First of a Series of Sermons by Rev. James Benninger at the Embury M. E. Church—Other News.

Rev. James Benninger, pastor of the Embury Methodist Episcopal church, last evening preached the first of a series of sermons on the subject, "A Love Romance in Three Parts," and his effort was appreciated by a large congregation. His theme for the first discourse was "The King's Ambassa-dor Seeking a Wife for the Young Prince," and it proved to be very interesting and instructive.

The speaker found the subject matter for his most interesting love story in the time of Abraham, when he commis-sioned his eldest servant, Eliezer, to go into a strange land, where he had never been, and pick out a girl to suit Abraham's son, Isaac. The servant was rather skeptical about his ability to do so, but Abraham's faith soon overcame him.

His fidelity to Abraham, however, was unquestionable, and the journey was commenced. Eliezer went to Nahor, in the land of Mesopotamia, and checked his little caravan on the edge of the city, where there seemed to be a fine well of water. While there the servant prayerfully asked God to direct him in his mission and ere he had finished his prayer, a beautiful maiden appeared, bearing a pitcher on her shoulder. It was Rebekah, and without the slightest idea that anybody was watch-ing her, she went to the well. Eliezer fell in love with her immediately, for Isaac's sake, and his faith in God an-swering his prayer rose to the occasion, and without any further ceremony the servant proceeded to unfold his plan.

The lesson drawn from Eliezer's faith in God answering his prayer, and the necessity for following God's lead, were clearly brought out by Rev. Benninger, "God leads those who are in the way," he said, "and when we talk of His om-nipotence we have but a vague idea of his proximity to us, but when we think of him as working in and through our lives, giving direction and leading us, we begin to realize the meaning of the Master's, 'Lo, I am with you always.'"

Rev. Benninger has built up a large congregation in his new church, which is located in a popular and growing section of the city. Next Sunday evening he will speak on "The Proposal Ac-cepted and the Journey Homeward," and the final discourse will be about "The Waiting Groom and the Happy Wedding."

side Republican club in their rooms Saturday evening, when matters per-taining to the welfare of the club were discussed and acted on. A special com-mittee was appointed to see delinquent members and urge them to pay up their arrearages before January 1, 1921, when all over one year in arrears will be suspended.

Farmer Injured by Car.

While Christopher Ripple, of Millwau-ke, was crossing Main avenue in front of the Fairchild hotel, Saturday after-noon, he was run down and injured by a passing street car. His face was bruised and he suffered somewhat from the shock, but his injuries were not serious.

Ripple came from over the mountain with a load of produce, and tied his team opposite the hotel. Just as he alighted from the wagon, a car came along and the farmer stepped in front of it before the motorman could stop the car. He was knocked to one side and when picked up seemed rather dazed, but fortunately escaped with the injuries above noted.

Four Funerals Saturday.

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Patrick's church Sat-urday morning over the remains of the late Frank McHugh, who died at his home in Long Island city, recently.

Rev. J. B. Whelan was celebrant, and he was assisted by Rev. P. F. Lavelle and Rev. J. J. Dunne. Five brothers of deceased acted as pall bearers, they were Michael, John, Thomas, Peter and Edward McHugh, and James Devine. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. William J. Matheson were held at 1 o'clock Saturday after-noon at the house, 121 South Lincoln avenue, when many friends were gath-ered. The remains were taken to Pitts-burgh, where interment was made in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Julia Morris occurred Saturday morning from the house, 218 Railroad avenue. Services were held at the Holy Cross church and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

The remains of Mr. and Mrs. John Evans' child, of Decker's court, were buried in the Washburn street ce-metery Saturday afternoon.

Among the Churches.

A reception of members was held at the Plymouth Congregational church yesterday morning, and the sacraments of the Lord's Supper were administered. At the evening service, the pastor, Rev. Humphreys, preached on the subject of "Public Worship."

Married Twenty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fadden celebrated the twentieth anniversary on Saturday, at their home, 317 Beech street, where they received many ap-propriate mementoes of the occasion from many friends and relatives. A re-ception was held at the evening and was attended by numerous relatives, tendered their congratulations to the happy couple.

After several hours of social inter-course, supper was served, and a pleas-ant evening was brought to a close at midnight.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Fadden, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Fadden, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, Mrs. Susan Fadden, Miss Catherine Fadden, Elizabeth and Joseph Fadden, Messrs. George and William Fadden, Henry Fadden and August Wymeyer.
