THE PACIFIC COAST.

More thorough explorations have shown that the coast of California and Oregon are not as destitute of harbors as was formerly supposed; and the country along the coast, proves to be better than has been heretofore represented. A letter from San Francisco says—"The coast to the north is also still attracting a good deal of attention; and the large agricultural and gold bearing regions, lying between Bodega and the line of Oregon, and extending from the coast to the Sacramento, is rapidly coming into notice, and filling up with a permanent and thriving population. Indeed, for the purpose of agriculture and grazing, as well as for the production of timber, it is greatly to be doubted whether any portion of the west coast affords greater advantages than the counties of Mendocine, Trinity, Napa, and Colusi."

The section of country here spoken of lies between the Sacramento river and the coast. Fourteen steamers are now actively employed upon the Sacramento, the Feather, and the Yuba rivers. Several of them make daily trips between San Francisco and Sacramento. The country watered by these rivers is said to be prospering beyond all example.

From San Francisco to the mouth of the Columbia, is not less than six hundred miles, whether by sea or land. California extends north about half that distance—the remainder is in Oregon. So far as the intermediate country has been explored, it is reported to be for the most part, very good. The climate of Oregon is in the highest degree salubrious, particularly that portion lying south of the Columbia river. The same writer from whom we have quoted, says:—

"Oregon now, more than ever before, begins to feel the benefit of the great immigration.—From the Umpqua to Vancouver's Island, and from the coast to the Falls of the Columbia, and even beyond these latter, that territory is rapidly filling up with a most desirable population. The last steamer (California) which arrived, brought out over twenty of this class bound for Oregon, among whom I noticed J. B. Preston, Esq., Surveyor General, and Hon. Thos. Nelson, United States District Judge, accompanied by a party of eight or ten ladies, six of whom were sent out as teachers, under the auspices of that very useful society, for furnishing teachers, over which ex-Governor Slade presides.

"From all the means of judging which I have at command, the public at home seem inclined still to look with more lasting favor, upon Oregon than upon her younger, but more precarious sister California. And this, too, is perhaps not without reason. The multitude who make haste to be rich, sought the shores of this modern El Dorado, while those who would seek a permanent home, look to Oregon. I am more than half persuaded that to most who emigrate from the North, the latter is preferable. With its broad navigable streams, its ample tillage and pasture lands, its forests, fisheries, fruits, and its now excellent market, to be found for years to come in California. Oregon at present certainly offers great inducements to those who would there seek a home."

This accords with the views we expressed some time since; and all we read upon the subject confirms us in the opinion that Oregon, and not California, is destined to be the "Empire State" on the Pacific. Its prospective commercial greatness can hardly be overrated; while at the same time it seems to have within itself every element of wealth and prosperity. Looking at the wonderful course of events on that coast during the last four years, one is irresistibly impressed with the thought that Providence has reserved Oregon for a higher and more glorious destiny than ever fell to the lot of any people to fill—even to be the medium through which the light of civilization and Christianity will be poured upon the hundreds of millions of pagans and barbarians, who inhabit the shores and islands of that great ocean; to enter into treaties of amity and commerce with them, and to bestow upon them the rich treasures of literature and science contained in the English language.

Already, with all the difficulty of access that now exists, Oregon is fast rising into importance, and is a highly prosperous community. But let a railroad be constructed from some point on the Mississippi to the tide water on the Columbia, and immediately that territory will start upon a career of solid prosperity, such as the world has never witnessed. It will not be a feverish scramble for wealth, such as is now witnessed in California, but a sober permanent prosperity, founded on deep and substantial foundations—a combination of agriculture, manufactures, and commerce, sustained by illimitable capital, and guided by the best science and genius of this advanced age.

We firmly believe that such a road,—with one branch to California and another to Oregon,—would be one of the most profitable works ever constructed by man, as it certainly would be the most important in its influence upon the whole human race.

The time has gone by when a voyage by sea is considered preferable to a journey by land.—Railroads have achieved a great revolution in this respect; and as a proof of it, look at the project of carrying a line of railroads from Boston to the extremity of Nova Scotia, in order to shorten the sea voyage between the United States and Great Britain, and also the project of making Galway, on the western coast of Ireland, the entre-port for Great Britain, so as to cut off as much of the sea voyage as possible on that side. With such facts as these before us, how idle it is to suppose for a moment, that a railroad across the Isthmus of Darien, or a ship canal, could compete with a good railroad across this continent, for the carrying of passengers between Europe and Asia.

TYRANNY AND BRUTALITY.—An Austrian military officer, stationed in Italy, lately caused a boy of 13 to be flogged to death for killing his dog. It appears that the officer's dog was a big one, and that the boy had a little one; that the officer's dog attacked the boy's dog, and that the boy, in defence of his own dog, struck the big one with a stone, and killed him. For this offence he was seized, and ordered by the officer to receive twenty-five blows of the bastinado; but he expired under the seventeenth blow!—The account goes on to state that the brute who did this thing was afterwards set upon and killed by the infuriated father of the boy.

The affair has caused a strong sensation in Italy, and will form one item in the terrible reckoning to which the oppressors of that country will, if we mistake not, soon be brought.

RAILROADS AT ERIE.—The people of Erie are pertinacious in their efforts to secure a break in the gauge of the Lake Shore Railroad at that point. The New Yorkers are building their road from Buffalo to the State line, on the four feet ten inch gauge, and the Erie and North East Railroad Company has passed resolutions to lay down the rails on the six feet gauge, and have ordered two locomotives of that guage. The line west from Erie is on the four feet ten inch guage, so that if both parties persevere there will be two breaks within twenty miles, and another one at Dunkirk. The object of the people of Erie is, to secure the break in the guage, which must be somewhere, at that point instead of at Dunkirk. The continuation of the six foot guage to Erie would make that place the terminus of the New York and Erie Railroad, instead of Dunkirk.—As Erie has the best harbor, and has the game in her own hands, we cannot blame her for endeavoring to secure to herself all the advantages which the break in the guage will give.

DESIRABLE LOTS AT AUCTION.—To-day, at one o'clock, P. M., will be sold at auction some most beautiful locations for private residences. The lots are situated on the West Common, Allegheny, on what was formerly Western Theological Seminary property. They front on Ridge street, which is sixty feet wide, having the open commons on the opposite side of the street, thus giving a fine, open, airy front, which can never be obstructed, and which will in a few years be adorned with trees and shrubbery. Ridge street extends from the east side of West Common, in a nearly west direction to the Ohio river, and is now opening, and will soon be graded and paved. It will make decidedly the finest street in the city, being the most elevated, the ground descending from each side, and yet being of an easy grade. It will also be the most direct thoroughfare from the Ferries across the Ohio river at Temperanceville, to the Diamond of Allegheny. The city has ordered the water pipes to be laid on Ridge street, in front of the lots offered for sale, and as the interest is only required on the purchase money, we expect to see the bidding very spirited for this very desirable property.

CALIFORNIA MINES.

On Monday the steamer North America arrived at New York with $800,000 in gold, and on Tuesday the Empire City arrived with $1,800,000, making together $2,600,000.

We subjoin a few items from the Mining Intelligence.

Great Discovery of Gold!—Mr L. W. Taylor, from Shasta City, brings intelligence of some very important discoveries that have recently been made in Shasta Valley, found along the stream bearing that name. It appears that some packers were camping in the Valley over night, when one of them chanced to pick up a piece of gold worth some $10 or $12. This induced them to prospect the country, and the discoveries have been of a highly gratifying character.—One thousand acres of the valley have been prospected, all of which yield handsomely. The average is from 10 cents upward to the pan.—Five men who have been engaged there ever since the discovery, have made an average of $80 to the man each day. The depth of the diggings is from one to four feet.

Shasta Creek (or river, as it is generally termed,) heads in the western slope of the Coast Range, and is distant some eighty miles from Redding's Springs. The old route to the northwest mines was to cross from the Springs to Weaver Creek; but now the packer ascends the Sacramento higher, before he crosses the first spur of the Coast Range.

Shasta River is one of the tributaries of Scott's River, and the valley along the stream is said to be beautiful, widening out for several miles at different points. It is in one of these extended undulating slopes that the late discovery has been made; a slope in which several thousand acres of land are found. Already have one thousand acres been prospected, and the result has been such as will have the effect to draw thitherward a great population.

The diggings are somewhat peculiar, for all the earth contains gold, and from the surface down four feet to the bottom rock, extensive yields have been gathered. The gold is remarkably coarse, and it is in this that the peculiarity consists; it, however, has been found that where diggings were extensive the gold was remarkably fine, and distributed with a great deal of equality. In this valley the gold is coarse, yet it is distributed with some sort of equality throughout the region that has been prospected.

We have been informed that the poorest earth yields 10 cents to the pan. If this be correct, fortunes may be realized even out of this. The stream affords a copious supply of water, and it will be an easy matter to haul the dirt in carts and wagons to the water, where extensive machinery may be erected for separating the earth and gold. The jacks or more extended washers, will be able to wash 1000 bushels of earth in the same time that it formerly required to wash 100 bushels.

The Nevada Journal gives the following account of a discovery at that place:

Great Excitement!—Rough and Ready was alive on Wednesday, from the discovery of a rich prospect on Second street. The ground was all located as lots or streets, which have thus been occupied since the laying out of the town last fall. But one of our miners undertook to prospect the ground, and after a few hours' work, succeeded in obtaining four bits to the pan. In an hour afterward he "got down," and in the first pan obtained about four dollars in coarse gold! Like wildfire the alarm spread, and quick hurrying in all directions, the miners within sight and hearing poured in, like bees when the hive is attacked, with their tools and stakes. Some were on their way with provisions, and some of the most ludicrous scenes occurred. One had his hands full of fresh beef, and his anxiety to get a "claim," while he could find no place to deposit his "grub," was amusing. A carpenter at work near by, engaged in getting out a frame for a building, immediately jumped on to the very ground, belonging to his employer, upon which the house was to be erected, and "staked off" his claim with an augur, two chisels and a hand saw, while he took his stand in the middle of the lot, hatchet in hand, swearing that his claim was staked off, and had his tools on it!"

The Quartz Veins.—The Stockton Times gives some interesting statements of the discovery of rich quartz veins in the Southern mines. The editors consider that it has been satisfactorily established that the quartz vein will eventually prove an inexhaustible mine of wealth. They say that Dr. James Brown, a scholar and an able practical man, and Dr. Radcliffe, who have travelled through the southern region, making observations at all the principal points, have expressed this to be their opinion. Many of the gulches, it is said, are now supplied with water, and the miners are actually engaged in washing out the auriferous soil which they have thrown up.

The San Francisco Standard states that the quartz veins are attracting more attention every day, from the astounding richness which some of them display. One on Carson's mountain yields rock of which so large a portion is gold, that 103 pounds of the rock was brought to San Francisco city to be assayed, and yielded 36 pounds of pure gold, valued at $8,182 15; and Col. Cost, the naval officer who brought the pieces down, says there was between one and two tons of the rock taken out, all equally rich, and the vein showing no sign of exhaustion.

Quartz Discovery near Rough and Ready.—On Saturday last, a vein of quartz was discovered on Deer Creek, about two miles north of Rough and Ready, of great richness. It is supposed to be extensive, and is undoubtedly an out-crop of the veins now being worked about Grass Valley.

The Georgetown Diggings.—The numerous canons and gulches within an area of five miles of Georgetown, have generally paid well. Many of the canons, among others the Oregon and Missouri, have been worked over some half dozen times. The diggings were not thoroughly understood at the start, and surface washing was pursued by the miners. Afterwards, holes were sunk, deeper and deeper, until late experience has shown that shafts sunk one hundred feet, and then the system of coyoting adopted, is the proper mode for working that district of country.

Todd's Valley Diggings.—This valley, located about midway between the Middle and North Forks of the American River, is said to contain extensive diggings. We have heard of several cases where good yields were obtained, and a large number of miners emigrated to that point in consequence. There is an extensive district of country in the vicinity that has never been thoroughly prospected, which in time will doubtless be found to pay quite well. The valley contained some seven or eight hundred miners some eight months ago.

The Mariposa Mines.—A correspondent of the Stockton Journal, writing from the Mariposa, in speaking of some large pieces of gold recently found in that section, says: "The largest piece weighs fourteen pounds and seven ounces; the next is 48 ounces; and the next is 35 ounces, of pure gold. The first two are considerably impregnated with rock, though their intrinsic value is more than half their weight. The people have been doing remarkably well here for the last few weeks, and they are coming fast from all parts of the country."

I'D RATHER CARY IT THAN THAT MOTHER SHOULD.—Going from market the other day, we observed a very small boy, who gave no special indication, by dress or face of other than ordinary sensations or training in life, carrying a basket that was so heavy as nearly to bear him down beneath it. We observed "my boy, you have a heavy load." "Yes," said he, "but I'd rather carry it than that mother should." The remark was one of a nature we love to hear; but we do not know that we should have chronicled it, had we not seen across the street, a highly accomplished young lady playing the piano, while her mother was washing the windows. We have no reason for forestalling the reflections and comparisons of our readers on the facts.—Wheeling Gaz.

EXTRAORDINARY JUVENILE FREAK.—At St. Louis, lately, a boy 7 years old, who had been to witness a magician's performances, including the pretended cutting off and restoration of the nose of one of the audience, prevailed upon his younger sister to allow him to try the same operation with her, and in their mutual ignorance the cutting off was actually done with a large carving knife. The poor child of course gave vent to her excruciating agony in loud screams, which soon brought aid; but it was not until she had fainted a number of times from the loss of blood, that the nose was again placed in its proper position. It was thought at first she could not live, but there are hopes now of the final adhesion of the organ and her ultimate recovery, but with a frightful scar, of course.

THE NEW COSTUME—SCENE IN WASHINGTON.—There was a great crowd at the Capitol Grounds in Washington, yesterday, where, it had been rumored for several days, that five or six young ladies were to appear in the new costume. Ladies were there on horseback, and the crowds of all kinds of people filled every available place, which promised to give a look at the scene. The Republic says:

We never before beheld so many people assembled at a Marine Band Concert, and have seen fewer at the Inauguration of a President. The Band played on, but the music was not the subject of conversation. The Turkish dress absorbed all other topics.

At about six o'clock there was a slight movement in the enclosure where is erected the statue of Washington. The boys began to run, and in a few seconds a stream of men, women and children (almost out of breath) following hard after them. The scene was indeed exciting. It was thought by those in the rear that the long wished for Turkish dresses had surely come, for a little while at least, and were now rapidly receding from the public gaze. The boys led the pursuit, and flying through the farthest gateway, ran along the winding pavement towards New Jersey avenue. By this time the crowd in the area, near the portico, rushed in the opposite direction, as if to head the Turkish dresses. Although no such costumes were perceptible to any body, it was supposed that they were in a passing hack, the blinds of which were closed. But, without further continuing the story, the truth was subsequently declared that, near one of the fish ponds, the boys had started a rabbit, and it was this that they pursued, and not the Turkish trousers.

Subsequently, several carriages came in, and these were, in turn, surrounded by crowds of expectants. It is needless to say that there was a disappointment.

The Republic suggests that some benevolent ladies adopt the costume, merely to gratify the public anxiety.

GENERAL SCOTT.

Thus has General Winfield Scott been forty-two years in the service or his country, having made some of the most brilliant campaigns on record, and never failed in any undertaking.

THE POTATO DISEASE.—A correspondent sends to the Boston Courier the following recipe for the cure of the vegetable disease known as the potato rot, which may not be too late for trial at the present season.

What I propose, to save this esculent from destruction is Sulphur (Brimstone as it is usually called.) After the ground is prepared and manured in the usual way, put a table-spoonful of sulphur in each hill. Then plant your potatoes, and cultivate in the usual way. This is all that is necessary to insure a crop of good sound potatoes.

The theory of this is, that the sulphur gradually undergoes decomposition, and evolves gases which keep the potato free from this destructive animal. Good well rotted barn yard manure should be used for the experiment, but if compost is used, care should be taken that neither lime or ashes are in it, for if there is, the alkali of the lime or ashes will combine with the acid of the sulphur, and neutralize them, so as to be of no effect, either as a manure or a cure for the rot.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—Two men, near Fairchance Ironworks, in this county, were killed by lightning, on Wednesday, 28th ult., during the prevalence of a hail storm. They were engaged in ore-digging, and had taken shelter in the mouth of a coal drift, over which a beech tree and stump were standing. The lightning struck the top of the tree, which was dead, and pursuing it down to the green wood, glanced off to the stump, which it followed to its roots, and then down about twenty feet through a crevice in the strata of slate and coal, over the mouth of the bank. Their names were Abraham Childs and Moses Wilson.—Morgantown Democrat.

WM. GOODELL AND GEO. THOMPSON.—We were present when the following colloquy occurred between Wm. Goodell and George Thompson, at the late anniversary. We give it as it has been told to us. At the conclusion of the long debate on the stand, he ventured to charge the audience "not to spoil all they had done by voting at elections—don't vote."

Mr. Goodell rose, and said he wanted to ask the gentleman a few questions.

1st question—How was slavery abolished from the British W. Indes?

Answer, by Mr. Thompson—By Act of Parliament.

2nd question—How did those who passed that Act acquire a title to their seats in Parliament.

Answer—By the vote s of the electors.

3d question—Did not the British Electors, particularly the Methodists, demand of the Methodist electors, that they should vote, and vote for anti-slavery men, as a test of Christianity?

Mr. Thompson hesitated.

"I demand an answer," said Mr. Goodell.

Answer—Yes.

"That is all," said Mr. Goodell. (Immense applause.)

DISEASES OF THE LIVER.—Diseases of the Liver are becoming alarmingly frequent in the United States. Indeed there are few formidable diseases which are not connected in one way or other with a deranged state of that important organ. Many of the complaints which are usually classed under the head of consumption, have their origin in the liver. "Any remedy which would insure regularity and healthful action in the liver, would be a blessing to mankind!" has been the exclamation of suffering thousands. That remedy has been found; it is safe and sure. When a fair trial has been afforded to it, it has never been know to fail.
Reader, have you any disease of the liver, or disease which you believe proceeds from hepatic derangement? Lose not a moment, but purchase a box of Dr. M'Lane's Liver Pills, and they will restore you to health. They are the only remedy ever yet discovered, whose use is certain to effect a cure. B. T. Babbitt's Celebrated Soap Powder.
WASHING without labor! Warranted to take the stains out of table linnen and napkins.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Put your clothes in a sufficient quantity of cold water to cover them, then add two tablespoonfuls of this Soap Powder, to each six quarts of water used with the clothes; if the water is hard, add more of the Powder, and boil them ten minutes; in the mean time press them down with a stick, then put them in a tub and add sufficient cold water, so that they will not be too hot to handle. Then rub the dirty streaks, or in other words, give them a thorough rinsing, and that is sufficient to make them clean.
N. B.—There being no rosin in this Soap, it will leave the clothes very white, and no bad oily smell, as some soaps do. The entire cost of the material used does not exceed two cents, to complete a washing of ten persons.—Warranted not to rot or injure the clothes.
This is a Powder that one paper will make twelve quarts best family Soft Soap.
DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Take, say six quarts of water and mix the Powder with it, and then let it boil, say five minutes, then add six quarts cold water; stir them intimately together, and set it away where it will not freeze, and when cold it will be very thick and nice White Soap, and will wash well, and will not eat the hands like other Soft Soap, nor rot the clothes. Can be used with hard or salt water, by making the quantity into six quarts instead of twelve. The Soft Soap is best adapted for washing calico and woollen goods.
Sold wholesale and retail by R. E. SELLERS, je7 No. 57, Wood st.

To the Deaf!
DR. HARTLEY, AURIST, from 64 North Eleventh street, Philadelphia, begs to inform those of his patients in the neighborhood of Pittsburgh, with whom he has been in communication, that he has, in compliance with their special request, made arrangements to spend a few days in this city. He may be seen at the St. Clair Hotel, from 9 to 3, for one week.
It would probably be a favorable opportunity for those suffering with Deafness, to call and consult the Doctor, as he is the only graduate of any of the Medical Colleges who has devoted his attention exclusively and successfully to the treatment of the Ear.
The following testimonials are submitted with confidence. They will show, at least, in what estimation his professional qualifications are held by some of the most distinguished medical men in the country:
"I have had the pleasure to meet Dr. Hartley in practice, and have been led to form a favorable opinion of his character, both in the profession and as a gentleman." W. PARKER, M. D., Professor of Surgery, &c.
"His professional abilities will be fully appreciated by those who place themselves under his care." JOHN H. WHITTAKER, M. D., Professor of Anatomy, &c.
"From my intercourse with Dr. Hartley, I have found his deportment correct and gentlemanly." VALENTINE MOTT, M. D.
Reference in Pittsburgh.—The visit of Dr. Hartley to the city, gives me an opportunity of offering my testimony to his abilities, and those who may be suffering from that disease to which his attention has been for some time specially and successfully directed, may rely on receiving from him such treatment as in all probability may result in a perfect cure.
