

PATTISON AND HIS CAMPAIGN PARTY

They Paid a Visit to This City Last Night and Delivered Addresses in Two Places.

RECEPTION WAS NOT VERY ENTHUSIASTIC

Party Proceeded from the Train to the Lyceum Theater, Where Addresses Were Delivered by the Former Governor, Candidate James Nolan, Hon. J. A. Stranahan and George Howell—Mr. Pattison Also Delivered an Address in St. David's Hall, West Scranton, Where a Small Crowd Had Gathered.

Hon. Robert E. Pattison and his party of campaigners were in this city last night and addressed a Democratic mass meeting at the Lyceum theater. Mr. Pattison also addressed a meeting in St. David's hall, West Scranton, last night, being driven there immediately after the close of his speech at the Lyceum.

The Pattison party spent the afternoon at Honesdale and Carbondale, and arrived in this city at 7.45. A party of local Democrats, headed by County Chairman John J. Fahy, met the visitors and escorted them to carriages. A procession was formed, headed by the Cumberland band, and the parade passed up Lackawanna to Wyoming and Wyoming to the Lyceum.

There was little enthusiasm at the station or along the line, traversed by the parade, and when the party appeared on the stage there was only the most perfunctory applause. It was a large audience that filled every seat in the house, but it was a decidedly cold one.

With Mr. Pattison were James Nolan, candidate for secretary of internal affairs, who lives in Berks county, and a contractor; Hon. James A. Stranahan, of Harrisburg; J. Washington Logue, of Philadelphia, and John S. Rilling, of Erie, chairman of the campaign committee. George W. Ghille, candidate for lieutenant governor, is not with the party, contrary to the announcements made. He left last Saturday and is spending this week speaking at his home in Allegheny county. On the platform with the above were most of the local Democratic candidates and a number of prominent Democrats.

Comegys Chairman.

The meeting was opened by County Chairman Fahy, who introduced Attorney Cornelius Comegys as chairman. The latter read a speech, in which he told Democrats of their duty in this campaign and stated a few internal affairs at things Republican. He concluded by introducing James Nolan as the first speaker. Mr. Nolan is a bluff, hearty individual, who confessed that he was more at home behind a stone wall than on the hustings. He entertained the audience with several stories that had pith and point and were well told.

"Outside of a desire to stand well in the estimation of the people and to be of some service to the people of this boss-ridden community, I care not whether I get a vote or not," was one of the things he said. He referred to Judge Pennypacker as a political Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde and said that Pennsylvania is literally honeycombed with corruption. The legislature is debauched, he declared, and the "gang" in Philadelphia stands ready at any election to give whatever majority the bosses may desire.

"The remedy for this is to turn the rascals out," he announced with emphasis. He prayed that the arm might be paralyzed that would deposit a fraudulent ballot. In concluding his speech he said: "If you elect me I will promise to give you a clean and honest administration. If you don't elect me you may go farther and fare worse."

Pattison's Address.

Former Governor Pattison, the next speaker, showed on his face the strain of long and arduous weeks of campaigning and was rather hoarse. He confined himself almost entirely to a general denunciation of the doings of the last legislature and of the present administration.

He began by discussing in a general way the rights of the individual American citizen which make him superior in power to the ruler of any land, his right to select his own rulers and his right to oppose or disapprove of their official acts not by the sword or the bayonet but by the ballot on election day. Americans too often loose sight of the great sovereign power that rests in them, he said, and he urged that as a candidate it was his duty to let the voters know just how he stood and just what he will do if elected.

"I have been twice honored by being chosen as the governor of this state," said he, "and if I am elected again I will do precisely the same things I did then. My record for those eight years is written on the pages of the history of this state. I could not change it if I would and I would not if I could. Before I assumed the office of governor I swore to uphold the constitution of this state and if during my term of office I had done otherwise than that I would have been false to my oath and disloyal to my fellow citizens. During the years that I was governor I voted no less than thirty-three per cent. of the legislation passed because I deemed it improper and wrong and if you again elect me as governor, I am free to affirm that I will again veto such legislation if it is unjust to me."

The last legislature, Mr. Pattison declared, has been universally conceded to have been the most debauched and degraded in the history of the state. Mr. Pattison ridiculed Judge Pennypacker's assertion that he had never heard of the public sale of a public franchise and he referred to several instances in which such sales have been effected. He took up at length Governor Stone's veto of a part of the public school appropriation and said that the Republican party has no right to boast of what it has done for the schools of the state. He pointed out that the equalization of state taxes for which the Republicans claim the honor and responsibility while he was serving as governor.

He declared that it was "ex-members of the penitentiary" hired by the state machine who deliberately disrupted the recent convention of the Union party in the city of Philadelphia and asserted it as his belief that this alleged outrage, committed within the shadow of Independence hall, was one of the most damnable things ever perpetrated in this country.

He read from speeches made by Congressman John Dalzell and former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith condemning Senator Quay and the Republican party in this state and declared that these utterances contrasted in a most remarkable way with the campaign speeches now being made by these same gentlemen.

"The only reasonable explanation of the flop-over of these gentlemen, it appears to me," said he, "is that the senator for United States senator from this state is fashioning a couple of very handsome gold helmets which he's planning to deliver after the campaign."

Strewn with wrecks.

The whole state, he declared, is strewn with the wrecks of men who have given their character and reputation to the machine and who have received naught in return. It is for the voters of this state to say whether they desire to be the subject slaves of the machine, he said, or to throw off the yoke and again be free to exercise and enjoy the rights guaranteed them by the constitution.

Former Deputy Attorney General J. A. Stranahan followed Mr. Pattison and made one of the best speeches of the night. He is a plain, matter-of-fact man, and made no attempt at rhetorical ornamentation. He declared that the Republicans in seeking to divert the attention of the voters of the state to national issues are seeking to divert them from a consideration of the evils of the state government. National matters are of no particular consequence at this time, he said, and state matters are of every consequence. He discussed at length some of the things accomplished by Mr. Pattison during his two terms as governor.

During these eight years, he said, a pure state government existed at Harrisburg and everything done was free from the taint of the lobby and free from corruption and bribery.

He asserted that Mr. Pattison should be recognized as the young man's candidate because the state machine has no use for him except as "rotting syzyphians." As alleged proof of this he referred to the defeat of John P. Elkin for the nomination for governor. Elkin, he said, made "a manly, earnest fight and should have made the nomination, but he failed."

Candidate Howell.

George Howell, the Anti-Machine candidate for congress, was the last speaker. He declared it to be his duty as a citizen to arise and assist in the fight for honest government and pure politics in this state. Local issues should not be ignored, he said, in favor of the Philippines question or some other remote question of purely national importance.

He then set his idea of what true Americanism stands for—"for men who will be as honest in public as in private life; for men who will deal honestly in politics as in business; for men whom the lust of office does not kill; for men who, when sun-crowned above the top, whose lives are devoted to public duty."

Mr. Howell said that it was improper for the Republicans to claim the credit for the settlement of the coal strike. Neither Democrats or Republicans could reasonably claim this credit. It belonged to the miners themselves and to John Mitchell, he said.

WEST SCRANTON MEETING

A rather small crowd attended the Democratic mass meeting held in St. David's hall last evening. The speakers were Attorney George Howell, candidate for congress, and Robert E. Pattison, candidate for governor. About 150 listened to the address of Mr. Howell, and towards the close of the meeting, upon the arrival of Mr. Pattison, about fifty more came in. Seated on the platform were: Mr. Pattison, John J. Fahy, Attorney George Howell, T. D. Hayes, former City Controller, Esdras Howell, Hon. John P. Quinnan, Colonel F. J. Fitzsimmons and B. B. Autrum.

Esdras Howell was chairman, and after a few remarks expressing his hopes for the coming election, he introduced Attorney George Howell. In part, he spoke as follows: "In this campaign, I believe we should talk less about party platform and more about the honesty and integrity of the men who are seeking office. I want it understood that I am not warring against capital, but against the misuse and abuse of money. It requires a million of dollars to put a presidential ticket in the field, and how long will it be before the presidential office is bought long before city officials will be put up at devil's auction and also sold to the highest bidder?"

coal carried, I ask that they be compelled to obey the law, and under a proper administration they will be. The man who lives on Easy street must obey the law the same as the man who lives on Fawcett street.

John M. Gunster was next introduced, and during his remarks said that Pennsylvania had swallowed a steel trust, a beef trust, a milk trust, and a coal trust, but next Tuesday the stomach of Penn. was going to unburden itself. At this juncture ex-Governor Pattison appeared and was greeted with cheers.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

One of the great meetings of the present campaign will be held at the Lyceum tonight. The speakers will be former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith and Hon. Stuart McKibbin, member of congress from Illinois. These are conceded two of the ablest political speakers in the country and Scranton is indeed fortunate in having an opportunity to hear them. Mr. McKibbin is making only three speeches in Pennsylvania.

The North End Glee club and the Lawrence band will furnish the musical part of the programme.

Three rousing Republican mass meetings were held in the county last night. The attendance was large and the enthusiasm unmistakable at each of them. At Jersey's speeches were made by W. Gaylord Thomas, T. H. Dale and John R. Farr, and at Peckville the orators were Hon. Jerry Snyder, of Allentown; H. S. Alworth and C. S. Oliver.

In the borough hall at Throon there was a crowd that tested its capacity to the utmost and listened with the closest attention to Dr. H. H. Harris, M. W. Lowry and R. A. Zimmerman, who discussed the merits of Republicanism and analyzed the qualifications of the men who are seeking the support of the voters of the county next Tuesday.

VICTORY FOR MRS. HENRY.

Supreme Court Sustains the Decision of Judge Kelly.

The opinion of the Supreme court in the case of Mrs. Mary Henry against Anna E. Zureff, administratrix of John Schaffer, was handed down here yesterday. The opinion was written by Justice Dean and sustains the opinion of Judge Kelly, refusing a new trial.

Schaffer was a merchant at Dunmore, and when he died in 1881 he left an estate valued at about $20,000. Joseph and Mary Henry were customers of his. They owned a house and lot at Dunmore, the value of which was variously estimated by witnesses at from $2,500 to $4,500. Henry was a man of bad habits, and encumbered the property. Schaffer gave credit to Mrs. Henry to the amount of $1,500, and the dwelling and lot was then conveyed to him, the consideration mentioned in the deed being $2,500.

Mrs. Henry alleged that this was not the real consideration, that it was understood between the parties that the debt of $1,500 was to be cancelled, that Schaffer was to pay some small bills owed by Henry and his wife, and that she was to receive in addition $4,000 in cash. This money was not paid, and she sued his administratrix to recover. The defense contended that the consideration was the amount named in the deed.

The jury found in favor of the plaintiff, and a new trial was asked, which Judge Kelly, the local judge, in an opinion, refused. Justice Dean, in closing his exhaustive opinion, said: "After a careful consideration of the evidence and law bearing upon it, we find no error that calls for a reversal, therefore the judgment is affirmed."

HIGH SCHOOL BEATEN.

Played an Exciting Game with the Eclipse Team.

The High School was defeated by the Eclipse football team at Athletic park yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 5. The Eclipse team played all around the High School, although much lighter in weight. In the first half the Eclipse hammered the High School on both sides, but lack of practice caused considerable fumbling. High School secured the ball and it was carried to the end and forth during the entire half. The half was finally ended 0-0. In the beginning of the second half the Eclipse rushed the ball up the field to High School's 5-yard line, then by a fumble lost it. High School kicked off, Edwards of the High School got the ball and ran fifty yards. He was tackled and the ball was secured by the Eclipse. It was given to Acker who ran the length of the field for a touchdown. Slattery kicked a pretty goal.

Eclipse kicked the ball off to High School, and on the next play a large crowd surrounding the lines Baur, of the High School got away from all tackles and interference for a touchdown. But despite an excellent chance he failed to kick the goal. The half ended with the score 6-5.

The Eclipse are composed of players selected from both the High school and the School of Lackawanna. The lineup of the game was as follows:

High School	Eclipse
McCrindle	right end	Parrish
J. Kelley	right tackle	Crane
Smith	right guard	Conkling
Lovell	center	E. Kelley
Bauer	quarter back	Nelson
Edwards	right half	Acker
Allen	captain	Reynolds
Hurley	full back	Slattery
Time of halves—30 and 15 minutes. Referee—Thayer. Umpire—Fellows. Linesmen—Burns and Dawson. Timekeepers—Harrott and Evans.

Don't overlook Jordan for senator. He's a sure winner.

EIGHTH REGIMENT GONE.

But the Thirteenth Has Received No Orders as Yet.

The six remaining companies of the Eighth regiment which has been stationed near Duryea, broke camp yesterday morning and departed at 12:30 p. m. The Eighth had been stationed near Duryea for nearly six weeks and had been in the field since the first call for troops on the last day of July.

WHAT A SAMPLE BOTTLE OF SWAMP-ROOT DID

To Prove what the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, will do for YOU, Every Reader of the Scranton Daily Tribune May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Free by Mail.

W. F. Lohmes, a prominent business man of Springfield, Ohio, writes the following strong endorsement of the great kidney remedy, Swamp-Root, to the Editor of the Springfield, Ohio, Republic:

"Having heard that you could procure a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, free by mail, I wrote to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle and it was promptly sent. I was so pleased after trying the sample bottle that I sent to the drug store and procured a supply. I have used Swamp-Root regularly for some time, and consider it unsurpassed as a remedy for rapid liver, loss of appetite and general derangement of the digestive functions. I think my trouble was due to too close confinement in my business. I can recommend it highly for all liver and kidney complaints. I am not in the habit of endorsing any medicine, but in this case I cannot speak too much in praise of what Swamp-Root has done for me."

(W. F. Lohmes.)
475 West High Street.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the leader for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

EDITORIAL NOTE—If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the wonderful discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful remedy, Swamp-Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp-Root, and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women who owe their good health, in fact their very lives, to the great curative properties of Swamp-Root. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say that you read this generous offer in the Scranton Daily Tribune.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., in every bottle.

The Thirteenth regiment has as yet received no orders to break camp though there were rumors yesterday that such an order would come today. The camp was open to visitors yesterday afternoon and a goodly crowd was in attendance.

If you would sustain Roosevelt, vote for Council.
