MENTION OF MEN OF HOUR. HENRY F. DIXIE IS AN OLD-TIME ACTOR. Was at One Time Numbered Among the Leading Comic Opera Comedians of the Country--Well-Merited Promotion of Alex Schriefer by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company--One Patrolman Who Can Get Along Without a Club.

Henry F. Dixie, lessee and manager of the Dixie theatre, probably needs no introduction to the majority of Tribune readers who are interested in theatrical events. Long before the opening of the new vaudeville theatre, on Adams avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Dixie were well known through their efforts in conducting successful amateur entertainments in Scranton and vicinity.

Mr. Dixie began his professional career in Boston and at one time was numbered among the leading comic opera comedians of the country, and has appeared in comedy in nearly all of the light operas that flourished in the palm days of Gilbert & Sullivan, Audran, and others.

There is one policeman on the Scranton police force who doesn't need to rely on his club for use in cases of emergency. That policeman is William Morgan, who lives in the locality of a promising ground for theatrical ventures has been attested by the project that has given the Electric city another handsome playhouse, and his many admirers are undoubtedly pleased at the success of the enterprise which has enabled theatre-goers to enjoy the best in vaudeville.

There were several fresh young bloods, a few weeks ago, who determined to take "a fall out of the new copper," as one of them expressed it. The time selected for this feat was a certain dark night, and the place a dark spot on South Main avenue, near the Round Woods. Patrolman Morgan happened along, and one of the gang, according to a pre-arranged plan, made an insulting remark, and the patrolman closed in on him. What was his surprise to see five other figures spring out from a shadow to the assistance of the offender.

The stick came at him at once, and though he swung his club, he found himself at too close quarters to use it effectively. He flung it down and started at the half dozen with his clenched fists. But one of the crowd was down and out from a right hander under the jaw. Smash! and a second was struck full on the nose and hurled his head on the ground. Crack! and a third got a left-hand jab in the solar plexus and doubled up on the turf.

The rest of the party, realizing discretion to be the better part of valor, hid themselves from the scene with much alacrity, leaving the plucky patrolman master of the situation. He felt that the other three fellows had got punishment enough, and so did not arrest them. One often sees pictures on the front pages of the "Old South" dime novels, a scene where the plucky detective is represented as knocking out three or four of the hired foot of Mammoth Montgomery, a tall handsome villain, but it's very seldom that an officer in real life really accomplishes the task of handling a half dozen men with his bare fists.

In the selection of Alex. Schriefer to succeed the late W. O. Wilson, as chief accountant of the Scranton division of the Lackawanna railroad, the management carried out the idea of promoting a worthy employe who has grown up in the service.

SCRANTON CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. J. ALFRED PENNINGTON, Director. Class and Private Instruction in Pianoforte. VISITORS WELCOME.

ARRESTED FOR THE QUINN MURDER. Two Men Alleged to Have Confessed Complicity in the Crime--Accuser Failed to Appear. The mysterious 'murder of Mary Quinn, which occurred in Keyser Valley on June 2, has again been brought to public notice through the actions of an insurance agent named George Hohman, who resides at 325 Larch street, this city.

From what can be learned of the circumstances, it seems that Hohman overheard a conversation between two men in a Lackawanna avenue bar-room, in which, he alleges, one of the men confessed complicity in the murder of the Quinn woman. This information was communicated to the police, who did not place much credence in Hohman's story. The informant then related the story to District Attorney Lewis, and County Detective Phillips, and all three went before Alderman Ruddy, where Hohman reiterated the story.

Warrants were issued for the two men in question, and a hearing was arranged for the following evening. The men suspected were present, but Hohman failed to appear against them, and they were discharged. Since then Hohman has not been seen and could not be located yesterday. The story he told seemed rather convincing, but the district attorney, who is innocent of the crime and officials do not attach much truth to the statement made by Hohman.

I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Matthews Bros. drug store and they entirely relieved the pain and regulated the secretions. I believe Doan's Kidney Pills are fully up to the representations, and I will reply to anyone questioning this statement and enclosing stamps, corroborating it in every detail."
