CORONER INQUIRING INTO MAYFIELD FIRE

Conflicting Stories as to Its Origin. An Investigation Pending Until Miller Family Recovers—Miller and His Wife and Two Children, Who Were Fearfully Burned in the Holocaust, at Emergency Hospital. Mrs. Miller in a Dangerous Condition—Body of the Dead Child Recovered.

The dreadful fire at Mayfield in which, as related in yesterday's Tribune, eleven persons, including the children, were killed, is being investigated by Coroner Saltry, with a view of making clear the peculiar circumstances of its origin. Four of the Miller family are patients at Emergency hospital, whether they were taken yesterday forenoon. The husband, Thomas Miller, his wife, their five-year-old daughter Vera and an infant boy about 1 year old are the sufferers. Mrs. Miller is in a dangerous condition, but the others will recover. Mr. Miller is severely disfigured about the face and head and his right hand is so terribly burned that it is feared it will be dismembered after the raw surface has healed. The infant is suffering from head contusions produced by her striking the ground on being hurled out of the second-story window. Mrs. Miller is fearfully burned about the body, the surface being blistered to a raw condition encircling the trunk. It will be a number of days before the hospital surgeons will be able to pronounce upon her recovery.

Coroner Saltry visited in Carbondale yesterday and visited the Millers at the hospital. The stories they tell correspond, but differ from the McDonald family's version of the fire. The latter lived in the other half of the destroyed dwelling. Miller's story to The Tribune man immediately after the fire yesterday morning, and what he told Coroner Saltry yesterday, were substantially the same. About 11:15 he perceived the odor of coal gas, and taking a lamp walked down stairs to the kitchen to shut the door that shut off the top floor. The lamp began to sputter, the oil spluttering about. It did not explode, however. He placed the lamp on the table and returned to the upper floor. Immediately after he heard an explosion, which he supposed was the lamp. The blaze spread, he said, and the house was soon filled with smoke. He hustled his wife and the children out of the second story window, except Mabel, the girl who was oriented alive. She must have got confused, he thought, and running into one of the other rooms was suffocated before she could make an outcry. Miller said that his clothing was not set on fire until the spluttering of the lamp. "The oil seemed to fly all around and over my head," was his explanation.

The story told by the McDonald family, who lived in the other part of the house, was that Mrs. Miller knocked on the partition, attracting the attention of Mrs. McDonald, who arose by mistake several hours earlier than usual to look after the "sponge" which she "set" in the night for the family bathing. Mrs. Miller, she said, said that the house was burning, and Mrs. McDonald, being aroused, rushed to Edmunds' hotel to call the hose company by phone. On his return, he thought Miller was not awakened and thought Miller was not aware of his house being ablaze. Accordingly he ran upstairs to Miller's room to give the alarm and found Miller standing at a window of the second floor.

The circumstances that impress Coroner Saltry as strongly peculiar are that, according to Miller's own statement, the exploding lamp did not set his clothing afire, and that there was no fire upstairs; that the blaze was in the kitchen, which was separated by a flight of stairs and a door from the second floor, where all the family was. How Miller became alive, how his wife's clothing was set ablaze, how the both were so badly burned and how the children were killed, are the questions explained by Miller's version, not that of the McDonalds. Another strange circumstance, suggested by the coroner, is the failure to save the life of the child who perished, when it was only a two-story building, and the blaze was down stairs.

The investigations of Coroner Saltry yesterday revealed that there was no insurance on the goods of Miller. County Detective Phillips will be called into the case that he might aid in clearing away the doubtful circumstances that are suggested, and to establish as required by law and the circumstances of the situation, the origin of the fearfully disastrous fire.

All of the family required the constant attendance of the physician who was called, Dr. B. H. Jackson, of Mayfield, until they were removed to Emergency hospital.

The body of the girl who was the victim of the holocaust was recovered from the debris yesterday forenoon. She was fearfully burned. Her funeral will take place this afternoon. Services will be in St. James' Episcopal church and burial will be in the Jermy cemetery.

A NEW POSITION.

T. V. Walker Representative of Tobar Inn Library for Three Counties.

Terence V. Walker, who achieved a more than ordinarily successful record as the district superintendent for this district, of the International Correspondence schools, has been appointed to the position of establishing agent for the Tobar Inn Library, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Walker's territory comprehends Lackawanna, Wayne and Susquehanna counties, with headquarters, if he chooses, at his home town, Carbondale. The Tobar Inn library project of supplying works of any character at a nominal cost to subscribers has had a remarkable growth, so that Mr. Walker will have opportunities of meeting the public with an established success. His ability to spread the influence and patronage of this circulating library is fully recognized by Carbondale's special aptitude for this character of work was amply demonstrated while he was with the International Correspondence schools, during which time he was at the topmost place capturing prize after prize for special service. He wishes of Mr. Walker's legion of friends to accompany him in his new venture.

GONE TO VIRGINIA.

William Watkins, Coal Operator, Interested in New Coal Lands.

William Watkins, who has been engaged in coal operations in this valley for years, has moved with his family to Alexandria, Virginia, where he is interested in coal lands in that vicinity.

Mr. Watkins, who is a part owner of the drift on the East mountain, where the coal mined is known as Watkins coal and is finding a ready sale in the local market, has an interest something like 100 acres in the coal holdings near Alexandria. There are about 400 acres of the property, which is said to be rich in deposits. Mr. Watkins, therefore, moved to Virginia to develop the property. Cars, mine cars, for use in the working of the coal, are being manufactured in this city.

Mr. Watkins was accompanied by two of his sons and Thomas Davis, formerly with the Metropolitan Insurance company, who will be of valuable service in the process of development.

Carbondale's citizens will watch with interest and satisfaction the progress of Mr. Watkins' undertaking, which promises to be successful and profitable.

HUGHES-LAYMAN.

Young Couple Wedded by Rev. Dr. H. J. Whalen.

Miss Caroline Hughes and Thomas J. Layman were wedded in the Baptist parsonage by Rev. Dr. H. J. Whalen at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Layman.

The young couple, who have a host of well-wishing friends, will take up their residence at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Layman, on Harlem avenue.

AMUSEMENTS.

Attractions Next Week.

Next week will be the best week of the season at the Grand. Manager Byrne has four splendid attractions, which should find great favor with the patrons of the Grand.

Monday night will be "Hunting for Hawkins," a comedy that is said to be several hours of mirthful enjoyment.

It is based upon an original theme, and the plot has been woven an interesting plot. The performance is liberally interspersed with high class specialties and brilliant musical numbers. The company includes William Frick, William Jackson, Don Harold, Charles Hoffman, Ned Newell, W. H. Maxwell, May Thompson, Louise Bryant, Daisy Dudley, Minnie Nible, Beatrice Minor and others. Prices: All reserved seats, 50 cents; gallery, 25 cents.

Tuesday night Annie Oakley in "The Western Girl," will offer something of a novelty. Annie Oakley was with Col. W. F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," for years, and was seen with him in this city a few seasons ago. "The Western Girl," as its name suggests, is a play of border life, in which Miss Oakley will be peculiarly at home. Among the features will be the introduction in one of the scenes of four horses which are carried by the company.

The Thanksgiving attraction will be "Rupert of Hentzau," Anthony Hope's sequel to his "Prisoner of Zenda." This piece was at the Lyceum in Scranton last evening.

Changes of Position.

Since the settlement of the coal strike there have been increased opportunities of employment which have been taken advantage of by a number of young men. Among the various changes in the following:

James Duffy, who formerly had an agency under the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, has re-entered this company's employ, taking the place vacated by Thomas Davis, who has gone to Virginia to work under William Watkins, as explained elsewhere.

Jesse Hunter has left the Hendrick works to accept a position as brakeman on the Erie railroad.

Clarence Knapp, who has been employed driver for the Delaware and Hudson company, made vacant by the death of the late James Clark, of Terrace street, has just been placed in the position vacated by Mr. Williams at Coalbrook.

Charles Curtis, of North Main street, formerly of the Delaware and Hudson locomotive department, has resigned to accept a position at the Dunmore shops of the Erie and Wyoming Valley Railroad company. Mr. Curtis is succeeded by Frank Smith, of Park street, shipping clerk at the company's store house.

Edward Hessing of Wayne street, has resigned his position at the Glover Leaf hobbins works and is now with Sullivan & Ryan, of Salem avenue.

James B. Williams, who was an assistant mine foreman at Coalbrook colliery, has been appointed assistant foreman at No. 1 mine of the Delaware and Hudson company, made vacant by the death of the late James Clark, of Terrace street. As yet no one has been placed in the position vacated by Mr. Williams at Coalbrook.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Atorneys James Toomey and John McConr, who are conspicuous among the younger members of the Lackawanna bar, were in the city yesterday. They rode behind a dashing trotter owned by Mr. Toomey, of Scranton.

Thomas J. McGuire, of Scranton, resident agent of the Equitable Life Assurance company, was a Carbondale visitor yesterday.

Hon. J. W. Kilpatrick, ex-mayor of Carbondale, is quite ill at his home on South Main street. A fever developed from a cold and threatened serious complications. Last night, however, his condition was somewhat improved and hopeful.

Dr. E. L. Vandenberg, who has just returned from missionary work in China, last night gave a graphic recital of some of his experiences in the field. This interesting, and at times thrilling, talk, was given in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church.

OLYPHANT.

The list of letters remaining unclaimed for at the Olyphant postoffice are as follows: Mrs. John Hays, Miss Hannah Phillips, William Thomas, Mrs. M. E. Allen, Oscar Burgess, John Courtney, Samuel Dawson, Frank Eley, Wm. B. Padden, L. Schonerz, S. J. Matthews, postmaster.

Atterton & Sutton will reopen their store in the Edwards building on Main street, Blakely.

Miss Gertrude Davis left yesterday for Binghamton, to spend a few weeks.

Mrs. F. J. Thomas and Mrs. T. L. Williams visited Dickson friends on Wednesday.

Mrs. Daniel Jones, of Wales; Charles Mitchell and Mrs. E. Vizard, of Kingston; were the guests of Mrs. William E. Griffiths, of Susquehanna street, yesterday.

Miss Lizzie Evans, of Pittston, is visiting friends at this place.

Henry L. Williams, of Hill street, has returned home after spending six months in Wales.

Mrs. Daniel Jones, of Scranton, visited friends at this place yesterday.

C. H. Blockberger is quite ill at his home in Blakely.

ARCHBALD.

Mrs. C. H. Gerbig has returned from a visit with relatives at Metuchen, N. J.

T. W. Lotus was a caller at Honesdale, Wednesday.

P. F. Brogan spent Wednesday evening in Forest City.

Mrs. Henry Nemyer, of Scranton, is visiting relatives in town.

Miss Margaret Cooleman was a caller in Carbondale Wednesday evening. The teachers of Daisy Memorial kindergarten entertained at a mothers' meeting Wednesday afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served and all had a most enjoyable time.

The Ladies' Aid society of the German church had their usual monthly meeting yesterday afternoon.

TAYLOR.

The pastors of the Taylor churches are preparing for the usual Thanksgiving services next Thursday week. It has been suggested that a united service be held.

The annual conference of the Women's Home Missionary society, of the Methodist Episcopal church, is being held at Scranton today. A number of delegates from the local Methodist Episcopal church will attend.

The teachers of the borough school will hold their regular weekly meeting this afternoon at No. 2 school building.

The choir of the Cavalry Baptist church will meet this evening for rehearsal. Every member is required to be present.

The employees of the Taylor, Pines, Archbald, Holden, collieries, and Taylor washery will receive their semi-monthly pay for the latter part of October tomorrow.

Miss Loretta Mullerlin, of Main street,

THE ESQUIMO

The Esquimo eats blubber. The lumbermen eat pork. These people are constantly exposed to cold and physical strain. Experience has taught them that fatty foods give warmth and nourishment.

For those who have cold and thin bodies, or are threatened with consumption or any wasting disease, there is no fat in so digestible and palatable a form as Scott's Emulsion. Physicians prescribe it.

*We'll send you a little to try, if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, 408 Pearl street, New York.

PUTTING IT STRONG

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable?

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as it first appears.

The trouble with Dyspepsia is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extreme or else deluging the already overburdened stomach with "bitters" "after dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now how can the stomach become rested, re-created and at the same time the body nourished and sustained.

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy, but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merit.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach.

The sufferer from Dyspepsia according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your Dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, take 1500 grains of food, such as eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made because the much-abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia, none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

Thanksgiving Napery

Every housekeeper is ambitious to present a handsome table for her guests, and the foundation of attractiveness is nice linens.

Finest Scotch, Irish, German and Belgium Damask Cloths in all sizes with napkins to match, if desired. Carving Cloths and Doilies. Tray Cloths and Center Pieces. Handsome hand-embroidered lunch cloths, bureau, stand and table covers.

Embroidered Bed Spreads, with shams to match.

Women's Tailored Suits

The dress idea rules everything this season—even tailored suits; and that explains why so many graceful blouses are used for jackets and why they are trimmed in so many dainty, pretty, feminine ways.

Broads and silks. Zibeline suits. Shaggy Scotch mixtures and loosely woven stuffs. Cheviot suits. Prices, $10 to $100.

Soft Wools for Evening

All the lovely soft colors that are worn so much this fall—tans and browns, blues, grays and reseda green, white and soft evening tints.

All-wool batiste, albatross, silk-and-wool beltonne, lawn-down, crepe de chine, crepe gaufrage, cashmere, henrietta, serge, whipcord, Bedford cord, printed cashmires and challis.

These are the names of stuffs that are being made into dinner gowns, evening dresses and house dresses by fashionable Scranton. You will notice that all of them are the sort that cling, that tuck and pleat beautifully, that have in some way a characteristic, strongly marked, of their own, which you don't find ordinarily in evening stuffs.

Men's House-Coats

$5 each—Nearly all exclusive styles.

Tailors made these coats; good tailors; tailors who make men's clothing. Many housecoats are thrown together by girls—sewed, not tailored. None for us, thank you!

Variety is growing less; sizes in some styles scarcer. Come today, if you can.

Women's Handkerchiefs

Plain handkerchiefs beginning at 10c. for women are good enough for every-day.

At 25c. there are two kinds. One is known as the sheer and the other as the heavy, and the heavy looks to be a great deal better quality, but it isn't. The difference is that the thread in the sheer is twisted harder than in the heavy. They are about 10c. better than usual 25c. handkerchiefs.

The comparison between the 50c. and 25c. sheer and the 50c. and 25c. heavy is so plain that any one can see it. The 50c. handkerchief is worth more than double the 25c., and the hemstitching is done by hand. No wonder they are so dainty—the linen and work are both French.

Men's Bath-Robes

The best kinds from abroad, and our own make of blanket robes—no one being to go into this business as we do.

Which means no one has the variety, or such low prices.

A new range of Bath Robes come in beautiful light colors of cotton cheviots and heavy mercerized fabrics ranging in price from $4 to $10 each.

Wool Robes, $4 to $12.

Fall Trip to New York.

New York is interesting wherever you visit it, but the fall days in the great city is always delightful. The parks are at their best. The theatres have attractions which time have made perfect. The stores show a wealth of new and up-to-date merchandise, and the weather is comfortable.

Old Fifth avenue, the pride of the city, is one of the features no visitor should miss, and Central Park and Bronx Park will interest everyone.

No matter where you go, something worth seeing will be found and for a place where the hours are like minutes, New York leads.

A trip to New York does one good, and the opportunity to visit New York under favorable circumstances comes on November 26, when the New Jersey Central runs its Fall Excursion to the great city. Tickets are good going on any train on above date, and good to return to and including November 29. The rates have been reduced, and for further information consult your local ticket agent.

SECOND CASE FOR THE HAGUE.

High Peace Court to Pass Upon House Tax Case.

The United States is given high praise by leading European journals for having been the first to utilize The Hague tribunal, in the Pious Fund case. A second and very interesting case is on its way to The Hague, in which four nations are directly interested. This is the case of the "house-tax" imposed by the Japanese government upon foreign residents, and contested by them on the ground that the exemption of their land from taxation, under treaty and other arrangements, carries with it the exemption of whatever buildings stand upon it.

The Japanese government, on one hand, and Great Britain, France, and Germany, representing their subjects in Japan, on the other, have asked The Hague tribunal to interpret the treaty.

See the Cut Man.

Effective and attractive half-tones and line cuts for card, advertising or any other purpose, can be secured at The Tribune office. We do work that is unexcelled, do it promptly and at lowest rates. A trial order will convince you.

THE FLOW OF RIVERS.

Measurements of Interest Made by the Geological Survey.

The United States geological survey has recently made public the results of a series of measurements which the Division of Hydrography conducted in the physical aspects of their watersheds, the extent and manner to which their natural powers are utilized, and other information of value to engineers and water users. The report of the investigation of the New York streams is particularly full, an interesting feature being the results of measurements on streams in the Catskill and adjacent regions suggested as a possible source for the supply of New York city. Of interest also are the results of measurements of the streams in the West upon which depend the construction of the contemplated irrigation works under the new irrigation law. The water-power streams of Maine, the drainage from the vast watershed of the southern Appalachians, and the rivers of the Central states are all represented in the investigation.
