

UNION OF ALL CHRISTIANS

REV. THOMAS B. PAYNE BELIEVES IT IS COMING.

He Spoke in All Souls' Universalist Church Yesterday on "Forces Making for the Final Union of Catholics and Protestants"—Declared That the New Theology That is Unmistakably Creeping Into the Churches Is Leading Men to the Common Ground on Which Christ Stood.

In All Souls' Universalist church yesterday Rev. Thomas B. Payne spoke on the "Forces Making for the Final Union of Catholics and Protestants."

"Taking for my text, today, these words—'That they all may be one'—found in that wonderful prayer of the Master's, I want to ask, and shall try to answer, the question, 'where are they going to work in our present civilization having a tendency to bring the two great wings of the Christian church finally together again?'"

It is now about four hundred years since Martin Luther began that wonderful movement in Germany that resulted in splitting the Roman Catholic church in twain. For about a thousand years prior to that time, there had been practical but no organized body of Christ in the earth—the church of Rome.

It is now about four hundred years since Martin Luther began that wonderful movement in Germany that resulted in splitting the Roman Catholic church in twain. For about a thousand years prior to that time, there had been practical but no organized body of Christ in the earth—the church of Rome.

The ideal must forever remain a grand one. But the methods adopted by certain of his followers to secure that desirable result "make the blood run cold," as one recalls them. As it has been in days gone by, so it is today, the constant dream of Catholics and Protestants, and the one they may come when "there shall be one fold and one shepherd."

A good many intelligent and far seeing people in both communions do not believe that day will ever again come, and profess to believe it undesirable. For myself, I not only believe the dream desirable, but its accomplishment desirable. Some time in the far distant future there will be a union of all Christians, a union more perfect than the old one, and more lasting than the old one. But that union will bear no more resemblance to the union the average Catholic and Protestant pictures than the real Messiah did to the one the Jews expected.

The union the average Catholic dreams of is a union made possible only by the Protestantism to come. Catholics, with the word "Catholic" written in still larger letters, and the union the average Protestant dreams of is a union made possible by the conversion of all Catholics to Protestantism. In my humble opinion, such a union is not only undesirable, but will never come. Such dreams are but pride-inflated balloons that can never so very far or high. Time will prove them what common sense today declares valueless.

The Desirable Union. The only union of Christians that is desirable and practicable is a union formed by both Catholic and Protestant moving out and away from the artificial barriers each has erected against the other, and coming to a common ground, somewhere in God's Kingdom, there must be, indeed, cannot both Catholic and Protestant today at least see its object, and leave so. The day will come when it will be fully revealed to both. Of course, it will come hard to the extent, and set up his usual inflexibility, and some of his artificial and artistically constructed theological hedges; to the Baptist to give up his usual inflexibility, and some of his prayer book; the Presbyterian his "five points"; the Methodist his "free will" and "sanctification"; the Universalist his "universal Fatherhood of God." No, guess, the Universalist, must we not all admit it?—will have to be allowed to keep the corner of his own faith.

Now, such a union, is a beautiful thing to contemplate, is it not? Why shouldn't it be possible? To realize it, it is not only necessary that we should give up the articles in its creed that Jesus had nothing to say about. There will be found in the next week or two, an emphasis on "What were they? Love for God and love for man; purity, duty, service, sacrifice. Such a union is coming, dear friends, and the next week or two, you must believe it is coming.

Forces Are at Work. Can we see any forces at work in the world today that are bringing it nearer to us? I believe we can. Let me briefly point them out to you.

The ultimate union of all Christians is being actively and steadily promoted today by the teachings of science. Fifty years ago, to go no further back, there was no science as we understand the term today. Yes, text-books on Natural Philosophy written forty years ago, were out of date several years ago.

When I first began to study the natural sciences, the text books taught there were many forces in this universe, among which were light, heat, electricity, magnetism, for instance. Each was supposed to be a separate and distinct force. Today we know these forces are all different manifestations of one and the same eternal energy, filling the whole universe. It is the modern doctrine of "the conservation of energy," its teachings are against division, for that means antagonism, and that is the opposite of the dictum of science has already been eagerly embraced in the mechanical and commercial world. It is working itself out in our charities and philanthropies. The impact of its silent blows is being felt by our antagonistic theologies and warring sects.

The final union of all Christians is being brought in by modern literature. The poet and philosopher are first of all truth seekers and prophets. In a special degree they are free from the limitations and prejudices of smaller minds. They survey the universe from the mountain top of the ideal. As a consequence, their vision is not obstructed by their neighbor's fence.

Have Never Learned. Some men never learn what love is, they have determined to be spiteful. They are not content with the infinite power of the Almighty save the self could not have them. It is the modern doctrine of "the conservation of energy," its teachings are against division, for that means antagonism, and that is the opposite of the dictum of science has already been eagerly embraced in the mechanical and commercial world. It is working itself out in our charities and philanthropies. The impact of its silent blows is being felt by our antagonistic theologies and warring sects.

CAMP 430 P. O. S. OF A. DRUM CORPS.

The above cut represents a South Scranton musical organization formed over ten years ago which has its headquarters on Cedar avenue. The organization is better known as the "Bumpernickel Band," and has gained a wide reputation all over the state for their side-splitting antics while in costume. They will hold their Annual New Year's Ball Thursday afternoon and night in Music Hall.

scientist; she no longer declares there are no Christians outside of Rome, or salvation outside of holy church. For sixteen centuries Christians have been emphasizing the "trinity," the "unity," "papal infallibility," "inerrant total depravity, everlasting punishment, Episcopacy and Congregationalism. The new theology emphasizes love to God and love to man, and says to men, like your Master, "go about doing good."

WORKING AGAINST THE CATTLE DISEASE

Dr. Salmon, Chief of United States Bureau of Animal Industry, Issues Statement.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Dec. 28.—Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of the United States bureau of animal industry, has issued a statement regarding the prosecution of the work of exterminating the foot and mouth disease, and especially in answer to the efforts of certain persons who have systematically tried to work up a sentiment against the killing of the herds affected. He says:

"We are obliged to face the fact that there are only two courses to pursue. Either the diseased animals must all be killed off and the contagion stamped out immediately, thus relieving the state quarantine restrictions at the earliest possible moment, or we must try to contain and watch the disease and by quarantine to prevent its spreading."

"How long the quarantine would be prolonged in that case, and how much the efforts of certain persons who have systematically tried to work up a sentiment against the killing of the herds affected. He says: "We are obliged to face the fact that there are only two courses to pursue. Either the diseased animals must all be killed off and the contagion stamped out immediately, thus relieving the state quarantine restrictions at the earliest possible moment, or we must try to contain and watch the disease and by quarantine to prevent its spreading."

"At the present time 1,300 head of cattle have been slaughtered in Massachusetts, and if the work goes on, as it should, with continued co-operation from the state officials and with a friendly public sentiment, all of the known infected herds should be killed and disposed of within the next week or two. There is every reason to believe that this will be accomplished."

AMERICAN CONTROL FEARED. German Merchants Dread Yankee Supremacy in Venezuela.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Berlin, Dec. 28.—The Lokal-Anzeiger's Caracas correspondent says: "President Castro is one of the few Venezuelans who do not distrust the Yankees. Minister Bowen has his confidence fully. The German wholesale merchants would regret arbitration if it leads to American financial control instead of international. Some of them have declared emphatically that if American control is established it would be better to transfer their business relations forthwith from Hamburg to New York. President Castro plans confiscating the property of British, German and Italian subjects whenever the blockade exhausts his resources."

The foreign office officials here decline to indicate what Germany will do regarding President Castro's reported demand that the powers raise a loan to blockade and restore the Venezuelan fleet before Venezuela will accept the Hague arbitration.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Hot Springs, Ark., Dec. 28.—Responsibility for the explosion which occurred in the Turf Exchange pool room, Wednesday and resulted in the death of William Helwig, of this city, and C. R. Donnelly, of Chicago, and injuries to more than forty persons, was charged to several persons last night by the coroner's jury, which held an inquest over Helwig's remains. The jury returned the following verdict: "We, the jury, empaneled to investigate into the cause and manner of death of William Helwig, find that the cause of his death in the explosion caused by the careless handling of high proof gasoline in the Turf Exchange pool room and that the responsibility of the explosion is on the Arkansas Power Oil company, the Arkansas Light company, and Leo Mayo and Edward Burke, of New York, proprietors of the pool room, each being responsible through their employees."

Theatrical.

"San Toy."

One of the most delightful of musical comedies is "San Toy," which was presented at the Lyceum Saturday afternoon and night. It was seen by audiences that taxed the capacity of the house. "The book of the comedy is bright, the music inspiring and the comedy discreet. Miss Isabel Hall made a big hit as San Toy. She is a charming young woman with a voice admirably suited to the role she sings. Miss Nellie Lynch as Dudley, the maid, and Samuel Collins as Li, carried the burden of the comedy and did it with an ease that showed how truly they are at home in that line of work. Hobart Snook, a fine manly looking fellow with a robust, well trained burlesque voice, sang the role of Captain Bobby Preston. His "Tommy Atkins" song was one of the hits of the performance. Other excellent members of the company were George K. Fortescue as Yen Hoo, a mandarin; Savory Lambert as the emperor, and Miss Norah Lambert as Poppy. The chorus was made up of splendid voices. Few musical comedies are as richly costumed as "San Toy."

Seats for "The Wilderness."

A very interesting member of Charles Frohman's Empire Theater company who appears in "The Wilderness" is Mrs. W. G. Jones. She is sixty-three years of age and her stage experience covers nearly half a century. She has in her time played many parts, ranging from Shakespeare's classical heroines to characters in the lighter forms of the drama. Another estimable old actress in this company is Mrs. Thomas Whiffen. For years she has been associated with the best stock companies, notably with Daniel Frohman's Lyceum Theater company. The dean of the male part of the company is that fine old actor, W. H. Compton, whose polish and charming method as a comedian might serve as a model for any actor in the business. "The Wilderness" will be the attraction at the Lyceum on Wednesday evening. Sale of seats opens this morning at 9 o'clock.

The New Year's Attraction.

James O'Neill, who is touring the country in Hall Caine's "The Manxman," heard for the first time recently, a story on himself that took him back to the most picturesque incident in his stage career. Mr. O'Neill is proud of the fact that he is the only actor in America who ever assumed the role of Jesus Christ. It was in the Salmi Morse "Passion Play," which was produced in California at a religious festival many years ago. Mr. O'Neill did it reverently, and was supported by the clergy of the coast in his interpretation. There were some who took the event in lighter vein, however. One of those was the late Dion Boucicault. Mr. Boucicault sat in a box and watched the performance intently. After it was over William Seymour, now a well-known stage director, said to him, "Wasn't O'Neill great?" "Great!" said the noted playwright. "Jesus of Nazareth—James O'Neill—same initials. Why shouldn't he play the part well?" James O'Neill will present "The Manxman" at the Lyceum New Year's matinee and night. Seats on sale Tuesday at 9 a. m.

Orange Groves Nipped. Coldest Day of the Season in the South.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 28.—Last night was the coldest of the season so far, the thermometer reaching 24 here and 30 at Tampa, with a killing frost. It is feared that young orange trees are killed or badly hurt, as the prevention of winter weather had kept sap in the upper limbs. There is considerable fruit yet in groves, and in some sections this may be hurt considerably.

Special Matinee Today.

Happy New Year is the greeting to all persons of the Academy of Music by the Gibneys, who will begin a week's engagement with the presentation of "Prince of Liars" at a special matinee this afternoon. Tonight the offering will be "Woman in Black," a play of machine politics, love and hypnotism, with a splendid plot, interwoven with excellent comedy, exciting climaxes and situations, it has special scenery and electrical effects, and a company of people who can act, and are considered by critics in every town visited, the best acting company that has ever appeared in a popular price play; besides this, the Gibneys carry a specially selected cast of clever high-

Miner's Bohemians.

The entertainment afforded by T. W. Miner's Bohemians, which comes to the Star today, has met with unstinted praise in all the principal cities. This season's production entitled "A Bohemian Beauty" is in three acts and comprises a comedy, carefully selected without regard to expense and while beautiful of face and form has not been eliminated from the female ranks of the company, every artist has a reputation. Of the comedians, the same can be truthfully said.

STAGE NOTES.

Josephine Hall has held over more to the theatre, appearing in the title role of "Miss Knickerbocker." "The Chinese Honeycomb" will remain at the New York Casino until next June, when it will go to Chicago for a run during the summer months. A special from New York says that Congressman Harvey D. Sullivan and George Kraus, the owners of the Doney and Savoy theaters in that city, announced last Monday night that they will build another vaudeville and burlesque house in the big metropolis at a cost of $30,000. An epidemic of mumps has been playing havoc with the feminine portion of the company playing "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" in Philadelphia. Twenty-eight of the company, principals and choruses, including the entire cast, are suffering during the last week. Reports from Rochester are to the effect that Henry Miller scored the hit of his stellar career when he presented for the first time on any stage Richard Harding Davis' "The Taming of Helen" in that city. A special from London says that Alfred Austin, the poet laureate, has written a play on the subject of the battle of Flodden for the English actor now in this country playing "The Only Way." A cabaret from London says that King Edward, the English actor now in this country playing "The Only Way," will soon be knighted by King Edward. Mr. Harvey's sustenance prevented the honor being bestowed on him at the coronation. If he could have come here as "Sir Martin Harvey," it might have made a difference in business.

While presenting "Mrs. Jack" in her home town, Terre Haute, Ind., Alice Fisher was presented with a beautiful loving cup last week by her close friends and schoolmates. A reception was held at the hotel after the play.
