THE LINGERING WINTER.

BY R. T. CONRAD.

"He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him."—(Psalm CXXVI. 6.

The snow flakes kiss the ploughman's crimsoned face;
He guides the share and turns the furrow still
With manly patience and with measured pace.
Nor heeds the Winter lingering on the hill.

The foamy flood, roary, sullen, through the vale;
The crow flocks tap the blast with labering wings,
The bare oak shivers in the northern gale;
But on its topmost bough the blue-bird sings.

It sings of Spring—the ploughman hears the song—
Of bridal April and of blooming May,
And, as he treads with sturdy steps along,
Hope, in his bosom sings the well-seme lay.

He hears the Summer rustling in his corn;
O.nd chase cloud across his heading grain;
The mower's scythe song greets the golden morn;
The soft eve welcomes home the loaded wain.

And Autumn's wealth, its pleasures and its pride,
His heart with joy, his ear with music, fill;
His plough he follows with a quicker stride—
Nor heeds the winter lingering on the hill!

Thus, to the Christian—wherso'er he roam,
Flaunting the Orient, Afric or the Isles,
Or the frost-fettered fields, alas of home—
A promised harvest mid the winter smiles,

Spring, cry and cold, the laborers faint and few;
The hard, rough globe, unyielding it to the share,
The shrill blast shrieks the leafless forest through;
But from on high, a voice dispels despair.

Before him the redeemed—Christ's harvest—stand:
And hosts with hymns of praise his bosom thrill—
His plough he seizes with a strengthened hand.
Nor heeds the Winter lingering on the hill!

HENRY WATERMAN'S PATENT HAMMERED SAWS.—The subscriber would call the attention of owners, and others, to this superior article. By his patent process of hammering, the saw is more thoroughly compressed, and rendered more durable. It is well known to machinists that the surface of hammered steel is the hardest part. Where saws are properly ground according to the usual method and hammered by this patent, it is necessary to polish them, thereby grinding off the most serviceable part of the saw. These saws are not polished, and only require to be sharpened. The subscriber has been put to the severest test in some of the largest Saw Mills in this vicinity, to which he refers, and will be happy to receive orders to execute orders for all sizes of Mill, Pit and Circular saws.
