Major Robling and two companies of soldiers to search the house of Guisseppi Paprillo at the Ridge. It was reported to the colonel that foreigners at the Ridge were drilling daily; that every man in that region owned a shot gun and that a large consignment of ammunition had been went to work it would mean a breaking received by Paprillo. DATE FOR THE WEDDING FIXED

MRS. ULMER AND FRED SMITH NAME OCT. 15.

They Left Yesterday Afternoon for Easton Where Smith Will Be the Guest of Mrs. Ulmer for a Week to Give Him an Opportunity to Familarize Himself with Her Surroundings and Worldly Affairs, Denies All Knowledge of Bartender Ulmer Who Was Interviewed.

The romance attached to the brief courtship of Mrs. A. J. Ulmer of Easton, and Fred Smith, of this city, still goes on uninterruptedly notwithstanding the printed reports about her alleged bartender-husband, and unless some thing happens to dash Smith's hopes to the ground, he hopes to be united it marriage to Mrs. Ulmer at Easton at o'clock on Wednesday evening, Oct

In conversation with a Tribune mayesterday afternoon, Mrs. Ulmer reiterited the statement that she is the widow of A. J. Ulmer, whom she married when she was but a school girl and he was well advanced in years, At his death she says she inherited a large fortune.

Her plane and organ factory, she says, is located at Odemillertown, about mile from Easton, and is managed by William Allen, and sixty-eight people are employed there. She gave her place of residence as 471 Northampton street. Easton. She says she is a business woman, and does not know the man who claims to be her husband.

SHE LEFT HER PURSE. Mrs. Smith and her prospective husband arranged to leave the city at 2.18 o'clock yesterday afternoon over the Delaware and Hudson road, but when they reached the station she discovered that she had either lost or left her purse, containing $25, at the Smith home in Petersburg. They got the purse and returned in time to take the 4.35 train for Wilkes-Barre and catch the Black Diamond express for Easton, arriving there at 8 o'clock last evening. Mrs. Ulmer intends to have Mr. Smith spend the next week at Easton as her guest, and investigate for himself and learn that everything is just as she has represented it to him.

She has met his relatives and inquired about his standing in this community and is entirely satisfied with him. She does not want him to marry her until he has satisfied himself that she is free to marry whom she pleases and is in possession of the piano factory and the fortune. Mrs. Ulmer attributes all the notorlety she has received in this city to a man named Charles Stimson, to whom she gave "the marble heart," as she put it, the day she met Smith. She asserts that he then swore to "get even" with her and cause her all the trouble he could. She admitted that everything printed in the Tribune about her was correct. Regarding the man in Easton who claims to be her husband, Mrs. Ulmer thinks it is some bartender who read the story of her engagement to Smith and sought to obtain notorlety by publishing the statements printed in the Easton Free Press. She threatens to prosecute the man and bring suit inst the paper for defamation character.

DATE OF WEDDING Both Smith and Mrs. Ulmer admitted their engagement to The Tribune man and said the wedding will take place on the evening of October 15. It is their intention to return to Scranton after the wedding for a few days, and will probably postpone their trip to Europe until spring, owing to the lateness of the season, Smith has invited a number of his relatives and friends to attend the wedding and Mrs. Ulmer has assured all who attend a cordial reception and good time, The couple seem very much attached to each other, and take the notoriety they have received in good part. Mrs. Ulmer is a rather good looking woman, a stylish dresser and a good conversationalist. She says she is 29 years old, and Smith is three years younger. She was rather disinclined to talk about her wealth, but said, "I I did not have money, you don't suppose I could travel around the way have." The published story about Mrs. Ulmer having a husband in Easton rather upset Smith and for a time he said he did not know where he was at, but her messages and telegrams reassured him and her presence here luring the past three days restored his faith in her.

A DARING RESCUE.

Brakeman John Smith Snatches a

Child from Death. Who does not remember reading in the fifth reader at school about the brave trainman who clambered out on the pilot of a fastly moving locomotive and snatched a little, fair-haired girl from certain death? It was thrilling but it didn't sound true and yet precisely a similar thing was done yesterday morning by Brakeman John Smith, of the Ontario and Western railroad.

Smith was in the cab of the engine which was drawing a train at high speed into Olyphant yesterday morning, and he saw near the station a little girl upon the track only a few hundred feet ahead. He called the attention of the engi-teer, who applied the brakes, but there was no chance of stopping the train ized this in an instant, and the next he was swinging out along the footboard and onto the front of the snorting steel horse.

He lay down, and stretching out his arms caught the bair of the little girl as the engine reached her, and lifting her into the air dropped her to one the act were loud in their praise of the plucky and quick-witted brakeman.
