FINNEGAN FELL TO HIS DEATH FATAL ACCIDENT IN HICKORY STREET CHURCH. Edward Finnegan and Morris Van Horn, Painters, Fell from a Scaffold, on Which They Were Working, and Finnegan Died Soon Afterwards-At a Late Hour Last Night, It Was Stated at the Hospital That Van Horn Is in a Very Critical Condition. Edward Finnegan, of 618 Dix court, was killed and Morris Van Horn, of 325 Olive street, had his skull fractured yesterday afternoon by a fall from a scaffold in the Hickory Street Presbyterian church. The two men were painters, and were engaged in painting the ceiling of the church. They were standing, at the time of the accident, on a portable scaffold, which they had placed on top of the regular scaffolding. A weak plank gave way, and the two men fell crashing to the floor, a distance of about fifty feet. Both struck on their heads and sustained fractures at the base of their skulls. Van Horn was rendered unconscious, but Finnegan retained his senses and the last sacrament was administered to him by Rev. Peter Christ before the Lackawanna Hospital ambulance arrived. Finnegan died shortly after his arrival at the hospital. His body was viewed by Coroner Salter, who will probably conduct an inquest. Van Horn was still alive at midnight, but his condition was reported to be most serious. While the church was being erected, one of the workmen, Edward Stinebach fell from a scaffold, striking within a few feet of where yesterday's accident occurred.

ABOUT L. B. STILLWELL. Harper's Weekly Labels Him as an American of Tomorrow. This week's number of Harper's Weekly contains a full-page picture of Lewis B. Stillwell, a former resident of this city. It being one of a series of portraits entitled "Americans of Tomorrow." Mr. Stillwell is a son of Captain Richard Stillwell, of Jefferson avenue, and a brother of Lieutenant Colonel F. W. Stillwell, of the Thirteenth regiment. He is recognized as one of the greatest electrical experts in the country. The notice accompanying the picture is as follows: "Only two electricians have been honored as the recipients of the Niagara medal-Lord Kelvin and Lewis Buckley Stillwell. The fame of the former is world-wide; the latter is the young American whose portrait appears in our series this week. He began his serious study at Middletown, in the ingenuity-breeding state of Connecticut, and continued in the Westinghouse shops till he became chief electrical engineer and assistant manager. He made the plans and supervised the construction of a great plant at Niagara, and now has charge of the electrical work of both the Elevated and Subway companies in this city. He prefers application to invention, and on that line bids fair to play a very important part in the electrical development which is so striking a feature of recent industrial progress. He is a Pennsylvanian, and is 39 years old."

Charles W. Dorsey. Ten contestants scored points yesterday in The Tribune's Educational Contest. They were: Oscar H. Kipp, 25; Henry E. Collins, 19; Herbert Thompson, 12; Fred Kibler, 6; A. J. Kellerman, 6; Charles W. Dorsey, 4; J. A. Havenstrite, 3; Miss Edna Coleman, 3; John Mackie, 1; Maxwell Shepherd, 1. A number of changes resulted. Oscar Kipp won back fourth place from William H. Sherwood, which the latter took from Mr. Kipp on Tuesday, the Elmhurst young man now being but 23 points away from third place. Fred Kibler passed Don C. Capwell and is now tied with Miss Mathewson for nineteenth place. Miss Edna Coleman passed Walter Hallstead and is in twenty-fifth place. Henry E. Collins passed Louis McCusker, Harry Danvers, Arthur J. Thayer, Eddie Morris, Hugh Johnston, Miss Mary Yeager, Grant M. Decker, John Mackie and is now tied with Elmer Williams for twenty-eighth place. John Mackie passed Eddie Morris and for a brief time yesterday was considered to be in the main table, but Henry Collins' large return kept him down to thirty-fourth place, one point below Hugh Johnston, who is now at the bottom of the list. There are a number whose names are not in the list of the thirty-three leaders who lack but a few points of getting there. It is altogether probable that the lower portion of the table will be materially altered before the beginning of next week. Charles W. Dorsey, whose picture appears today, enrolled in the Contest on April 28, being the thirty-seventh to do so. He brought in his first return on May 6. At first Mr. Dorsey found it very slow work, it being nearly 180 months before he could score more than one point a day; but he stuck at his task with praiseworthy perseverance and has scored points on more different days than almost any other contestant. Although he is now tenth, two-thirds of his points have been made in the last two months and he may finish better than his present position.
