ARRIVAL OF THE STEAM SHIP

PROMETHEUS.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.

The steamer Prometheus arrived to-day, with dates from San Juan, to the 19th, and from Havana to the 15th inst. She brings 155 passengers, and $63,000 on freight, and $800,000 in the hands of passengers. The dates from San Francisco are to the 2d inst.

The Prometheus arrived at San Juan on the 15th, and found there the U. S. frigate Saranac, and the sloop Albany, also the English steam frigate Arrogant, sloop Calypso, and brig Express. The Arrogant had been despatched by the British Admiral of the West India station, with assurances to Com. Parker that the British Government entirely disavowed the acts of the British Consul, and Captain of the Express, in the exercise of any authority whatever in connection with Musquito government, or in interfering, in any way with foreign commerce. Friendly relations existed between the officers of the ships of both countries, and salutes were interchanged on the 16th; and Com. Parker was highly complimented by Capt. Robinson of the Arrogant.

The hoisting of the American ensign at the main, mast during the salute, was returned by the Albany by the British ensign, at the main.

Assurances were given by Com. Parker, that the difficulty relative to the whole Musquito question, was in process of amicable adjustment, and no doubt existed but that it would be speedily settled, to the satisfaction of all parties.

The Saranac and Arrogant would leave in a few days.

The U. S. ship Cyane, was expected daily from Chagres to relieve the Albany.

The Supreme Court has decided on Vallego as the Capital of the State, and the municipal officers elected in September are legally entitled to there posts. Stephen R Harris is ousted. The former Mayor occupied the office, and would commence to test his right to the post.

The Republican of this morning contains a dispatch from Parkville, Mo., which states that the town was thrown into great excitement by the arrival of a band of Delaware Indians from a hunting expedition. PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, Saturday morning, Jan 31.

The market yesterday was without any movement of interest. The ice and snow is fast melting away. The river, as yet, has been very little affected by the thaw, but if the warm weather continues, there is but little doubt if at we will have a break up, and an opening of navigation before many days.

BOSTON BOOT AND SHOE TRADE.—The Shipping List says—"But very little change in the market—There is rather more doing; but the severe cold weather has a tendency to check all active operations. New York and Philadelphia buyers are now here, and are beginning to buy, and from the western trade there is a fair demand and sales to them the principal sales of the week have been made. A smaller class of buyers are beginning to appear in the market. Prices have not varied, and a small advance on sole leather will have a tendency to keep up the prices of manufactures. When weather becomes more moderate, we look for a more active demand. The auction sales of the week comprise 1240 cases of boots, shoes and brogans, which were taken at the previous prices, term 4 months. The quantity cleared at the Custom House has been as follows—

For the week, cases,	1852	1851
Since January 1,	8,023	8,023
	8,760	9,094
Total,	17,291	17,091

—COUNTERFEIT—We were shown by Mr. Shepherd, yesterday, two bills purporting to be notes of the Bank of Ind na, each of the denomination, of $20, and well calculated to deceive The paper can scarcely be distinguished from that used for the genuine bills, and the shading on some parts of the bill is light. One was at the branch at Shelbyville, and the other at the branch at Indianapolis, but both are evidently manufactured by the same gang.—Cin. Com.

The Great Invention of the Age!—Steam Supplanted!—Gas Triumphant!

THE first half of the nineteenth century will be recorded as the age of steam. It has passed, and with it will pass the steam engine with the things that carry it.

The second half of the century will be known as commencing with the age of Gas, and dating from the 1st day of November 1851, for it ushers the world.

The age has now commenced and labor, and of human lives and suffering, secured by the use of this new agent, will materially insure for the next generation in all places where steam power is now used, and in thousands of other places where the great expense, risk and trouble of the steam engine have precluded its use.

The Gas engine can be applied to all purposes as a propelling agent, from the single horse power for the cotton gin to the two thousand horse power for the ocean steamer, with the expense of fuel required by the steam engine, of boilers and furnaces, fuel and firemen, and of the many accidents from the bursting of boilers. From 1 to 100 horse power (1,000 tons of the steam engine.

These facts are established by the experimental engine of twenty five (25) horse power, now working well at Cincinnati, and by the following letter from Professor Silliman of the 18th December:

"We are pleased to state that C. F. Salomon, late of this city, has invented a motive power by the motion of carbonic acid gas, on its application to an engine. The successful experiment of this invention, which has been made in the Aqueduct, of the same gentleman has secured another patent for the steering and propelling power.

Also, rights for the use of his "Improved Propelling and Steering Apparatus," for the smaller size of vessels, which gives the pilot such complete control of the vessel, independent of the engine, that he can by a single movement of the helm, bring the vessel to her proper course, and keep her there, as well as to steer her in any direction he may wish to proceed in the same or in different course.

Also, rights for his "improved Spring Saddle," for military and sundry purposes, designed for the greatest possible comfort at both horse and rider.

The gas engine can be applied to all purposes as a propelling agent, from the single horse power for the cotton gin to the two thousand horse power for the ocean steamer, with the expense of fuel required by the steam engine, of boilers and furnaces, fuel and firemen, and of the many accidents from the bursting of boilers. From 1 to 100 horse power (1,000 tons of the steam engine.

These facts are established by the experimental engine of twenty five (25) horse power, now working well at Cincinnati, and by the following letter from Professor Silliman of the 18th December:

"We are pleased to state that C. F. Salomon, late of this city, has invented a motive power by the motion of carbonic acid gas, on its application to an engine. The successful experiment of this invention, which has been made in the Aqueduct, of the same gentleman has secured another patent for the steering and propelling power.

Also, rights for the use of his "Improved Propelling and Steering Apparatus," for the smaller size of vessels, which gives the pilot such complete control of the vessel, independent of the engine, that he can by a single movement of the helm, bring the vessel to her proper course, and keep her there, as well as to steer her in any direction he may wish to proceed in the same or in different course.

Also, rights for his "improved Spring Saddle," for military and sundry purposes, designed for the greatest possible comfort at both horse and rider.

Any information in regard to the above invaluable inventions, and of obtaining rights, &c., may be promptly obtained by addressing

BOSTON BOOT AND SHOE TRADE.—The Shipping List says—"But very little change in the market—There is rather more doing; but the severe cold weather has a tendency to check all active operations. New York and Philadelphia buyers are now here, and are beginning to buy, and from the western trade there is a fair demand and sales to them the principal sales of the week have been made. A smaller class of buyers are beginning to appear in the market. Prices have not varied, and a small advance on sole leather will have a tendency to keep up the prices of manufactures. When weather becomes more moderate, we look for a more active demand. The auction sales of the week comprise 1240 cases of boots, shoes and brogans, which were taken at the previous prices, term 4 months. The quantity cleared at the Custom House has been as follows—

—COUNTERFEIT—We were shown by Mr. Shepherd, yesterday, two bills purporting to be notes of the Bank of Ind na, each of the denomination, of $20, and well calculated to deceive The paper can scarcely be distinguished from that used for the genuine bills, and the shading on some parts of the bill is light. One was at the branch at Shelbyville, and the other at the branch at Indianapolis, but both are evidently manufactured by the same gang.—Cin. Com.

The Great Invention of the Age!—Steam Supplanted!—Gas Triumphant!

THE first half of the nineteenth century will be recorded as the age of steam. It has passed, and with it will pass the steam engine with the things that carry it.

The second half of the century will be known as commencing with the age of Gas, and dating from the 1st day of November 1851, for it ushers the world.

The age has now commenced and labor, and of human lives and suffering, secured by the use of this new agent, will materially insure for the next generation in all places where steam power is now used, and in thousands of other places where the great expense, risk and trouble of the steam engine have precluded its use.

The Gas engine can be applied to all purposes as a propelling agent, from the single horse power for the cotton gin to the two thousand horse power for the ocean steamer, with the expense of fuel required by the steam engine, of boilers and furnaces, fuel and firemen, and of the many accidents from the bursting of boilers.
