SERMON TO MAGYARS.

Delivered by Rev. S. C. Logan at Dedication of the New Church at Throop on Thanksgiving Day.

The following sermon was delivered by Rev. S. C. Logan at the dedication of the new Magyar church at Throop, on Thanksgiving day, Text, Psalm 84, "How amiable are thy Tabernacles, O Lord of Hosts." * * * Oh, truly, it is a lamentable po-sition when we knew that our calling is a social relationship. Our rejoicing is greater if there is some one to rejoice with us, our pains are less and our hearts get filled quicker if we have some one to cheer us and make us acquainted with the balm of gilead. Our religious standing will also gain expression from our social relations with each other.

Our faith is growing stronger it we set others believe with us. Our hope will no diminish when we see others hoping with us. Our love will get more noble and warmer if we are eye-witnesses of the fact that loving human hearts are hastening to remedy the social standing of the weaker elements of their fellow nen and bind up their broken hearts. losed doors in secret and call upon the Lord, for there are instances in the hu-man life when during such supplications the true Christian after the manner of King David, the Psalmist's, saying, "My soul longeth, even fainted, for the courts of the Lord, my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God." Your souls are also yearning for the Lord's green, cool pastures, knowing the fact that in this land where God has given us room to make our home in, who are strangers just like the Jews were in Egypt, and where sometimes through our misunderstandings our hearts made to feel sadness often times perhaps on account of our customs we are put to open criticism and persecutions from step to step we are made to feel by something or another that our cradle did not rock us in this land. Step by step we are made to realize that this world is not our country, that we are only a swimming island in the ocean of humanity, tossed to and fro by the high tide of the great ocean waves. What sweetened the Jews' bitter persecutions in Egypt? What quieted the bitter crying of their lips? Nothing less than the blessed thought that God liveth. What will sweeten the bitterness of our hearts in these days of our pilgrimage our sufferings, our cares and tolling in this world of vanity? Nothing less than the assurance of our hearts which gives us the inspiration of the words of the Psalmist. "How amiable are thy taberucles O Lord of hosts." How often you have looked up with the same thought your love to God? And you have given it your outward expression by building this house of worship for His praise. You have proven by it what your desire is to live by the altars of the Lord. Yes, this building is a proof of the love you have in your breasts a burning which could not be put out by the cold storms of life and the world's all manner of building for the glory of God will be a witness to the fact that you are nobly driving back those persecutions which come to you from the enemies' camp. I say with your noble deeds you will overcome them and those who have been sitting in the seat of the scornful will be obliged to say of you that your alm is heavenward; because most people judge us from the outward appearance of things just as we give them an occasion to do. It is not the question with the outside world what denomination we belong to, but how faithful we are to our profession as a matter of fact. Experione should forget, that is if you love God, your fellow men will love you.

Lastly, this building will be a witness to the fact that the Protestant Hunga-rian in America will always be true to his blood-bought heritage. It is a flattering fact that during the past ten years fourteen Hungarian Protestant churches have been built among us and by us. This is a sign that we are not going backward, but rather that the gospel light which we are trying to set a burning, is not to be put under a bushel, but is intended to light up all those who look to the time when those who do not notice us on account of their darkened hearts will some day let the glorious gespel shine into their hearts and find peace and rect to their weary, wandering souls.

For this three-fold witnessing I will say you shall be happy who have built this house of prayer, that you may feel this your happiness during the whole period of your life; and you surely will if you live in the courts of the Lord and Him alone you serve and praise continually. To be in the courts of the Lord, does not mean that we are to live and prayers we feel the presence of the in the church all the time, but it means that this kind of worship will not satisfy ers may see that we are what we profess to be and so live that our continuous living be such as if we would live in the church of God with the Lord himself the sale of beer and light wines in army post exchanges, Secretary Root is "convinced" that its general effect "lead the enlisted men to go out of the post, to frequent vile resorts which cluster in the neighborhood, to drink bad whisky to excess, and to associate intimately with abandoned men and more abandoned women; and that the operation of the law is to increase drunkenness disease of the most loath. some kind, insubordination and desertion, and moral and physical degener ation." The secretary, however, makes no recommendation on the subject, merely saying that the department re ports on the subject are ready to be sent to congress "whenever that body desires to consider the subject.

The Army's Strength.

One year ago the American army comprised 3,253 officers and 76,084 cnlisted men and cost $78,500,000. Now It Shirer, of Seranton, has been appointed is down to an enlisted strength of 59,866, the minimum under the law and will cost about $60,000,000. It is divided as and directors of the new bank are as follows: Cavalry, 12,249; artillery, 17,-742: infantry, 24,480; engineer corns, L. 282: miscellaneous, 4.122. The distri-Jones, Michael Bosak, J. The only armed forces now having to be maintained on ecount of the war with Spain are the Porto Rico provisional regiment, which Secretary Root advises should be disbanded, and about 5,000 Philippine native scouts.

Army Health Rate.

The health of the army has shown a continued improvement. The deaths from all causes during 1901 amounted to 13.94 per thousand, as against 22.74 during 1900. This large reduction of death rate was in a measure due to improved conditions in the Philippines, where the rate was reduced to 17.96 per thousand in 1901, as against 29.42 in 1900. The death rate from all causes during 1901 in the United States was 6.90 per thousand; in Porto Rico, 7.81; in Cuba, 5.29, and in the Pacific islands and China. The rates of admission to sick report for disease and injury and the rate of discharge for disability during 1901 agree with the reduced mortality rate in being considerably less than the corresponding rates for 1900.

The Army in Peace.

Seacoast Defences.

The continuing plan of seacoast defenses has been augmented during the year by the mounting of eight 12-inch. three 8-inch and twenty rapid-fire guns and thirty-four 12-inch mortars, making a total of eighty 12-inch, one hundred and twelve 10-inch, eighty-nine 8-inch, and one hundred and eight rapid-fire guns, and two hundred and

The progress of events and changes in ordnance and ship construction, since the Endicott board of 1886 determined pon the plan of coast defense along the ines of which we are now working have made it necessary to consider the defense of many points not considered by that board. Porto Rico, Culebra, naval and coaling stations in Cuba, and possibly the Danish Islands-all in a region made specially important by the prob-able construction of the Isthmian canal -Hawaii Guam and the Philippines and possibly the lake ports and the St. Law-rence river should be considered with reference to the construction of defenthe same way that the Endicott board considered our Atlantic and Pacific coasts. I concur in the rec-ommendation of the chief of engineers, constituted, like the Endicott board, of the secretary of war, the chiefs of engineers, ordnance and artillery, one high ranking officer of each of those branches of the service, two naval officers of of the service, two naval officers of and rendered by a double male quartotte high rank, and two civilians expert in that has become an immense bit where the subject of our foreign commercial ever this musical comedy has appeared The work was commenced in 1888: but college boys have it in their song books for the eight years which followed prior to 1896 the total appropriations for the ship among the art students in the Boconstruction of fortifications amounted to beming Latin quarter of Paris, where but $3,521,000, or an average of $440,000 a the scene of year, while for the last seven years, one" is laid, beginning with 1886, the appropriations have amounted to $22,236,000, or an averthe many possible of the many age of $3,176,000 a year, an annual in-lisical "Chaperons" that will be seen at

Out of the $58,000,000 expended for both classes of work, over $46,000,000 have been appropriated in the last seven years. The Endicott board last seven years. The Endicott board plan of coast defense contemplated the expenditure of over $100,000,000. Before 1896 we were progressing at a rate which would have required seventy years to complete the defenses according to the plan. Since 1895 we have been progressing at a rate which will finish the de-fenses according to the plan in fifteen years. With a half-finished work so recent and so rapidly pressed it follows necessarily that a formative process is constantly going on, mistakes are being constantly going on, inistakes are being made and corrected, new experiments are being made, new things are being the star in those pretty plays, "The Ivy learned and many difficult problems remain still unsolved. It follows also that neither the officers nor the men of the artillery have as yet had much oppor-tunity to become proficient in the use of the new weapons, and there is great need for practical instruction and trainng in their use.

Another reason why there is special urgency for the training of the artillery is the great preponderance of new and inexperienced officers and men. Before the Spanish-American war we had but five regiments of artillery. We now nave a corps which is equivalent to thirteen regiments, two regiments being added in 1899 and the equivalent of six regiments in 1901. Of course the major of the officers and the great majority of the men are new. Other Features of the Report.

THEATRICAL.

"Lost River."

Joseph Arthur's "pastoral melodrama" 'Lost River," was presented at the Ly eum theater on Saturday before large audiences. The piece had a rur of nearly six months at the Fourteenth street theater in New York last season.
"Lost River" is a rampant melodrama with a real bad man, a real bad woman, a manly, upright, courageous, handsome dashing, etc., etc., hero; a simple little country maid whom he loves; and a comedy relief furnished by a pair of juvenile lovers and a tramp quartette. It contains a surfeit of wishy-washy sentiment poured out to sobbling and tremulous music from the violins and a couple of sensational climaxes. The heavy follows the straight lead at the end of the first act on a bicycle and the leading lady follows both also on a bicycle. The heavy is going to knife the straight lead and just as he gets up to him and raises the glittering blade the him as a flash of lightning illumines the scene. The effect is worked out on the order of the chariot race scene in "Ben Hur" with a treadmill attachment and a moving panorama and fence in the back-Saturday night and refused to budge.

The fence missed its cue on The best comedy work in the production was done by Miss Jane Dore, who played the bad woman. She didn't mean to be funny but she was and the audience laughed heartlly at her. George Soule Spencer was the flandsome here and Miss Violet Rand was out of the picture as "Ora." The only really clever actor in the cast was Harry McRae Webster, who

The first part of the programme will be made up of selections from other operas, but the conclusion of the entertainment will be a complete production of "Cavaleri Rusticana" by a chorus of one hundre and twenty-five people. Here is what the Boston Transcript says of the recen performance in this city:

Day." The chorus is unusually large and contains some of the best looking young women that are seen in burlesque

"All the artists sang well. Take the case of Madame Blanchini-Cappelli. Much has been written about the lady's beautiful voice, dramatic acting and warmti lence of her singing, however, little men tion has been made. She sang the brutal quisite mezza voice, with as perfect a legate as though she were singing a Mo-zart aria, and she obtained overwhelmrare, or, at bast, rare in our country; dramatic soprano who knows how

"And the rest all sang well, if not quite so well. Schlavassi has that rare thing, a robust tenor voice that is still a tenor whereby this education is to be administered. The improving character of the army is shown by the fact that of 25.026 new enlistments during the year 89.5 per cont. Were native born.

a new edition of catchy melodies and a robust tenor voice that is still a tenor and not a high basitone. He sings with perfect case, in tune, with musical taste, and with great dramatic fetvor. It will be a great night for Scranton, and fusic lovers will be out in force
