Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Tunkhannock, Nov. 23.-The ceremonies held on Friday afternoon in connection with the dedication of the tablets erected on the court house wall in memory of the Revolutionary soldiers who sleep in Wyoming county, were very impressive, and were attended by a large crowd of people from the different parts of the county. The tablets were erected by the local chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution, and the dedicatory exercises were held under the direction of the society. The tablets are engraved with the names of Revolutionary soldiers and finished in gold leaf. The presentation address was delivered by Mrs. James R. Platt, regent of Tunkhannock chapter, and responded to by W. E. Little, Esq., who accepted the gift to the county on behalf of the commissioners. The address of the day was then made by Rev. David Craft, of Angelica, N. Y., which was a scholarly and highly interesting review of historical incidents and reminiscences connected with Wyoming county, and the valley of the

The exercises were varied by the singing of a number of patriotic songs by the school children. The funeral of Mrs. Riley S. Atherton, who died on Wednesday afternoon at her home on East Tioga street, of consumption, took place at Forkston on Friday, where the remains were taken for interment. The village of Laceyville was incor-

"The Enchanted Fountain, which Ten Ichi throws around the stage, bringing it from a sword point, from the hair of his assistants, from fans, from a glass of water, and from all sorts of unreasonable places is the most remarkable act of magic upon the vaudeville stage. Tenchi is assisted by several Japanese mon formance is varied by more reasonable yet distinctly clever feats of magic done by his wife and daughter. This particular attraction has been heralded for months, and it fully realized every expectation."

"York State Folks" Tonight. Regarding "York State Folks," which makes its first appearance in this city a MOSCOW.

Wesley Biesecker, of Scranton, spent ast Sunday at the home of relatives fair sized audience last night at the Lylast Sunday at the home of relatives ceum theater. This play was heralded as one of the best pastoral plays yet produced. It has no wronged woman turned est country folk, while pretty love stories are unfolded. The most notable charac-teristics of these sturdy countrymen are quaintness, and simplicity, with simple bleasures and few wants, they live a life of ideal happiness.

"The company is exceptionally strong in 'York State Folks.' Ray L. Royce as Myron Cooper, the old village organist whom everybody loves, is especially commendable, for he gives a most life-like interpretation of the role. James Lackaye as "Simon Peter Martin." president of the village, could not be improved. His acting of the sign father and unclassive. of ideal happiness. acting of the stern father and unrelenting enemy, was so real that one could hardly believe he was acting. Marie Falls as Jennie, Mrs. Sidman as Emeline Hub-bard, and Millie Stevens as Mrs. Lyddy Stevens, deserve special mention, not for-getting little Ethel Johnson and Master Willie Gray, who handled their parts beautifully. The scenic investiture was splendid, especially the first scene in the the modern stage, is even surpassing its former successes the present season and The Christian' gives promise of holding prominent place with the theater patrons for many seasons to come.

The management of the Lyccum offers on Tuesday night "The Christian," which Liebler & Co. will produce with scenery eccessories and detail of production the same as heretofore and cast of well chosen artists.

all he mystified. With his thumbs tied dians made of "Mrs. Jack" a laughing tightly together, a ring thrown into the air fell over his arm to all appearances impassable. The mystery deepened when Ten-ichi strayed into the audiences and lack's and the Victoria theaters.
