NEITHER SIDE SCORED.

Saturday's Game of Foot Ball Between the Harry Hillman Academy and the High School.

The Harry Hillman Academy foot ball team of Wilkes-Barre journeyed to Scranton and played the Scranton high school warriors at Athletic park Saturday afternoon. The gridiron was two inches under water and the heavy rain not only made it almost impossible for the players to handle the pigskin, but also made it very uncomfortable for the few heroic people that ventured out. Neither side scored.

Harry Hillman won the toss and kicked off to the high school. Bower caught the ball and advanced it ten yards before being tackled. After repeatedly trying to bring the ball down Hillman's line, high school was forced to kick, the ball went out of bounds and Thayer dropped on it. Owing to the slippery condition of the pigskin each side was prone to fumble very often.

High school could do nothing against Harry Hillman's defense, and every time they got the ball they were forced to kick, while on the other hand the Wilkes-Barre boys by their guards back formation plowed big holes in high school's line.

During the stage of the game the local team rallied and managed to force the boys from down the valley to kick. Edwards got the ball but time was called before he could advance it.

Things were different in the second half for high school was on the aggressive during nearly all of the time. Pretty line bucking and spectacular end running by Stone and evl brought the ball down to within five yards of Harry Hillman's goal and owing to poor head work on high school's part they were unable to gain the required yard that was needed to win the game. Hillman kicked the ball out of danger and again the home team tried to gain the inside of their opponents' goal and so they hurled one man after another into Hillman's line without success.

Harry Hillman have a sturdy lot of youngsters playing with them this year and before the season is over they will make some of the stronger and heavier teams work hard for what they get and not only that but every man in the team is a gentleman and plays nice clean foot ball. The best playing was probably done by Francis, Harry Hillman, and Edwards and Levi, of high school. The line-up follows:

Capacity of the She Bear. A man who was called on to address a Sunday school in a Pennsylvania town took the former theme and the children who mocked Elijah on his journey to Bethel—how the youngsters taunted the old prophet, and how they were punished when two she bears came out of the wood and ate forty-two of them.

PREPARING TO START MINES

D. L. & W. WILL RESUME AT BELLEVUE TODAY.

Green Ridge Coal Company Hopes to Begin Work at Its Colliery Tomorrow or Next Day—Disorder Hereabouts Is Now Almost Totally Wanting—Camps of the Regiments Visited Yesterday by Great Throngs—Death of Col. Hoffman Casts a Gloom Over the Eighth.

This is the beginning of a week which it is generally believed will put to rest the claim of the operators that they will be enabled to start up their collieries if given protection and the counter claim of the United Mine Workers' organization, as expressed in Wednesday's resolutions that the strikers will not return to work without concessions, even though the entire military force of the United States was here to protect them.

GRARD-HOUSE AND STØCKADE AT CAMP WYCKOFF.

With a determination to prove their claim, the operators have been, for the past week, making a supreme effort to secure men. That they have succeeded to some extent is evidenced by announcements to the Forest Hill cemetery. That various collieries will resume operations in the course of a few days. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company will make a start, this morning, at the Bellevue. The Green Ridge Coal company will open up the Green Ridge colliery probably tomorrow or the next day, but, assuredly, some day they are figuring on a resumption at certain collieries, but decline to give their location. Claim their regular patrol duty, they are also made on the operators' side that the throng at the collieries already working are to be largely increased during the week.

The United Mine Workers' leaders continue to assert that the military can do nothing towards inducing men to return to work, and that all the men who could be induced to go back to work without concessions are already back.

Strike disorder is now almost wholly wanting. During the past two days the soldiers have had nothing to do further than their regular patrol duty, not a single call having come to any of the three regiments in this county to deal with disorder or threatened disorder.

Each of the camps had large crowds of visitors, yesterday. It was the first fair Sunday since the Thirtieth went into camp and fully three thousand took advantage of Colonel Warren's order allowing visitors within the lines from noon until 4 o'clock. The dress parade at 4:30 was viewed by an immense throng. It was made especially interesting by the participation of the Governor's troop. At 2 o'clock there was a concert by the band in front of headquarters.

The death of Colonel Hoffman cast a gloom over the Eighth's camp, and no attempt was made at a "show" for the benefit of the visitors. The dress parade at 5 o'clock was given but the usual band concert was omitted.

Nothing has been learned as yet as to how the collieries will be filled but the likelihood is that Lieutenant Colonel Hutchinson will be promoted to the vacant post. A small detail from the regiment will accompany the body of Colonel Hoffman to Pottsville, this morning. It was not known yesterday whether or not the regiment will be able to attend the funeral.

The Twelfth regiment kept "open house" for visitors yesterday and entertained them with a dress parade at 5 o'clock and band concert at 7 o'clock. On Saturday the Twelfth unfurled a new flag from a pole in front of headquarters with the customary ceremonies.

SEA FLOWERS AS PETS.

The Queer Little Creatures Known as Anemones.

From ANSWERS. The queerest pets in the world are kept in a beautiful row of clear, flashing, round glass tanks on an upper floor of a large aquarium. As you approach the tanks you behold glowing little groups of color and artistic blending and mingling of fantastic weeds and shining stones. Then when you peer into the tanks you see what at first seem to you just like particularly hard, some and gorgeous flowers growing all over the little rockeries. Some of the flowers look like dainty pink and white and yellow and purple and crimson daisies. Others look almost like daisies with lace-like petals. Others look like little star flowers, all pure white and perfect. These flowers are of all sizes, from tiny ones barely large enough to see to great ones almost large enough to fill a saucer.

But if you will watch these "flowers" for a few minutes you will jump suddenly, for all at once you will see one move its petals. Then you will see another and another do it. Slowly the petals unfold and contract, with little jerking movements, sometimes twining in the water like snakes. Tap smartly on the table on which the tanks stand, and like lightning all the petals will have disappeared. These sea flowers are really not flowers at all.

They are living creatures, known as sea anemones. For many years Prof. Spencer has tended and fed them, and the little animated flowers actually have come to know him. When he feeds them he puts a little bit of fish on the end of a long-pointed stick and puts it carefully down into the water until it is near the anemone. It did not take long for the beautiful things to understand it, and whereas at first they used to withdraw their petals and shut up tightly when the stick approached, now they twine gracefully and stretch their dainty arms out as far as they can go in order to reach it.

HIS CONDITION SERIOUS.

William R. James, Formerly of West Scranton, Lived to End His Life at Washington, D. C.

The following telegram was received in this city on Saturday, telling of the attempted suicide of William R. James, a son of ex-Policeman William L. James, of South Main avenue:

Washington, Oct. 12.—William R. James, aged 23, of Scranton, Pa., an employe in the United States mail bag repair shop, attempted suicide this morning by shooting himself in the right temple at his home, 1011 Seventh street, Southeast. He was taken to Precideno hospital, where his condition is pronounced serious.

No motive for the deed is known, and when his family heard from him about a week ago he seemed to be happy, contented and anticipated a bright future. He was 23 years of age, and had a good position in the United States mail bag repair shop. He attempted to end his life by putting a bullet through his right temple. He was taken to the Providence hospital.

Lewis James, who went to Washington immediately upon receipt of the telegram telling of the attempted suicide of his brother, W. R. James, notified his parents yesterday that his brother was slowly gaining and the doctors entertained hopes of his ultimate recovery.

He has a father and two brothers, Lewis and Garfield, living in this city, on South Main avenue. Before going to Washington Mr. James worked in Williams' cash store at the corner of South Main avenue and Eynon street, where he was thought much of by his employers.

ALCOHOL AS A FOOD.

"We see in the papers," said he, "the advertisement of certain manufacturers of liquors who quote Prof. Atwater as saying that alcohol is food, and who thus seek to make capital for themselves out of his researches. Prof. Atwater was one of my teachers at college, and is today a warm personal friend of mine. I resent the subtle insinuation that he approves of the use of alcohol, because I know that he does not such thing.

Mr. Bower explained at length the professor's experiments with a man in a cabinet whose food was carefully weighed as well as all things thrown off from the body for the purpose of discovering the relative nutritive value of various foods. He discovered that alcohol taken in small quantities at intervals far apart was assimilated by the body. It was assimilated, however, in quite another way than ordinary food, in that it was turned into heat.

"Heat," said Mr. Bower, "is not food, and alcohol has no function of food."

He said that no man more than the business man is interested in the individuals forming a community. No man more than the business man is desirous that these individuals shall be strong, healthy, happy and contented, which they cannot be if they persist in the use of intoxicants.

MATTER OF BUSINESS.

"As a man I may be sorry for an employe's wife if he gets drunk after pay day and don't show up at the works, and I may think of his family, but as a business man entrusted with the care of a large and costly plant, and being responsible for the safe management of it, I must tell that man that his services are no longer required. It becomes a purely business proposition, and sentiment and sympathy have got to be put to one side. I believe firmly that the time is coming in this country when the possible employment for the man who drinks will be in the poorest shops, where they do the poorest work, and where they pay the poorest wages."

He discussed at length the great extra expense which falls upon the sober man because of the sin of his intemperate brother—the expense of maintaining almshouses, prisons, etc. The sober man indirectly supports the drunken man's wife and family, and he hoped the time will soon come when the great industrial masses of this nation will rise up and say that such things shall or shall not be "because we vote for them."

"I thank God," said he in conclusion, "that we have in our midst an organization such as you represent, an organization with a purpose almost divine, and I hope to see you continue steadfast in your efforts to uplift humanity."

MR. GRANT'S ADDRESS.

John W. Grant, of Carbondale, made a brief address on the total abstinence movement from a general viewpoint, and then Rev. J. J. Griffin was called upon. Father Griffin spoke briefly, urging upon the delegates present the necessity of taking a more earnest interest in the welfare of the cadet societies. If the cadet societies are not kept in a flourishing condition, he said, there is every reason to believe that the total abstinence cause may suffer great losses.

He declared that the total abstinence movement will never be the success it should be until something more attractive than the saloon is offered to the young men; until the rooms of the societies offer attractions that will offset those of the frog shop.

Other brief addresses were made by Rev. J. V. Moylan, of North Scranton, and by John McDonald, of Forest City. The latter pleaded for co-operation between Protestant and Catholic temperance organizations, and welcomed the presence of Mr. Bower as a representative Protestant worker for the promotion of total abstinence.

ENTERTAINMENT BUREAU.

On recommendation of the board of governors it was decided to create an entertainment bureau for the furnishing of talent for temperance rallies. The president of each society in the district will assist in the conduct of this bureau. Efforts were made to have the constitution so amended as to provide for an annual per capita tax of fifteen cents, instead of five cents, and to provide for a uniform constitution for each separate society, but they were defeated.

ADDRESS BY L. F. BOWER

DELIVERED AT QUARTERLY CONVENTION OF C. T. A. U.

Said That in All Lines of Business There Is Getting to Be More and More a Demand, Not Merely for Temperate Men, but for Men Who Do Not Drink at All—John W. Grant and Rev. J. J. Griffin Also Spoke—Latter Urged Much Attention Be Given Cadet Societies.

L. F. Bower, general superintendent of the Allis-Chalmers company's local plant, gave a common sense talk yesterday afternoon on the temperance question, as viewed from a business standpoint, at the quarterly convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence societies of the First district, held in St. Thomas' College hall.

Mr. Bower, who was introduced by District President J. C. Gallagher, expressed his intention of looking at intemperance from a purely business standpoint without regard to its ethical bearing or to the sorrow and suffering which it causes.

He explained that the basis of all society is the individual and that any government, church or society which does not seek to improve the condition of the individual will have to ultimately confess defeat. He was delighted to be able to talk to men who are earnestly striving to better the individual.

Mr. Bower asserted that in all the lines of industry there is getting to be more and more of a demand not merely for temperate men, but for men who do not drink at all, and who are thus able to persistently resist the subtle influence of drink. He made some most interesting references to Prof. Atwater's researches regarding the food value of alcohol.
