members of the Scranton Liederkranz is to be repeated on the night of Dec. 15, in the Excelsior club house on Washington avenue, for the benefit of the ladies' society of the Madison avenue temple.

His Finger Lacerated. Charles Alford, of 221 Oxford street, a boy 16 years old, employed at the Allis-Chalmers company's Penn avenue plant, had three of the fingers of his left hand badly lacerated yesterday while at work. He has taken to the Lackawanna hospital.

Had to Be Postponed. The concert which was to have been given by the choir of the First Ridge Presbyterian church on Thursday evening in the Adams avenue chapel, near New York street, had to be postponed on account of the illness of the choir leader, Mr. Whittemore.

Didn't Steal the Ring. Edward Evans, of 416 Penn avenue, was arrested yesterday at the instance of Myrtle Hunt, of Schell place on the charge of stealing a gold ring. At a hearing before Magistrate Miller, Evans proved that he had only borrowed the ring and upon his furnishing it he was discharged.

Please Take Notice. The members of the First Presbyterian church and congregation are requested to note the fact that the services of prayer and praise to be held this evening, will be in the old church building, instead of the Young Men's Christian association. This change is made necessary because the room of the Y. M. C. A. is being painted and decorated.

ANNOUNCEMENTS. The Ladies' Aid society of All Souls' Episcopal church will meet this afternoon, with Mrs. W. H. Estabrook, at 47 Pine street.

COAL STRIKE COMMISSION. Bill to Pay Its Expenses Introduced by Mr. Cannon.

Money for the Anthracite Coal Strike commission is to be the first work of congress. Mr. Cannon introduced a bill in the house today to finance the commission and called a meeting of the appropriations committee for tomorrow to consider it.

The amount carried in the bill is $50,000, and is to be spent for the payment of such expenses as have been or may be incurred by the Anthracite Coal Strike commission in the performance of its duties, such commission having been appointed by the president to inquire into, consider and pass upon the questions in controversy in connection with the strike in the anthracite region and the causes out of which the controversy arose, and for such compensation of the several members of said commission, its employees and the two assistant recorders, as may be fixed by the president, such compensation to be paid notwithstanding the provisions of sections 1764 and 1765 of the revised statutes, or section 3 of the act of June 28, 1874.

A discharging agent for the commission is authorized in the bill, who is to discharge any and all responsibilities of the several members of said commission, its employees and the two assistant recorders, as may be fixed by the president, such compensation to be paid notwithstanding the provisions of sections 1764 and 1765 of the revised statutes, or section 3 of the act of June 28, 1874.

The bill was drawn in response to a request from the commission, written by Recorder Wright—Washington Star.

A FAREWELL DINNER. Tended to John H. Blackwood by His Washington Associates.

John H. Blackwood, of Washington, D. C., formerly city editor of The Tribune, was engaged by David Belasco to become the press representative of the season Monday night in Brooklyn. A farewell dinner was tendered to Mr. Blackwood Saturday night. A dispatch from that city says:

John H. Blackwood, who resigned the dramatic editorship of the Washington Times to become press representative for Mrs. Leslie Carter, was tendered an au revoir dinner at the Regent hotel last night by the local theatrical managers, fellow dramatic critics and others.

There were no set speeches or toasts, but each one present in turn contributed songs and stories. W. D. Rapley and E. P. Chase, who were unavoidably absent, wrote complimentary letters expressing their regret at Blackwood's departure.

Those present were: S. Alford, C. J. Columbus, William Fwyer, John E. Dahlgren, Charles S. Dennis, William E. Fox, Philander C. Johnson, William J. Kerns, Ira J. La Motte, Joseph E. Luckett, W. T. Powell, Harry N. Price, E. C. Scherer, Morris S. Schlesinger, Ned Stein and T. M. Reilly.

CHARGE WAS NOT PROVEN. Mrs. Annie Marowsky Found Not Guilty of Adultery.

Mrs. Annie Roberts, of 417 South Wyoming avenue, yesterday gave the arrest of Mrs. Annie Marowsky on the charge of adultery. A hearing was conducted before Magistrate Miller last night.

Mrs. Roberts swore that about six weeks ago she left this city for Johnson to visit friends, and declared that on the very day she left Mrs. Marowsky installed herself in the house and lived there with Roberts until last week, when she (Mrs. Roberts) returned home. Upon her arrival at her home, she says, she discovered that her husband had sold all the household effects to Mrs. Marowsky for $50.

Mrs. Marowsky took the stand and denied the charge. She admitted living in the house with Roberts, but denied that any improper relations ever existed between them. She was merely boarding there, she said, during the absence of her husband from the city.

The magistrate discharged the defendant, there being no actual proof to substantiate the charge.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE. Under this heading short letters of interest will be published when accompanied, for publication, by the writer's name. The Tribune does not assume responsibility for opinions here expressed.

Resolutions of Confidence. Editor of The Tribune—Sir: A special meeting of the members of the First Welsh Baptist church, North Scranton, was convened on Monday evening, Dec. 1, at the special request of the pastor, the Rev. J. V. Davies, for the purpose of hearing an explanation and examining documentary evidence with regard to the allegations contained in the answer filed by the Rev. W. F. Davies, to the libel charge brought against him by the Rev. J. V. Davies, and which is about to come before the court. After the explanation was heard and the evidence examined, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

NUMBER OF CASES TRIED

CRIMINAL LIST IS BEING MATERIALLY REDUCED.

On Account of the Illness of District Attorney Lewis a Nol Pros Was Not Entered in the Simon Thomas Case Yesterday—The Scranton-Finn Libel Case Has Been Continued—Court Orders a Bill of Particulars in the Ackerson-Smythe Case—Other Court Matters.

Very considerable progress was made yesterday in reducing the dimensions of the list for the week in criminal court. District Attorney W. R. Lewis was too ill to be in court yesterday and his first assistant, W. Cayford Thomas, had charge of the list and tried cases in No. 1. The other assistant, Louis Gramer, is trying cases in No. 2.

At the head of the list for yesterday was the case in which Wade M. Finn charges W. W. Scranton with libel. It was continued until the next term by agreement of the parties. A nol pros was to have been taken yesterday in the case of Simon Thomas, charged with bribery, the Municipal league having agreed to such action upon the payment of the costs by Thomas. Owing to the absence of the district attorney yesterday, that nol pros was not entered.

On account of the absence of Attorney John F. Scragg from the city the cases charging John J. Coyne and Peter Cannon with committing an assault and battery on M. J. O'Boyle were continued. Mr. Scragg's private counsel for the prosecution, Cases in which Constable Ira Mitchell is prosecutor charged Catherine Sturdykowsky with assault and battery, perjury and obstructing justice, and legal proceedings were also continued.

The case of J. H. Ackerson, charged with false pretense by W. F. Smythe, the directory man, has been on the list since last June and yesterday Ackerson's attorney, John R. Jones, asked the court to have it tried as Ackerson has a position at Allentown and is anxious to go there. The defense has asked for a bill of particulars, but owing to the illness of Mr. Smythe it has not yet been furnished. Judge Kelly directed that it be furnished by Friday and that the case be tried next week.

BEFORE JUDGE KELLY. Yesterday morning the jury before whom John Livingston and George Ryan were tried Monday for committing an assault and battery on Frank Whitesall and John White, returned a verdict of not guilty. Charles White who was tried Monday on charges of assault and battery preferred by Constable M. J. Gaughan was also found not guilty.

William Kilgallon was tried for conspiracy without a license at the place of Keyser Valley. The prosecutor, John M. Flynn and others testified that they bought beer and whiskey at Loftus' place. The defendant denied ever having sold anything to Loftus, but he runs a truck farm and keeps beer and whiskey at his place which he serves from time to time to the men who work for him. He never sold any, however. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and placed the costs on the defendant.

William Kilgallon was tried for committing an assault and battery on his aunt, Bridget Kilgallon. He lives at Carbondale and the prosecutor, Charles Spizer and J. J. Gaughan, asked that on Nov. 1 she was sick in bed and that her nephew entered her room and asked her for some money to buy tobacco. She refused to give it to him and he took her by the neck and pulled her out on the floor. He doubled the assault. He said his aunt scratched him and that thereupon he threw a pillow at her. He was found guilty of assault and battery and sentenced to a term of 30 days and to pay ten days in the county jail.

Stanley Mitchell, of Vandling, was convicted of the theft of $6 from John Geales' hat in the Tilton hotel on Lackawanna avenue on October 24, last. Geales had just arrived in this city and had been in the country only a few days. He went into the hotel to inquire where a friend lived who had a card, Mitchell said he knew the man and that Geales would have to buy a ticket to reach the place. He asked Geales if he had any money and the latter replied by putting his hand in his pocket and drawing out $6. Mitchell snatched this from him and left the hotel. Later he was arrested in the yard at the Delaware and Hudson station. He had the $6 and the card which Geales showed him on his person.

The defendant said that Geales was an old friend of his and that he had owed him $6 for some time. He met him on the way in the Tilton hotel. Andrew Krueha, an enemy of Mitchell's, saw the transaction, and when the defendant went to the Delaware and Hudson station to go to his home in Vandling, Krueha followed him and behind some cars in the yard relieved him of $6 and put the card containing the address of Geales' friend in his pocket. The jury refused to believe the highly imaginative story of Mitchell. He is sentenced to 30 days in jail. Superintendent Day says that Mitchell makes a business of buccinating foreigners who are strangers to the city.

P. A. Cannon decided not to prosecute Annie Medox for obstructing the execution of a legal process and a verdict of not guilty was taken and the costs placed on the prosecutor. When court adjourned Jerry Sullivan was taken up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Opinion in the Smith Estate. Judge A. A. Vosburg in Orphan's court, yesterday, handed down an opinion in the estate of W. W. Smith. He says, in part:

The executors under the will of W. W. Smith, deceased, presented their petition asking leave to mortgage certain real estate for the payment of the balance of debts, a schedule of which was attached to this petition. Opposition to this petition was made by one parties in interest, but after a hearing, an order was made allowing the executor to borrow twelve hundred dollars, which fund was to be distributed to the creditors of the estate of W. W. Smith, deceased, and the balance of the same to be paid to the principal debtor, and W. W. Smith the surety, upon the note upon which this claim is based. The revival was for the sum of $750.00 and costs, and was filed on April 13, 1901.

Objection is made to the allowance of this judgment as a charge on the land now before the court for distribution, for the reason that it was not included in the schedule of debts attached to the petition for leave to mortgage, but both in principle, and upon the authority of the cases cited below, which, while not directly in point, seem to sustain the defendant's contention. I am of the opinion that this judgment must participate in this distribution.

It is held that there may be an express ruling upon this question, upon which there is a singular death of authority. I hold that where there is a judgment of a court as to the real estate of a decedent, and in an application by the representative of the estate, for leave to mortgage the real estate, and the judgment is in favor of the mortgagee, the mortgagee is entitled to come in upon the distribution of the fund arising from said mortgaging, and claims payment thereon, and in the absence of the priority of his lien upon the land covered by the mortgage.

COURT HOUSE NEWS NOTES. The will of William H. Williams, late of Blakely, was yesterday admitted to probate by Register Koch. Letters of administration were granted to Reese and Martha Magee.

Justice A. A. Vosburg will hear motions in the law library room, on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The will contest in the estate of A. J. Merrill, deceased, will be taken up on Friday at 10 a. m. Justice Vosburg handed down an opinion discharging the rule for a new trial in the case of the Rochester chemical company against W. H. C. Co. The motion in which the company is plaintiff, was granted by the court.

Another damage suit growing out of the fire at the Tilton hotel in Washington avenue was instituted yesterday. Attorney A. A. Chase. The plaintiffs are Kate Caffrey and the other minor children of John Caffrey, deceased. The defendants are, as usual, the Scranton Steel company and the Wilkes-Barre and Scranton Railway company.

IS A SERIOUS MATTER.

The Most Serious and Fatal Diseases Arise from Indigestion.

Chronic indigestion or dyspepsia, while a very common trouble, has for some time been looked upon by able physicians as a serious thing, and that no time should be lost in treating it properly at the start, because recent research has shown that the most serious, fatal and incurable diseases have their origin in simple dyspepsia or indigestion.

Diabetes is simply one form of indigestion, the sugar and starch food not being assimilated by the digestive organs. In Bright's disease the albumen is not properly assimilated.

While consumption and dyspepsia are twin diseases, and it is beyond question that dyspepsia makes a fertile soil for the seeds of consumption. But the trouble has been to find a remedy that could be depended upon to cure dyspepsia, as it is notoriously obstinate and difficult to cure.

This has been the question which has puzzled physicians and dyspeptics alike, until the question was solved three years ago by the appearance of a new discovery, the medical world known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which it was claimed was a certain, reliable cure for every form of stomach trouble.

Physicians, however, would not accept such statements without first giving the new remedy many tests and carefully observing results.

For three years the remedy has been thoroughly tested in every section of the country and with surprising and satisfactory results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be honestly claimed to be a specific, a radical lasting cure for indigestion in the various forms of acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, gas on the stomach, too much bile, undue fullness of the stomach after eating and similar symptoms resulting from disordered digestion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were not placed before the public until this three years' trial left no doubt as to their value and they have recently been placed in the trade and can be found on sale at all druggists at the nominal price of 50 cents per package.

No extravagant claims are made for the remedy, it will not cure rheumatism, pneumonia, typhoid fever, nor anything but just what it is claimed to cure, and that is every form of stomach trouble. No fasting necessary, good wholesome food and plenty of air, and you may rest assured that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest it. Druggists claim for it that it is a pleasure to recommend it to dyspeptics, because it gives such universal satisfaction.

BEFORE JUDGE WHEATON. The trial of William Lisk, charged with selling liquor to a licensee in the Exchange hotel in Dunmore, on March 25, last, Sullivan was employed there and after the store closed that night he entered it through a rear door and carried off a package of liquor, wine and other articles. He was arrested while on his way to his possession. The Commonwealth rested just before court adjourned. Sullivan is defended by Attorneys M. J. and T. A. Donahoe.

HAS NOT GIVEN UP ITS WORK

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE IS STILL VERY ACTIVE.

Agent Wilson Explains the Reason for the League's Action in the Maloney and Thomas Cases—Men They Were Anxious to Reach Are Higher Up—They Wanted to Catch the Bribe-Givers—Still Much Work for the League and It Is Being Done.

"No, the Municipal league is not going out of business," said Robert Wilson, its agent, yesterday. "We permitted a nol pros, to be entered in the Maloney bribery case because we feel that his punishment has been more terrible than the law could possibly inflict, and as the Simon Thomas and Maloney cases are interwoven, we can do nothing else than allow that case to be nol prosred also, upon payment of the costs."

"We feel sorry for Maloney. He was but the agent of other men higher up, whom we had hoped to reach. When he was arrested we had a very strong case against him. He left the city, but influences that were set in motion brought him back, and Maloney left on the stand and made a clean breast of his relations with the councilmen and named the men who furnished the money. These were the men the Municipal league was really after. We wanted to reach the bribe-givers."

"Persuaded Him to Leave." "He had been back only about three days when men who stand high in the community persuaded him that it would be best for him to leave the city. They wanted to shield themselves, and they cared not what became of their unfortunate agent. Mr. Maloney left and wandered from place to place. Wherever he went he heard men talk of municipal and political corruption, and of men who had to leave home because of their participation in them. He felt he was pursued by detectives wherever he went, and gradually his reason was dethroned.

"Finally he drifted to Chicago, and thereon street corners made speeches in which he roundly denounced municipal corruption, and advised young men to beware of bad companions. He was picked up by the police, and when his condition was noted was placed in an institution there."

"His friends came to us and asked if we would consent to have him brought to his home, where under proper treatment it was hoped he might win him back his health and reason. We consented with the understanding that if he recovered the case would go to trial. His case was not prosred on these same conditions."

An Awful Penalty. "It seems to me that the penalty the men who were mixed up in the municipal corruption paid and are paying is something awful, and it is not right that the men who gave the bribes should walk our streets claiming the respect of this community, while the sufferers their tools endured is more than they could possibly inflict by sending them to the penitentiary."

"We have not finished our work in this community by any means. We are at work all the time, and because of our work in this city and county has been lifted to a very much higher moral plane than it was three years ago. There is much yet to be done, and we will try to do it."
