Funeral of Mrs. William E. Morgan Yesterday Afternoon-Men's League Meeting. Bowling Match-Other Notes.

Mrs. William E. Morgan, who died on Saturday at her home in Edwards' court, were in attendance at the fuchurch yesterday afternoon. The cortege was exceptionally large, and the services at the church were very im-

The pastor of the church, Rev. Hugh Davies, officiated, and spoke in the kindliest terms of deceased as a Christian worker and mother. Rev. William Davis, of the Bellevue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church, also participated in the services. The pallbearers were the sons of deceased. Interment was made in the Washburn street

A Reputable Organization.

In this hustling city of ours, there is any number of societies and clubs, all of which have their attractive features, but there is none which has attained such a degree of popularity as the Electric City Wheelmen.

Its membership is composed of many of the leading business and professional men, and among the younger element there is some excellent musical timber, which has on several occasions been heard in public. The club has one of the best appointed houses of its kind in Northeastern Pennsylva-

Their bowling alleys and other equipment compare favorably with any in the city, and their monthly social functions are considered leaders in West Scranton society. The club is now enjoying increased prosperity in the way of new members and success in their bowling contests.

Mine Contractor Recovering.

William S. Beynon, of 1144 Hampton street, a member of the mine contracting firm of Davis, Beynon & Moses, is still confined to his home as the re sult of injuries he sustained on Mitchell Day, Oct. 29, while at work in the Holden mine of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company.

He was "shot" by a premature blast, and had his left arm fractured and two fingers on his right hand taken off. His face was also injured. His many friends will be pleased to know he is recovering.

An Interesting Match.

Men's League Meeting.

The Men's League of the Plymouth Congregational church held their regular weekly meeting last evening, and it was largely attended. D. D. Evans presided and outlined to the members the benefits to be derived from these meetings.

Next Tuesday evening, Henry A. Parsons will deliver an address on Origin and Necessity of Thanksgiving Day," which promises to be quite interesting. John T. Jones was elected secretary of the league.

Events of Today and Evening.

A special meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of Simpson Methodist Episcopal church will be held this evening after the prayer service. A full attendance is requested as business of importance is to be transacted.

The Fellows-Evans wedding will oc our at 9 o'clock this morning at the home of the young lady's parents on Lafayette street.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Michael J. Lavelle will be held at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock

Pig Roast and Social Session of the City Bill Posters in Best's Hotel-Other Notes.

A very pleasant affair took place in he parlors of Hotel Best last evening, when the City Bill Posters met in monthly social session. The members. with several friends, arrived at 9 o'clock, and, after a short reception, proceeded to the dining parlors, where a supper was awaiting them.

The table literally groaned with good things, of which a stuffed roast pig formed the piece-de-resistance. After the tables were cleared, a social session was inaugurated and a general good time was thoroughly enjoyed for several hours.

Aldermanic Doings.

Peter Molter, who resides above the Erie and Wyoming tracks, lost a valuable dog recently, which, after making diligent search, he located at the residence of M. J. Nealon, on Prosocet avenue. He had a search warrant issued by Alderman Lentes, and the dog was found on his premises. When brought before the alderman, he explained that he purchased the animal and in reply to a question stated that he could produce the person from whom the purchase was made.

Thereupon, the case was postponed one week, that the guilty person might be brought to justice.

Alois Brauch, who has been boarding with Mrs. Lizzie Wolf for some time, was given a hearing before Alderman Lentes vesterday on a charge of larceny, preferred by his landlady It appears that Brauch had got somewhat behind in his payments for board and, in order to pay up, gave Mrs. Wolf an order on Contractor Kingsley, by whom he was employed, for $22.19, which he had coming. The order was cashed and Mrs. Wolf, on arriving home, laid the money on the table, while attending to some household matters. Brauch, who was in the house, placed the money in his pocket and walked out. The case was made clear on his own admission, and the alderman held him for court in $300 ball, in default of which he was committed. Later, on his plea, the case was held over for a settlement.

Mrs. Laura L. Barnes, Washington, D. C., Ladies Auxiliary to Burnside Post, No. 4, G. A. R., recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

" In diseases that come to women only, as a rule, the doctor is called in, sometimes several doctors, but still matters go from bad to worse; but I have never known of a case of female weakness which was not helped when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used faithfully. For young women who are subject to headaches, backache, irregular or painful periods, and nervous attacks due to the severe strain on the system by some organic trouble, and for women of advanced years in the most trying time of life, it serves to correct every trouble and restore a healthy action of all organs of the body.

Lydia E.Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a household reliance in my home, and I would not be without it. In all my experience with this medicine, which covers years, I have found nothing to equal it and al-ways recommend it."—MRS. LAURA L. BARNES. 607 Second St., N. E., Washington, D. DUNMORE.

The initial number of the new High school journal, called the Red and Blue, made its appearance yesterday. Altogether it is a creditable production, and with the experience gained each month t should develop into a High school fixture. Special articles are contributed by Misses Claire Curtin, Helen Farrer and Minnie Webber. The members of Dunmore conclave, Improved Order of Heptasophs, will hold their annual banquet Friday evening, November 21.

The ladies of the Dudley Street Baptist church will give a chicken supper in the church this evening, from 6 until 9 o'clock. All are invited to attend. Supper, 25 cents.

The Women's guild of St. Mark's church will this year, as for several years past, serve a Thanksgiving dinner in the parish house. The menus furnished by this society have more than local renown, and no doubt a large number will take advantage of the opportunity of enjoying the best turkey dinner obtainable for the small twenty-five cents.

VOLCANO ACTIVE IN UTAH

Columns of Smoke and Dust Have Arisen Recently from the Old Volcano.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 18 .- Ac cording to D. A. Turner, of Milford, Utah, an old volcano forming part of the Wachatich chain in southern Utah, between Beaver and Plute counties which apparently had been extinct for centuries, has broken out afresh. Explosions, apparently emanating from the crater, have been heard for miles around, while at times columns of smoke and dust have arisen from the old volcano and new lava formations all very hot, have been found on the

"There has been a number of slight quakes in that vicinity recently," said Mr. Turner, "and we have heard ex plosions for a distance of twenty mile from the crater. Not long ago, I ascended one of these old volcanoes and found a small quantity of lava that apparently had recently overflowed from the crater, for it was still very hot, and several times of late smoke and dust in considerable quantities have been seen arising from the crater Yesterday's earthquake, which was quite severe in that locality, was fresh evidence of the renewed volcanic activ ity in the Wachatich region."

SHOULD BE INCORPORATED. Labor Unions Can Thus Force Recognition by Employers. From a Lecture by Professor George Gunton.

Labor unions should become legalized institutions. They should be incorpor ated. That would at once give them a definite standing. They would be leg-ally responsible institutions. In that respect they would stand exactly on the same footing as the corporations they could sue and be rued. Of course incorporation would be of no advantage if the methods and moral standards were not raised, but as corporate concerns with full responsibility for making contracts for their members, er masse, the first real foundation would be laid for recognition by the corporations. Once incorporated, there would be no legitimate reason for a corporation refusing to recognize the unions There would then be no reason for calling them "mob meetings" or anything of the kind. They would be regularly constituted institutions in soclety, with all the legitimate legal features that corporations possess.

There is one thing more that is need ed and ought to come, and with the in corporation of unions and the estab lishment of a higher plane among labor organizations must and would come namely: a mutual organization of the labor unions and corporations. Arbit rary commissions would then be en tirely unnecessary and strikes practi-cally impossible. With full recognition and responsibility it would be feasible and allogether desirable that, in every convenient industrial section, the or ganized laborers and the employers should have a mutual union, with equal representation. This organization should have the decision of all matters of dispute between the laborers and employers represented in the area covered by this union. If a difficulty arose in one shop or factory or industry, it would be submitted to this mutual body that had an equal representation of the laborers and of the employers. All honest, fair-minded employers would be interested in turning down an unfair proposition of a narrow-minded employer that was well calculated to lead to disturbance. All the labor represen-tatives would be opposed to him, and he could not create a disturbance if he tried, because he would be voted down If, on the other hand, a cranky chairman of a union, or a walking delegate, or disgruntled workman, started to raise an issue in a shop that was unreasonable or not justified, it would be taken before this joint body, and the representatives of laborers in the other sliops, who had no interest in a rattleheaded person wanting to get up a disturbance, would vote him down. They do not want a strike simply to satisfy the personal feeling of a chairman of or anything of the kind, and so only in the cases where the grievance was removed for once.
