trints; both are liberators; both are deserving Having done justice to Judge McFarlane, we now, in order to our own justification, proceed to show how we were led to make the remark of which he complains. As we frequently do not see the Chronicle at all, the letter of Mr. McFar. ane published in that paper never came under our notice. The first intimation we had of it was the following remark of the Chronicle, which called forth the comment from us, of which the above letter complains, to wit :

Breach character, and showed now that the road. acter has been debased by the joint operation of the road.
