

PITTSBURGH GAZETTE

From the Pittsburgh Gazette. Familiar Sayings, from Unfamiliar Sources.—No. 2. "The devil may die Scriptures for his progress" (Shakespeare).

In argument we always aim at carrying our point and not at the expense of truth. Sometimes we take a position in favor of against some disputed point, which admits of discussion pro and con, and in which we must be adjudged on our part to countenance what is strong against us, which may be as strong as to render us liable to defeat.
