MARCONI STILL SUCCESSFUL

Reply Received to His Telegram to the Italian Minister of Marine.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Genoa, Italy, Dec. 26.—The following message was received today by Marconi in reply to his wireless telegram to the Italian minister of marine.

With every advance in his economic position, due to the interplay of modern industrial forces now vitally possible, disclose themselves, new sources of legitimate satisfaction make their appearance.

A study of the economic forces now at work thus justifies a reasonable optimism. The productive powers of society are increasing at such a prodigious rate that we need no longer apprehend a decay of general prosperity or of natural power.

There is to be no further irruption of the barbarian, because there will soon be no more barbarians. There is to be no domination of each nation in turn over all the others, because of the international diffusion of industrial agencies.

And within each nation while the rich are getting richer, the poor are not getting poorer. The creation of a more equitable because more perfect, competition through the development of the system of collective ownership, the more equitable supervision of monopoly; the recognition on the part of the legislator that lasting prosperity depends not only on the control of free trade, but on the gradual elevation of the laborer from a cheap man to a dear man; the coming social control of competition itself in a more equitable and hence really freer rivalry—all these will inevitably tend to secure to each class in the community its proper share in the national dividend.
