THE programme for the Florence Mission benefit on Monday night is the most attractive amateur affair thus far projected this season.

The names of Mrs. John Reynolds and Mrs. J. Atticus Robertson are added to the list of patronesses.

The following is the revised programme: Soprano Solo and Chorus—"The Hunt's Up" (from "The Queen of Spades")

Miss Ethel Shoemaker, May Queen. (Any song intended to awaken even a love song, was formerly called "The Hunt's Up.")

Soprano Solo—"Grass and Roses" (Bartlett) Miss Henrietta Harris. (Violin Obligato, Mr. Widmayer.)

Soprano Solo—"Wiggenied" ("Cradle Song") Mozart (a) "The Swallows" (Coven) Miss Alice Burns.

Contralto Aria—"My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (from Opera, "Samson and Delilah") (Saint Saens) Miss Eleanor Reynolds.

Duet—"Gondoliers" (Henschel) Mrs. Beatty de Sole, Miss Williams.

Contralto Solo—"The Asra" (Rubinstein) (b) "Song of Thanksgiving" (Allstein) Soprano Solo—

(a) "Viola's" (Wright) (b) "The Woeing" (Sievking) Miss Elizabeth Bunnett.

Mezzo-Soprano Solo—"Protestations" (Norris) Miss Rose Dorothy Galien.

(Violin Obligato, Mr. Widmayer.) Trio—"I Lombardi" (Verdi) Misses Spencer and Garagan and Mr. E. H. Kingsbury.

Mezzo-Soprano Solo— (a) "Du bist wie eine Blume" (Cantor) (b) "When Love is Kind" (A. L. M.) Mrs. T. C. Von Storch.

Baritone Solo—"Dedication" (Schumann) (a) "Serenade" (Strauss) Mr. Ralph Dwight Williams.

Contralto Solo—"O Lord Correct Me" (Handel) Miss Lida Garagan.

Soprano Solo—"Flower Song" (Yrom opera, "Faust") Gounod Miss Ethel Shoemaker.

Chorus—"O Best Redeemer" (by request) (b) "The Danza" (Chadwick) Mrs. Clara Simson-Brady.

Mezzo-Soprano Solo—"Ave Maria" (Bach-Gounod) Miss Grace E. Spencer.

Violin and Cello Obligato. The Dixie theatre has had a very interesting bill this week, but Mr. Sisson has been in New York arranging for some of the greatest performers on the vaudeville stage, for next week.

The popularity of the pretty theatre increases. Firm as the star that marketh out the course The watchful mariner his ship doth take; Bright as the sun that daily doth disclose His healing rays to bid the world awake; Sweetly majestic like the flood-gate moon That sweeps the sky with gorgeous raiment; Softly refreshing like the rose of June That graced the earth old where it grew; Thus doth thine image fill my eager sight, And Nature revels in its pure delight.

The above lines to a well-known magazine, from the pen of Louis Mann, were sent in response to a request for a contribution, and have a depth of meaning that would not, probably, be understood without a word of explanation. Mr. Mann's wife, known professionally as Miss Clara Lipman, broke her collar-bone while on her way to Europe. It was set on the steamer, and every indication pointed to a speedy recovery. Weeks passed and it did not trouble her. While at Atlantic City, however, she experienced great pain, and it was thought advisable to go to Philadelphia to consult a specialist. He informed her that it had not been properly set, and that he would be obliged to re-dislocate it, and to perform the operation of re-setting again. She consented. It was successfully performed, and accompanied by Mr. Mann, she returned to Atlantic City. While Miss Lipman was yet in the throes of pain, Mr. Mann, who had previously delayed rehearsal for his new play, "Hoeh, the Consul," was finally obliged to leave her. It was much against his will, and the added anxiety for his play left him in anything but a happy mood. He received the request for the article, Miss Lipman was in his mind, and he thought that the least that he might do, should be something as a tribute to her. The above is his offering. Louis Mann will present "Hoeh, the Consul," at the Lyceum, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sprague announce the engagement of their daughter, Gertrude Haskell, to Mr. Nelson Randall Osborne, of Buffalo.

The engagement of Charles Forsey Shaw and Miss Eva Price, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., has recently been announced. It may be recalled that a year ago, while spending his vacation in Montrose, Mr. Shaw was stricken with typhoid fever. The unusual severity of the attack attracted considerable attention in Scranton medical circles at the time. The announcement of the engagement has been delayed until recently, on account of Mr. Shaw's slow convalescence.

Judge and Mrs. R. W. Archibald, Rev. Dr. C. M. Gillin, Miss Archibald, Mrs. F. W. Feltz and a party of ladies were among those who occupied boxes last night at the political meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Watkins left for Washington on Thursday. They had expected to go to New Mexico next week to spend a month, but owing to Mr. Watkins' acceptance of the presidential appointment, was obliged to defer their trip for the fourth time during the past few months.

Miss Elizabeth Winton gave a pretty luncheon on Wednesday, when the City, however, Mrs. G. D. Murray, Mrs. Albert Watson, Mrs. John Galpin, Mrs. Everett Tolles, Mrs. H. H. Brady, Miss Anne Watson, Miss Galpin, Miss Eleanor Reynolds, Miss Alice Matthews, Miss Linsen, Miss Albright, Miss Bennell, Miss Brooks, of Edinburg, Miss Helen Sanderson, Miss Helen Hand, Miss Kate Nettleton, Miss Boies, Miss Anne Hand.

The many friends of Miss Stella Seymour will be interested in knowing that she has taken up her residence permanently in New York, having a pleasant home and studio at 411 Manhattan avenue. Miss Seymour will not relinquish her musical life, in any sense, but will continue to employ her great musical gifts with the results of the vast advantages she has enjoyed, in a certain amount of teaching, for which she has a singular ability. It is possible that Miss Seymour will be persuaded to take a small class of advanced pupils in this city, her old home, making the journey from New York at stated times.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richmond entertained at dinner on Tuesday night in honor of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Gates, the returned missionary. The other guests were Mrs. Thomas Dickson, Mrs. H. M. Boies, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Moon, of Peckville; Rev. Dr. S. C. Logan, Judge and Mrs. Alfred Hand, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Lansing, Rev. Dr. Jessup, of Syria; Miss Hand, Miss Charlotte Hand.

MEN'S OVERCOATS. Never has there been a season when we felt the strength of our position so strongly—our great buying capacity, the untold advantages of buying from only the best manufacturers, the quality of workmanship, and the great care that is taken with every little detail of each garment; all this emphasizes itself strikingly as we sum up our claim, that our Overcoats at $10, $12 and $15 are absolutely the best value in Scranton. There's nothing near that price that will touch them, either in quality of material or the grace and style that are in them. We want you to see these overcoats, try them on and we feel confident that you will admit they are a great value. You know you don't have to keep anything that is unsatisfactory. Bring it back..... M. J. HORAN & SON, 324 Lackawanna Avenue.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DOERSAM. Services Were Held at the Home on Penn Avenue. The funeral of Mrs. Philip Doersam was held at the family residence on Penn avenue yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Lying so peacefully and naturally as if only asleep, in the casket covered with beautiful flowers, it was hard to realize that the earthly life of this noble, quiet, Christian wife, mother and friend was ended. Rev. James McLeod, D. D., of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, D. D., of the Penn Avenue Baptist church, conducted the services. J. M. Chance had charge of the music, and a quartette composed of Mrs. Alfred Gutheinz, soprano; Miss Garagan, alto; Ralph Williams, tenor, and W. Roberts, bass, beautifully rendered "Nearer My God to Thee" and "My Shall Meet Beyond the River." Interment was in the Forest Hill cemetery.

ZINSKI WANTS HIS FREEDOM. Says He Is Not Guilty of the Winstan Murder. An application for a writ of habeas corpus was made by Attorney Benjamin Howell yesterday in behalf of Peter Zinski, who is in the county jail charged with having a hand in the murder of James Winstan, a non-union workman, near Olyphant, the latter part of September. He was arrested at Hoboken with Thomas Pastosh, Harry Shubah, Stephen Fruchko and Peter Kronski and taken back to this city. On Oct. 1 the men were given a hearing before Alderman B. Davis, alderman of the Fifth ward, and committed to the county jail on a charge of murder. Zinski claims that he is innocent of any participation in the killing. A.
