HE good cheer of Christmas must perforce include mince pie and plum pud. ding. Their pungent odors are the lure, which bring Santa Claus peeping down your chimney. They go with Christmas as closely linked as the burning of the yule log or the lighting of candles on the yew tree. To be sure of mince pie and plum pudding "like mother used to make" there is but one recipe-use NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT. Millions of women in the kitchen have found the merits of this famous brand of mince meat, and millions know of its incomparable taste. NONE SUCH is the perfection of prepared foods--clean, wholesome, zestful and delicious. Ten cents a package (enough for two ples, a plum pudding, a fruit cake or a batch of hermit cookies.)
