Rev. J. A. Humphreys Enters Upon His Duties as Pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church.

Rev. T. A. Humphreys, formerly of Sharon, Pa., the newly elected pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, entered upon his pastoral duties yesterday morning, and evening to crowded houses. Rev. Humphreys is a clear, forceful speaker and impresses his audience with the rich, edifying thought of his discourse.

"Paul's Great Message" was the subject of his morning sermon, while the "Divine and Human Side" was the thought from which he delivered a masterly sermon at the evening hour of worship. The church has been without a pastor for some time, and Rev. Mr. Humphreys enters upon his duties with the heartiest welcome from the church members.

Harvest Home and Rally.

The Harvest Home and rally services at the Epiphany Methodist Episcopal church yesterday all day were exceedingly well attended and very much appreciated. The church auditorium was beautifully decorated with autumnal palms and the richness of the fields. At the morning service the choir rendered very acceptable special anthems, and the pastor, Rev. James Boninger, preached a very fine sermon from the text, "Samuel's Call and What It Implies."

At the afternoon service a brief study of the lesson and a roll-call were first in order. Misses Jessie Saams, Edith Roberts and Bessie Diehl recited in a most pleasing manner. A duet by Misses Irene and Mary Parsons was also very acceptably rendered. Miss Jane Williams sang a solo in her usual pleasing manner, after which a brief address by J. J. Seeley was enjoyed.

The evening service was mainly composed of special music by the choir, which was rendered in a manner that showed careful training. The pastor made an address, telling of the laymen's convention and things said and done.

Simpson Rally Day.

The Sunday school of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church enjoyed its rally day exercises yesterday at the usual Sunday school hour. The services were opened by the singing of a hymn, followed by prayer by the assistant superintendent, Charles W. Lull. The Simpson quartette then sang a selection, as only that quartette can. This was followed by a brief address by the superintendent, George L. Peck. The primary department also took a

SOME REASONS.

Why Scranton People Should Follow This Valuable Advice.

Because the proof is in Scranton. Your can thus investigate the claims. When investigated, they will prove satisfactory.

It demonstrates that theory gives way before facts.

Mrs. C. J. Thomas, of 238 Chestnut street, says: "The pain in the small of my back went up into my head and caused fearful headaches. I was nearly always lame and stiff in the morning when I got up, and it was with difficulty that I could get around. It hurt me every time any muscles of my back were put in motion, like stooping or standing a long time. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and got them at Matthews Bros. drug store and gave them a faithful trial. I greatly improved and can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

WHAT WE OWE TO THE WIND.
It is Nature's Great Vitalizer and Energy Builder.
From the Philadelphia Press.

The relation of fresh air to vitality is demonstrated in a striking manner by the investigation of Professor Edwin Grant Dexter, of the University of Illinois. He has made a painstaking study of calms in the city of New York, or rather the effect of calms on the records of the public schools, the police courts and the penitentiary. The number of cases of calms considered and tabulated by him is 497,262, all to show the effect of wind, that is, the absence of any wind movement exceeding four miles an hour on the human organism.

He notes the unexpected fact that the absence from schools during calm weather was more than three times the average for all other kinds of weather, which of course includes the very cold, the very wet and the very windy weather, as well as the normal. It is in the calm weather that children are not feeling well, and it is then that the diseases peculiar to children are most prone to visit them. The criminal records show less assaults, disorder and violence during calms than at other times. There are more policemen laid off, more errors made by clerks in banks and a larger number of deaths when the air is still, or nearly so, than when it is in motion.

The conclusion of Professor Dexter is that during calms those life phenomena which are due to depleted vitality are excessive, while the phenomena due to excessive vitality are deficient. This is in harmony with ordinary and unexpected facts. The vitality of the body is oxygen. If that is deficient we are debilitated, less capable of both good and evil. A stagnant or slowly moving air in a large city is robbed of its oxygen and vitiated by the exhalations of thousands of men and animals. What a novel, yet prevalent, cause of unhealthiness is constantly moving in to take the place of the old. This is the condition most favorable to human attainment, as experience demonstrates, and Professor Dexter's investigations do strikingly verify.

While this inquiry does not establish a really new principle, it gives us a clearer appreciation of the value of wind as the earth's purifier and vitalizer. The beauty of calm, still nights had been sung by poets from time immemorial, but it is not accidental that such periods are also associated with death. Let the winds blow while we give thanks. Old Boreas and his various relatives have not received the credit that should be theirs, for though at times they bring with them cold and storm and destruction, they purify and purify the earth and give life and hope and energy to its people.

ATE THE RAILS.
Hungry Wolves Stopped Traffic on an Early Northwestern Railroad.
From the Buffalo Express.

About 1872 one of the first railroads of the northwest was built in the territory of Washington from Walla Walla to Wallula, along the banks of the Walla Walla river, and following the general line of what is now the Oregon Railway and Navigation company's road between those points. The road was a primitive affair, and was built, owned and operated by Dr. Baker, of Walla Walla. It had no Pullman cars, chairs or buffet cars, and the "dry" coaches were mostly platform or flat cars. Instead of having a right of way the road had permission to go through the fields of the farmers. Consequently the road was not a rapid transit one.
