STICK AND DIG AND SAVE

CHAUUNCEY M. DEPEW

These three words were used by this popular man in a recent address to young men.

Probably no one has had more opportunity of studying the various methods of making one's self in the world than this genial New Yorker who so ably represents his state in the senate.

He can't teach a young man how to "stick" and "dig," he must learn application and energy elsewhere, but we can help him to save by providing an excellent institution, and by paying him interest on his deposits.

ANOTHER CHOICE MADE.

Elmer Williams, of Elmhurst, Selects a Scholarship in the Lackawanna Business College.

Elmer Williams, of Elmhurst, who finished twenty-second in The Tribune's recent Educational Contest, has announced his choice of a reward to be a scholarship in the Lackawanna Business College. Mr. Williams sent the following letter to The Tribune yesterday:

Elmhurst, Pa., Nov. 26, 1902.
Tribune Publishing Company.
Contest Editor—Sir: Your letter at hand, I will select the scholarship in the Lackawanna Business college. I am very thankful to you and all my friends for helping me secure a business course. It is just what I wanted. Tomorrow will be the best Thanksgiving day I ever saw. With respect, I am,
Elmer Williams.

It may be interesting to our readers to know how some of those who participated in The Tribune's Educational Contest are getting along who have entered upon their studies.

August J. Kellerman is attending Keystone Academy at Factoryville, having entered on November 17. He expresses himself as being perfectly satisfied with his surroundings and his new life. He has for a roommate at the academy William H. Sherwood, of Harford, who is preparing for his entrance to Syracuse University, two years from now. The latter won a scholarship in the university in this contest and has planned to make electrical engineering his career, while Mr. Kellerman is preparing for the ministry.

Charles Burris, of Vandling, who has planned to study law and oratory, has entered upon the preparatory course which he selected in the Newton College Institute at Newton, N. J., he being the first of the contestants to enter upon studies, having started on October 31.

Leroy E. Stanton, of Scranton; Henry E. Collins, of Kizlers, and Harry Madden, of Scranton, selected scholarships in the Scranton Business College, and have each entered upon their courses.

Twenty-two of the thirty-three contestants have made selections. It is expected that the other eleven contestants will have their turns at choice soon and the entire list will be cleared up shortly.

The following letter from Henry E. Collins was received some time ago, but unfortunately was mislaid:

Kizlers, Pa., Oct. 30, '02.
The Scranton Tribune.
Gentlemen: I wish to thank through The Tribune, my friends who so kindly assisted me in your late contest.

I also wish to thank The Tribune for affording such an excellent means of obtaining a higher education for young people.

I also wish to thank the Contest Editor, who has shown so much kindness to the contestants. Wishing you continued success, I remain,
Yours very truly,
Henry E. Collins.

HEARING IN LOUGHLIN HABEAS CORPUS CASE

Judge Edwards Made an Order for the Removal of the Relator to His Home.

There was a hearing before Judge H. M. Edwards yesterday in the Edward Loughlin habeas corpus case and later in the day the judge made an order for the removal of Loughlin from the Scranton Private hospital to his home in Green Ridge.

Loughlin is suffering from a stroke of paralysis and was taken to the hospital at the instance of his brother. His grand niece, Miss Minnie Smith, who has been his nursekeeper for five years, secured the writ of habeas corpus with a view to having Loughlin returned to his home. Dr. J. E. O'Brien and Dr. M. H. Quinn testified that they examined Loughlin yesterday at the hospital. He is unable to speak but his mind seems to be clear and when they asked him if he wanted to go home he nodded his head to signify that he did.

Miss Smith testified that she has visited Loughlin almost every day since he was taken to the hospital and that in response to her questions he had frequently indicated that he wanted to be taken to his home. Anthony Long and George Long, neighbors of Loughlin, testified that he always had a great aversion to hospitals and had often said he never wanted to be taken to any of them. This closed the evidence for the writ.

Thompson and Dr. Arndt were then called and testified that in their opinion Loughlin's condition is such that he cannot express an intelligent opinion concerning what he wants done. Former Judge J. W. Carpenter and Attorney E. H. Shurtliff appeared for legal assistance at Scranton, N. J., and Court against it. Later in the day after Judge Edwards had announced his decision in the case, Loughlin was removed from the hospital to his home.

The order made by Judge Edwards in the case follows:

The testimony in this case convinces me that under the circumstances existing at the time, it was a prudent act to remove Edward Loughlin to the hospital. Nor can there be any question as to his receiving excellent care at the hospital. Nevertheless he has the means to be well taken care of at his own home and I believe it is his desire to go home. It is his right and the hospital authorities remove the said Edward Loughlin to his own home. The removal to be under the personal supervision of Dr. Thompson, the respondent. It is proper that the costs of these proceedings and of relator's removal should be paid by the respondent.

WEEK'S LIST IS EXHAUSTED

LAST CASE TRIED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Jurors Not Doing Duty on Cases Were Discharged from Further Attendance—Case of Simon Hinerfeld Against Sergeant of Police C. W. Ridgway Was Tried Before Judge Newcomb—Hinerfeld Wants $5,000 Damages, Alleging That He Was Arrested Without Warrant.

The list for this week was disposed of in common pleas court yesterday, and jurors not doing duty in cases on trial were discharged from further attendance for the week.

Just before noon yesterday the jury in the case of Mrs. Ida Campbell against L. A. Lange and others, which had been out since the day before, reported that an agreement between the members of the jury was impossible, and the action in assumption of H. A. Deppy against Jennie Brifik was continued.

The appeal of Nolan Bros. against E. S. Paek, executor, and others was reported settled and off the list. The wage case of Elizabeth Lee against George Frumer was also reported settled, and the action in assumption of H. A. Deppy against Jennie Brifik was continued.

Yesterday morning the case of William Zuercher against the Scranton Railway company was given to the jury, but an agreement had not been reached up to adjourning hour. When the case of James Campbell against the Scranton Railway company was called for trial there was no appearance on the part of the defendant, and a non-suit was granted.

Cohen Did Not Appear.

The case of William Mosevitch against Louis Cohen was called before Judge Kelly. The plaintiff said he was employed by Cohen as a clothing salesman, at a salary of $10 per week. After the first week Cohen dismissed him and refused to pay the week's wages. There was no appearance on the part of Cohen and a verdict for $10.85 was returned in favor of Mosevitch.

By agreement a verdict of $190 was taken in favor of the plaintiff in the action brought by the Porter Milling company against Goodman & Weiss. The suit of O. A. Spencer against Kate McDermott, an appeal, was reported settled, and the action in assumption of George W. Jenkins against the city of Scranton, to recover salary due him as collector for the city, was referred to Attorney M. W. Lowry.

In the suit of Hicks & Johnson against Henry Shaffer, a verdict for $89.37, the full amount of the claim, was returned. There was no appearance for the defendant.
