LOST AN ARM AND MAY NOT SURVIVE

Michael Larkin, of Carbondale Township, in Dangerous Condition from Injuries Sustained During Tuesday Night—Was Found Lying Along Ontario and Western Tracks with Terribly Mangled Arm—Not Known How the Accident Happened.

Michael Larkin, aged 38 years, whose residence is in Carbondale township, close to Mayfield yard, is fighting for his life in Emergency hospital, whither he was taken about 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

Larkin was found along the tracks in Mayfield yard about an hour earlier. He was in a pool of blood, which collected from a terribly mangled right arm. He was only half-conscious.

The fearfully crushed arm was amputated at the hospital, but with a good deal of misgivings, as Larkin's vitality was fearfully low. He survived the operation, however.

Last night the injured man was in a desperate condition and there is not a great deal of hope that will rally. Beside the mangle of the arm he sustained internal injuries, and suffers severely from shock. Most of the time he is unconscious. Altogether the indications are exceedingly grave. He may or may not recover. Considering the loss of blood he sustained, his surviving the ordeal is remarkable.

There is no telling how the accident occurred, as none of the railroad men recall having struck or run any one down. Larkin is simple-minded, and as he was drinking Tuesday night, it is supposed he lay down close to the tracks and fell asleep, rolling onto the tracks during his movements.

BLOES TAKEN HOME.
The Unfortunate Soldier Claimed by His Father.

Peter Wellington Bloes, the Thirtieth regiment soldier, who met such a terribly sad death on the Delaware and Hudson road Tuesday, was taken yesterday by his father to the residence in Equinunk, Wayne county, where burial will take place this afternoon. Contrary to the story of yesterday, Bloes' father is living and had no difficulty in recognizing his son, as the face was not disfigured to any extent.

It was a strange coincidence that Bloes met his death on the railroad, for which he had a great liking. It was a mission of this character to get a trainman's position, that brought him to Carbondale. Bloes' father was opposed to his purpose of railroading and objected with vigor, but the son persisted and said he would try it for a while. Before he was successful in getting a position, his life went out in a tragedy of the rail.

Bloes was a member of the Thirtieth regiment about two years. The occupations he followed were farming on his father's land and labor in an excelsior factory at Equinunk. His folks saw him alive last the day he left to go with Company E to the camp at Olyphant.

DIED FROM INJURIES.
Alfred Chambers Succumbs at Hospital from Fracture of Spine.

Alfred Chambers, who was taken from Forest city to Emergency hospital, Saturday, died yesterday forenoon from the injuries he sustained in a mine accident.

Chambers was caught under a fall of roof while at work in a Forest city mine Saturday. He was in a delicate condition when removed to the hospital. The weight of the fall came on his head, fracturing a vertebrae just below the back of the head. Paralysis of the organs of the head was the consequence and little could be done for him.

Chambers was unmarried, and has only one survivor, his brother, Daniel Chambers, whose home is in Forest city. He was born in England and was 56 years of age. He resided in Forest city for a number of years.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.
At Berean Church, Under Auspices of That Congregation.

The union Thanksgiving day services this year will be in the Berean Baptist church, under the patronage of this congregation. It is the Methodists' turn this year to be in charge of the services, but owing to the non-completion of their church, the Baptists offer to act as accepted.

The services, as usual, will begin at 7:30 Thanksgiving morning, Thursday, November 27. The pastor, will be preached by Rev. Charles Lee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The congregations of the First Presbyterian, First Methodist and Berean Baptist churches will join in this annual offering of thanks, as directed by President Roosevelt and Governor Stone.

UNPAID TAXES.
Fidelity Surety Company to Collect the Clifford Duplicate.

The Fidelity and Deposit company, of New York, has advised that the Clifford duplicate of the tax on the property of the company will be collected.

POWERFUL FOOD
That Can Lift You Out of Bed.

The proper food to build up the system after an attack of illness, or any other time, is important to know about.

"Last year, I had typhoid malarial fever," says a lady in Manila, "and it left me so weak I could scarcely turn in bed. I was very nervous. The least noise annoyed me, and I could hardly eat anything."

"A friend recommended Grape-Nuts food, thinking maybe I would like that, and I did. I commenced gaining strength, and am now able to walk around out of doors, having gained over twenty pounds, and Grape-Nuts did it."

"My little brother used to be thin and pale. Although he seemed to eat enough food, what he did eat did him no good. He was put on Grape-Nuts regularly and is now strong and well and gaining fast in flesh. I recommend Grape-Nuts to all who are weak and run down."—Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Baltimore, Md., proposes to press with vigor and unremitting attention the collection of taxes of the uncollected portion of the Clifford duplicate. Henry W. Watkins, a representative of the company, is now in Carbondale for this purpose.

Of the $6,250 paid by the surety company in settlement of the duplicate, about $1,000 is not collected. It is this sum which the company proposes to collect. Those who have not settled will be given ample opportunity to pay, but if there is no response, legal steps will be taken. All the books of Collector Clifford are in the hands of Mr. Watkins. The collection is for the purpose of reimbursing the bond company for its payment of $6,250, the settlement sum, also the local bondsmen who are involved in the proceeding.

CHANGES AT MINES.

Record Kept of Time Men Go to and Leave Work, by Registering Clock. Record May Be Used at Mine Commission Hearings.

A new order of things has been inaugurated about the Delaware and Hudson mines in this vicinity, with reference to the hours the men work; or, rather, the actual time they spend in the mines.

At the Coalbrook colliery there is a registering clock, somewhat similar to the Bundy clock in use in all postoffices where there is a carrier system. Each employee, whether engaged on piecework or by the day, is required to register both when going into work and when coming out and departing homeward. This determines how many hours he has actually been in the mines.

At workings other than the Coalbrook, the miners are required to leave their names with the mine boss when going into their places, and likewise report to him when the day's work is finished. While this rule is in vogue in places down the valley, where there is danger of mine explosions, in order that a record may be had of the men who are underground, it has never been enforced here.

There is much speculation as to the new order of things. The opinion that is generally shared is that these records will be presented by the Delaware and Hudson company in support of its case before the arbitration commission. The operators in their contentions, in answer to the eight-hour day demand, have emphasized the claim that many miners now spend actually less than this number of hours in getting out of their coal. It is this circumstance that gives rise to the belief that the company is enforcing this rule to gather evidence to sustain its contention before the commission.

Carbondale miners take exception to which he announced that their first monthly pay amounted to $29 or $25. They say that the average was not more than $10. They claim, further, that they are not having good time, blaming this condition to the admitted fact that the Coalbrook breaker, which cannot accommodate more than one-half the normal full-time production of the mines.

OUT OF DANGER.

Young Frank Gordon Who Fell from Trestle on Road to Recovery.

Frank Gordon, the lad who fell from the Powderly chute trestle on Saturday last, a distance of 45 feet, is regarded as out of danger by his physician, Dr. J. A. Kelly. He will not be allowed to leave bed for three or four days, but the fear of complications has been banished by the increasing favorable indications of the past few days. His temperature and other conditions are now normal.

Gordon was playing with companions when he accidentally tumbled off the trestle. He was unconscious for a while and suffered several hemorrhages of the stomach and head. For several days his condition was precarious and it was feared the result would be fatal. His escape from mortal injury was by a narrow margin.

SUBSTANTIAL APPRECIATION.

Druggist H. F. Clark Sends Check of Ten Dollars to Columbians.

Herbert F. Clark, the Church street pharmacist, has expressed his appreciation of the work of the city firemen at the recent fire at his place of business, in a substantial manner. He forwarded a check for $10 to Columbia Hose company, accompanied with a letter of thanks.

The company, at its meeting last night heartily acknowledged the generous gift of Mr. Clark, and adopted a minute of thanks to him, at the same time directing that public acknowledgement of the check be made through the press. This is the kind of appreciation and encouragement that finds great favor with the firemen in their unselfish devotion to the public.

WILL MEET TONIGHT.

E. E. Hendrick Hook and Ladder Company Organization Postponed.

Owing to a special session of Columbia Hose company last night, the meeting of the new E. E. Hendrick Hook and Ladder company was necessarily postponed until this evening. Those interested in the project are urged to be present in the Columbia's meeting room at 7:30 tonight, as permanent organization will be effected.

There has been a ready response among the young men and the business men of the town, whose interest and aid in the project have been sought. The movement is an earnest one, and it is the purpose to carry it to a successful issue. Ways and means are already under way, and the plan and scope of the project will be given to the public after tonight's meeting when the organization will be made permanent.

The Minstrels Last Night.

It has been some time since Carbondale theatre-goers had a night with a minstrel company, and for this reason considerable enjoyment was derived from the Barlow minstrel performance at the Grand last night, even though the quality of the entertainment was mediocre.

Perhaps the most amusing of the crowd was Ed. Thompson, a good-sized artist. He gave a monologue that kept the risibilities of his hearers well stirred up, even though he delivered himself of some gags that were memories of by-gone years.

The feature that has never been equaled of its kind in Carbondale was the swinging wire act of Al. Sutphen.

Last night one of the most interesting in the history of the Odd Fellows in Carbondale.

The occasion was the visit of the grand master of the order, Edward L. Ritter, of Philadelphia and his staff. The meeting was held in Columbia hall on South Church street, and was attended by about 200 Odd Fellows, including a half hundred from down the valley.

The speakers in addition to Grand Master Ritter, who gave a beautifully impressive exemplification of the unwritten work were: Robert C. Graham, of Philadelphia; Grant McGinnis, of Norristown; Attorney Harry Harding, of Scranton, and the veteran Odd Fellow, P. S. Joslin, of Carbondale, who was initiated in 1846.

A smoker and social session concluded the eventful evening. Tonight the grand officers will be in Towanda. The visiting grand staff was as follows: Edwin L. Ritter, of Philadelphia, grand master; Isaac Singer, of Carbondale, deputy grand master; Robert Graham, of Philadelphia, grand warder; Edward J. E. Harris, of Scranton, grand secretary; J. E. Harris, of Scranton, grand treasurer; Philip McGinnis, of Norristown, grand conductor; Henry Meyers, of Archbald, grand chaplain; George W. Hughes, of Carbondale, grand guardian; W. J. Toman, of Jersey, grand herald.

MADE-UP MUSLINS

Every sheet and pillow or bolster-case that you buy in this store has been torn, not cut.

That means: The edge runs along a thread and the things will always be straight after they are laundered.

"Cheap" muslins are often those that have been cut with the scissors instead of being torn off—any housekeeper knows how they pull out of shape and stretch in points after they have been through the wash.

These are even brand, put up under our name, of standard muslin, good weight, soft finish.
