TRUST LAWS WILL BE CONSIDERED

President Roosevelt and Cabinet Members Talk Over the Next Message to Congress.

KNOX'S PLAN TO BE RECOMMENDED

The President Will Ask Action by the Coming Session Up to the Limit of Constitutional Authority—The Aim to Prevent Overcapitalization and Monopoly of Trade—Cuban Reciprocity to Come in by Way of Pending Treaty.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The cabinet members talked over the next message to Congress this morning at a vacation of several months. As the president is preparing to leave the city again for two weeks' absence, he discussed the various questions that will come prominently in his annual message to Congress.

The Republican victory of Tuesday was identified so clearly as an endorsement of the administration that it is impossible to ignore the public sentiment in favor of some amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law. President Roosevelt, in his first message to Congress, made earnest recommendation that the Sherman law be so amended as to reach the trusts and the trusts organization. At the same time he directed his attorney general to begin proceedings against the trusts that were believed to be violating the Sherman law.

The president is convinced that the people demand some new legislation in regard to the trusts, and he not only will renew the recommendations in his message last year, but will emphasize them and place such recommendations as to reach the trusts and the trusts organization. At the same time he directed his attorney general to begin proceedings against the trusts that were believed to be violating the Sherman law.

Attorney General Knox has given close attention to this subject for many months and he is now convinced that Congress has power to extend the Sherman act so as to reach the worst evils of trust organization. In his speech at Pittsburg on Oct. 14, the attorney general said that legislation by Congress would indirectly affect production, but that fact could be considered no bar to such legislation.

"Congress under this power prevents the importation or transportation of articles deemed injurious to the general welfare," he said. "The law subjects to absolutely excluded, impure, literature and diseased cattle, convicts and contract labor and serfdom, and prevents or checks many foreign and interstate movements, throughout the entire field of international and national intercourse, in the interest of all people, on grounds of commercial hygiene or ethical policies. Who shall set limits now in advance of a carefully framed and judicially tested law to the competence of Congress to regulate commerce in the way suggested, in the exercise of the legislative wisdom, and in the wide discretion confided to it?"

The attorney general is convinced that Congress can amend the Sherman law so as to require publicity and prevent the evil of over-capitalization. He is convinced also that the law can be so amended as to reach the great trusts which, under their present organization, evade the law, and at the same time indirectly interfere with interstate commerce and seek to monopolize trade.

The president is very much impressed with the result of Attorney General Knox's investigation in regard to the trusts and he will seek to convince Congress of the importance of amending the law at the coming session. Practically all the legislation suggested in his former message was taken care of at the long session of the fifty-seventh Congress. The most important legislation, which failed, was that regarding reciprocity with Cuba. That will be handled now by the state department in a treaty which has been framed and is in possession of President Palma at Havana. The state department expects a complete agreement upon the treaty with Cuba before the assembling of Congress, and the treaty will be sent to the senate for ratification. There is now little doubt that the treaty will be ratified and the Cuban question removed from controversy in the house.

There remain only the trust question and the general appropriation bills before Congress which require immediate attention. The president believes that Congress can give some attention to the law at the coming session without interfering with the work necessary in the passage of the appropriation bills. He will therefore make this question the important feature of his message.

The cabinet members agree with the president, especially those who have given much attention to general political questions and the trend of sentiment throughout the country.

INTERVIEW WITH PRESIDENT

Mr. Roosevelt Pleasur with Information Furnished by Commission.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Colonel Carroll D. Wright and General John M. Wilson, members of the anthracite coal strike commission, had a brief interview with the president today. They reported that the individual operators in the anthracite region had agreed to abide by the findings of the commission and so had notified J. Gray, the chairman of the commission.

President Roosevelt was particularly pleased at this information, as it tended materially to simplify the problem which the commission has to solve. The commission explained in some detail their work up to this time. The president expressed his gratification that the work had been satisfactory to those engaged in it.

TRYING TO LOCATE "JACK THE SLUGGER"

State Officials, Including Governor, Interested in Mysterious Murder Case at Boston.

Boston, Nov. 7.—In the developments of the day in the Mason case, which has puzzled the police of Boston since Miss Clara A. Morton was struck down and killed in Waverly last Saturday, the details are being worked out. No further evidence, however, has been advanced which tends to incriminate in the case Alan G. Mason, the member of a prominent family, who is under arrest on the charge of murder. In fact, the police are inclined tonight to believe that Mason stood out clear in the light of an innocent man, because of the failure of Joseph Nemeser, the West End Jeweler, to identify Mason as the man who had offered for sale Miss Morton's watch last Saturday night.

An important detail in connection with the disposal of the watches was the establishment tonight that the signatures on the checks kept on file by the jeweler in identification of the persons who offered them, the articles, were written by one and the same person. This confirms the story that the two women were murdered by the same man.

Another late incident was the arrest on suspicion last Saturday night of a young man, who was brought before the grand jury, but who was released. He was identified as Joseph Nemeser, the jeweler. So serious has the case become that Governor Crane has interested himself and looked over the scene of the murder while on a visit today to Waverly.

DEPUTIES UNSEAT CASTELLANE

Count Boni Ruled Out by a Vote of 278 to 235.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The chamber of deputies today invalidated the election of Count Boni de Castellane as a member of the house. The vote stood 278 to 235, after an exciting debate.

The question came up when the committee on contested elections presented its report without recommendation, leaving the chamber to pass on the question.

Emile Chauvin made a bitter attack on Count de Castellane, declaring he had been guilty of irregularities, and saying that Count de Castellane was the opponent of being of German descent, and a Dreyfusard.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY

Cost of the Service as Indicated by Report of Mr. Wynne.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The annual gross cost of a complete rural free delivery service throughout the United States will approximate $24,000,000, according to the annual report of the first postmaster general, Mr. Wynne, today received from August W. Madden, the general superintendent of the service.

The remaining 70,000 square miles not now covered by rural free delivery service, according to the report, will require the employment of 26,000 to 27,000 carriers in addition to those now employed, making the entire force of carriers when the extension of the service is completed, within the next three years, 400,000.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER OF MRS. ADA DENNIS.

Richard Cole Charged with the Murder That Has Been a Mystery.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Richard Cole, a colored porter, 29 years of age, was arrested today and committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of committing the assault on Mrs. Ada Gillett Dennis, a well known dressmaker, at her home in this city over ten months ago. Mrs. Dennis died from her injuries about a fortnight ago without recovering sufficiently to talk rationally. Julius Van Brakle, colored, formerly proprietor of the Brunswick hotel, testified today before the coroner's jury that on March 19, Cole had said something to him to the effect that he (Cole) would be a happy man if Mrs. Dennis was dead, and also had said once when he looked towards her.

"Yes, if you had on your mind what I have on my mind, you would look worried too," Van Brakle said. Cole made certain statements regarding the reason why he did not care to visit the sick woman, among other things that Mrs. Dennis might say something which would re-open the investigation. Detective Harrison, who has been working on the case ever since the crime was committed, testified that Cole is the only person among those investigated who wavered in his statements. Cole, who also testified before the coroner's jury, denied making the assault on Mrs. Dennis, but he had assisted the murderer. He also denied using language attributed to him by Van Brakle.

FRENCH MINE RIOTS RENEWED.

Arbitrators Rule Against Strikers in Northern District.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The government arbitrators this afternoon announced their decision against increasing the wages of the striking miners in the department of Nord. The grounds of the decision are similar to those in the Pas de Calais arbitration, namely, that the rates are proportionate to the selling price of coal.

The large companies in the Nord have agreed to establish pensions for a term of five years.

At Lens, Pas de Calais, there was a clash today between strikers and cavalry. The strikers throwing bricks at the soldiers. Gendarmes who intervened were assaulted with bricks. One soldier was injured and three arrests were made.

Throughout the Pas de Calais coal district the strikers are making noisy demonstrations.

A lively melee between cavalry and strikers occurred in the town of Anzin. Lieutenant Duraf was struck in the breast with a brick, two other officers were hit, a cavalryman received a severe cut on the face and a cavalry horse had an eye knocked out. Only the arrival of reinforcements of gendarmes caused the strikers to disperse.

SENSATION AT SOFIA.

Publication of Correspondence Relating to Plot Against Late Premier.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 7.—A sensation was created here today by the publication of alleged fac-similes of correspondence relating to the organization of plots against the late Premier Stambuloff and the government, resulting in the assassination of Stambuloff and two other members of his ministry, July 15, 1900. Friends of Michael Stavrev, alias Hadji, who was found guilty October 24 of the premier's murder and was sentenced to be hanged, are responsible for the publication. They claim that Stavrev was only a tool.

Denver, Col., Nov. 7.—At a caucus today of a number of Democratic members of the new legislature, it was decided that if the Republicans shall take revolutionary tactics to unseat the men in the house, the senate, which is strongly Democratic, will not meet in joint session with the house, and will double the legislature in order that it will be impossible to elect a successor to Senator Teller.

Colorado Returns.

Denver, Col., Nov. 7.—Practically complete returns have been received from every county in the state, which show that the legislature will stand on joint ballot, according to the face of the returns: Democrats, 54; Republicans, 43.

Clean Sweep in Montana.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 7.—Nearly complete returns show that the Republicans made a clean sweep in Montana for the first time in ten years. There was a bitter factional fight in the Democratic party between Clark and Heine, and the Democrats elected very few members of the legislature, while the Populists, whom Heine marshaled, did not win a single seat. Ten senators of New Orleans, in private conversation of Clark and Heine, were elected by Republicans and will participate in the election of a United States senator in 1904 to succeed Gibson.
