THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Dec. 19.—Today's stock market showed the mutual interest of the elimination yesterday of a very large short interest and the consequent influence. Yesterday's upward rush of prices also led to considerable realizing. The professional traders on the floor, appreciating this state of affairs, worked for a reaction all day and were rewarded in the latter part of the day by a sharp break in prices, which carried most of the market leaders generally below last night. Some renewed anxiety was felt over the Venezuelan situation, owing to the provisional nature of the reply from Great Britain and Germany to the proposition for arbitration. The forecast of the weekly bank statement did not promise as good a showing as was counted upon in the middle of the week and there was some selling due to disappointment on that score. London also turned seller in this market today, reversing the position of yesterday. Most of this selling, however, was purely arbitrage business, the advance here going ahead of London and allowing opportunity to cover sales here by buying in London. Published reports of a heavy flotation of railroad bonds of the Vanderbilt system in London attracted considerable attention this morning and contributed to a sharp rise in New York Central. This development promised such important results in the exchange market that it was accepted with avidity by bullish traders. Unfortunately the rumor that the Vanderbilt bonds were all unchanged on the last call.
