DEATH SADDENS SEVEN CARBONDALE HOMES

Beside the Passing Away of Harvey M. Tuttle and James Gennessy, as Reported in The Tribune, Yester-Flannery, Robert Kilpatrick and Sunday Night-Daniel Loftus, an Old, Respected Carbondalian, Died Last Evening at the Residence on

Sand Street.

Within the last forty-eight hours, death, with its gloom and sorrow, has entered seven homes in this city, the greatest mortality for the given perlod in Carbondale in a long time.

Beside the summons hence of Harry M. Tuttle and James Gennessy, as re-ported in yesterday's Tribune. Thomas Murray, of Cottage street; Mrs. Patrick Flannery, Sand street; Mrs. Ann Judge, Sand lane; Robert Klipatrick, of the South Side, died either Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Yesterday afternoon, David Loftus, a prominent resident of Carbondale for over half a century, succumbed at his residence on Sand street. A strange feature of the death record is that three of the saddened homes are on the one street, and only a short distance one from the other.

The death of Thomas Murray, of Cottage street, was not marked by any suspicious circumstances, as was supposed. Coroner Saltry came to this city yesterday and satisfied himself, after an investigation that Murray's death was due to general debility. The supposed wood alcohol that he drank, just prior to his passing away, was a comnound of blitters that is in general use. Some of the bitters was given by Murray to one of his children, but the child was not harmed.

DANIEL LOFTUS, who has been a resident of Carbondale for over half a century, died yesterday afternoon at the residence, 18 Sand street. Death was due to infirmities accompanying old age. He had been alling for some old age. It's had been adding for some time and has been confined to his bed for six months. Mr. Loftus was been the bod actors, as it were, sent way in Ireland about 70 years ago. He back to sit down or do time in Sing came to this country in 1846, settling Sing. for six months. Mr. Loftus was born home. His pride in Carbondale was slon, one that will improve as the week characteristic of all residents of this passes as the better plays are further in Carbondale, which has since been his city who became attached to the town. He lived a life that merited the respect and confidence of his neighbors and feilow citizens, who made him the object of their preferment on one occasion by electing him poor director in 1882. He represented the Fourth ward, and acquitted himself with a highly satisfactory administration. His love for home and family was shown in many ways and the ties of the family circle that are broken by his death are the strongest and dearest of human attachment. The wide circle of friends he gathered about him during his long career in Carbondale, the neighbors to whom the warm-heartedness and lovalty attached him, and all who came within the influence of his kind, gentle spirit, will be depressed by the news of his calling away. The deceased was wedded in Carbondale to Miss Barbara Healey, who sur church, followed by a burial in St. Rose emetery.

MRS. MARY FLANNERY, widow of the late Patrick Flannery, succumbed to chronic Bright's disease at the home on Sand street, Sunday evening.

The deceased was born in Carbondale about 50 years ago. She was the daughter of the late Richard and Ann day, Mrs. Ann Judge, Mrs. Patrick Purcell, of this city. Mrs. Flannery goes to her reward mourned by numer ous friends. One son, Joseph Flannery Thomas Murray Succumbed During and two brother, Edward and Patrick Purcell, all of this city, survive her The funeral will take place this after noon at 3 o'clock. There will be services for the dead in St. Rose church burial in St. Rose cemetery,

> ROBERT KILPATRICK, who died Sunday at the home of Patrick McMannon, near Duffy's field, was laid at rest In St. Rose cemetery yesterday after-

The deceased was a victim of typhoid fever. He was a resident of Carbondale and vicinity for a number of years. He was 40 years of age and a miner under the Delaware and Hudson company, So far as is known he has no surviving relatives

Grand Crowded to Overflowing to See Stock Company.

The Ollie Halford Stock company has he distinction of drawing the biggest house at the Grand this season or last season. Last night this company opened a week's engagement and by 8 o'clock the standing room sign was sent for, the dust of a couple of season's was thrown out on Main street, and it was nailed over the box office. The crowd grew in spite of this notice and when it was ime to ring up, the trite expression, 'packed like sardines in a case" told the story. The overflowing audience was not disappointed, either, for everyone seemed immensely pleased with the piece, "Sunset Mines," and the vauleville stunts that made the intermissions seem like seconds, The company has several capable persons in the leading roles, who gave intelligent interpretations and sustained Moran, John Brennan, the dramatic interest until the closing

The company made a good imprealong in the repertoire. Judging from last night's reception, the stay of the stock company in Carbondale will be a profitable one. It was quite refreshing see such an universal crowd fill the next. Grand, as it was reminiscent of the prosperous seasons of several years
