THE PUNISHMENT OF CRIME.—The columns of our paper yesterday were burdened with the harrowing details of a cowardly and most vile murder, which had nothing to redeem it from the utter loathing and detestation of mankind. A few days previously the details of a poisoning case were given, in which three innocent children were the victims—being robbed of life in almost painful and distressing manner. Almost every week has its case of violence in our midst, so that we are in a fair way of obtaining a most unenviable notoriety as a city of blood and crime.

We cannot but think that the reason why deeds of lawless violence are so rife in our midst, is, because such crimes do not meet with a sufficiently speedy and certain punishment. In a great number of cases the savage perpetrator goes free to re-enact his bloody doings, and where punishment does slowly follow, the culprit through the interference of injudicious and inconsiderate friends, is pardoned by a too plicable Executive, and almost always gives society occasion to regret that an outlawed spirit has been turned loose to vent its revengeful feelings upon community.

There must be a stop put to these examples of misapplied Executive clemency, which are in most cases but outrages upon the important power placed in the hands of the Governor, or society will have cause to regret that it ever gave to one man the means of inflicting so great an injury. We do not, however, blame the Governor so much as we do those easy and most inconsiderate and dangerous persons, who are ready to sign every petition presented to them, and to exert their influence, for a consideration, or for ephemoral popularity, or for some political benefit, or from pure thoughtless good nature, to procure the pardon of any criminal however unworthy the exercise of mercy. The Governor, sorely beset, throw the responsibility upon the petitioners, and lets the criminal who has only partially expiated the just judgment of the law, go free, further to prey upon community, and again to receive a felon's doom. In most cases we believe it would be a mercy to the criminal to permit him to serve out his time, and no one can question that it would be a blessing to community.

The delay and uncertainty of justice do much, also, to promote and encourage crime. Most cases are bailable, and if the criminal thinks there is danger of his conviction, he walks off, and the bail bond is suffered to lie as so much useless lumber in the Commissioner's office. If the case comes to trial, ten to one that the accused escapes through some technicality, and if not, a good natured jury, which has more compassion for the criminal than regard for the innocent, pronounces a verdict of not guilty. In this way, scores of stabbings, and shootings, and murders, in our midst go unpunished. What can we expect, then, but that crime will increased It takes courage from impunity. It riots in sufferance. It laughs at justice, and mocks at the cries of innocent blood, and the pangs it carries to the sanctuary of the household.

We call upon our Judges and juries, upon our Prosecuting Attornies and Governors; upon all in authority, and upon all who exercise any influence over the subject, to endeavor to correct this growing and dreadful evil. Let such an one of justice pervade the public mind, that we shall never have occasion again to record the facts in so brutal and cowardly a manner as that committed on Monday, where a man flesing from danger, and offering no violence, was hurried to the dread tribunal of Heaven, without a moment in which to offer up one petition for the peace of his soul.

The carrying of deadly weapons is in itself a crime against society which ought to be severely punished, and judge and juries owe it to justice and to society, that when a crime has originated from this cause, to punish the culprit reverely The man who carries a pistol, or a dirk, or a bowie knife—as if he lived among brutal savages—is a ruffian at heart. He carries them for the purpose of using them, and he expects to use them, and he finally desires to use them. Having such arms about him, blunts his sensibilities, hardens his heart, brutifies his disposition, renders him quarrelsome and insulting in his conduct, and finally leads to some scene of blood. Let all such persons be severely dealt with. It is a barbarous and most disgraceful practice, of which no true gentleman, and certainly no Christian, would be guilty.

CLEVELAND AND MAHONING RAILROAD

The Directors of the Cleveland and Mahoning Railroad Company, in accordance with a resolution of the stockholders unanimously adopted, have made arrangements for the immediate location of the line. They have appointed EDWARD WARNER, Esq., their Chief Engineer, and we consider it fortunate that they have obtained his services. Mr. Warner, after several years service upon the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, came to the Ohio and Pennsylvania road with Mr. Roberts. He had charge of the party which made the location of the Eastern Division, from Pittsburgh to Alliance, 82 miles, and has remained upon it during its construction. The work being now nearly completed, he is about to leave it to take charge of a new enterprise as Chief Engineer; and we are confident that his high scientific attainments and long experience at his eminently for the post.

The object of the Company is to make a new railroad to Cleveland, passing by the town of Warren and through the heart of the Western Reserve, which is now destitute of railroad facilities. About three hundred thousand dollars have already been subscribed to the stock The Enon station, on the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad, is a point on the old mail stage road, and nearly on a straight line from Pittsburgh to Cleveland.

It is believed that the surveys will show that a line from that point, through Warren to Cleveland, can be made at a moderate cost, and that the whole distance between Pittsburgh and Cleveland can be run in five hours. Many of the friends of the project believe, that arrangements can readily be made with the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad Company, to run some of their passenger cars through to Cleveland on satisfactory terms, over the new road. The difficulties that now attend the railroad connection between the two cities will, in that case, be done away with, as the time tables will be arranged with respect to railroad speed throughout, and without regard to the time consumed on the river by steamboats between Wellsville and Pittsburgh.

We noticed Mr. Charles Ellet's rejoinder to Gen. Robinson's protest, in our paper of yesterday. To-day we give a reply of Gen. Robinson to the missive of Mr. Ellet. The reader will see that Gen. Robinson, feeling the strength of his cause, is prepared to carry the war into the Hempfield, and into Mr. Ellet too, until the belligerents are not only satisfied, but the public mind disabused of the false impressions made upon it by the plausible statements of men in the Wheeling interest.

Gen Robinson is certainly an extraordinary man. At an age verging on to three score years and ten, his mind is as clear and vivacious, and he enters into controversy with all the sprightliness and animation of a man of thirty. He performs herculean labors, takes long journeys, makes speeches, writes half the night, and with indomitable perseverance pursues the path he has marked out with an energy as untiring as it is beneficial to the community in which he resides. We think, however, the game he is now pursuing is scarcely worth the trouble. Mr. Ellet is well known in Philadelphia, and may be permitted to rest on any laurels he has won in the estimation of that people. He will do our "unfortunately located city," as he calls it, no harm, however great his disposition to injure us; and we think, Gen. Robinson can employ his valuable time to better purpose, in promoting the success of the great work which he so ably projected over, and which, notwithstanding Mr. Ellet's sneers, will eludicate itself, and add another important item to that immense weight of testimony which shows Mr. Charles Ellet to have been an unsafe adviser and a false prophet. We hope Gen Robinson will pay no further attention to him

MISREPRESENTATION.—The Pittsburgh Post, speaking of the recommendation of Gen. Scott, to give all foreigners the rights of citizenship, who faithfully serve their country in time of war, says:

"The fife and drum candidate of the Whigs would exclude all foreigners from the right of citizenship, unless they happened to be in the military service of the country.

The above is a gross and wilful misrepresentation of Gen. Scott, and intended to do him a wanton injury in the estimation of the public. The following is Gen Scott's language.

"I shall be ready, in my connection with Congress, to recommend or approve of measures in regard to the management of the public domain, so as to secure an early settlement of the same favorable to actual settlers, but consistent, nevertheless, with a due regard to the equal rights of the whole American people in that vast national inheritance, and also to recommend or to approve of a single alteration in our naturalization laws suggested by my military experience, viz: Giving to all foreigners the right of citizenship, who shall faithfully serve in time of war one year on board of our public ships, or in our land force—regular or volunteer—on their receiving an honorable discharge from the service."

So far from General Scott desiring to exclude any foreigners from the rights of citizenship, as the Post asserts, he recommends that the facilities for acquiring that inestimable privilege shall be increased to those who avail of their services in time of their adopted country. Does the common and substance of his recommendation, warrant the Post has tortured into it, using entirely diverse and opposite We suppose this policy of slander and misrepresentation will be kept up, but it will recoil upon the party which resorts to it. There are thousands of Democrats who will be driven to vote for General Scott, who possess the respect and veneration of the whole people by the wholesale abuse, and slanderous misrepresentations of such papers as the Post

The Whigs of the Crescent City have come up to the mark like men Although the most of them preferred Fillmore, yet when the news of the nomination of Scott and Graham was announced, they gave a hearty response, and scarcely a dissenting voice. The New Orleans Bee, a leading Whig paper in that city, has had the names of Fillmore and Pritchedon flying at its mast head for months, yet when it received the news of the nomination it at once put in their places the names of Scott and Graham, and its leading article contains a long, hearty and enthusiastic response to their nomination.

As far as can be known by outward appearances, the enthusiasm in New Orleans was equal to that which manifested itself in most of the other cities of the Union. "One might almost lose sight," says the Picayune (a neutral paper), "that the bombardment of Vera Cruz was being enacted again and within hearing, so long and loud were cannon made to peal in honor of the nomination of Scott and Graham."

THE LOBOS ISLANDS.—On account of the menacing attitude of the Peruvian Government, which unlawfully claims those islands, and has taken measures to prevent American sailors from gathering guano on them, our government has ordered a part of the Pacific Squadron to proceed there immediately, in order to protect our interests. At present almost all guano is brought from the Chinchs Islands, within the jurisdiction of Peru, which exacts a bonus of twelve dollars per ton on all gathered there. The guano trade of those islands is almost wholly monopolized by a British company who charge exhorbitant prices for all they sell. In these circumstances the American merchant cannot, of course, carry on a profitable trade with the Chinchs Islands

But with the Lobos Islands the case is altogether different There, the United States will for all practicable purposes, have the monopoly For several years ago, the British Government acknowledged the sovereignty of Peru over the islands, and, consequently, British seamen have no right to gather guano there without the consent of Peru. But since that, it has been found that the Lobos Islands are not a part of the possessions of that nation, of course all nations have an equal right to them; but England cannot take advantage of this right without violating her express declaration, that they do belong to Peru But little competition is to be feared from any other nation, as England and the United States carry on nearly all the commerce of that region.

This subject is one of great importance in its commercial and agricultural relations Millions of tons of guano are deposited on those islands, which will, eventually, all be carried away, most of it perhaps to this country. This will be a great and profitable branch of commerce. But the chief benefit arising from it will be the extensive introduction of this excellent manure for agricultural purposes in this country. Hitherto, the cost of guano has been so great as to prevent its being generally used, but if we are to have the unrestricted use of the deposits on the Lobos Islands, the cost will not be half so great as it is at present, and guano will then be considered a comparatively cheap manure.

GEN. SCOTT AND FATHER RITCHIE.—Some of the Whigs and part of the Democrats, too, may like to hear what was said by their old opponent "Father Ritchie" in regard to their Whig nominee for President. We quote then from the Washington Union of 1848:

General Scott is an older soldier than General Taylor, one who is at least equally, if not more accomplished, and who has distinguished himself by more and as brilliant battles during the war—who captured Vera Cruz, and the castle and the Capitol of Mexico; and one, too, who has more qualities of a civilian and is better known as a Whig.

HENRY CLAY AND JOHN RANDOLPH.—The Boston Journal thus alludes to the duel between John Randolph and Mr. Clay, an act which the latter regretted all his life, but to which he was provoked by one of the most wanton and meditated assaults ever made upon a public man:

"The particulars of the duel are well known. The excentric descendant of Pocahontas appeared on the ground in a huge morning gown. This garment constituted such a vast circumference that the locality of the swarthy Senator was at least a matter of very vague conjecture. The parties exchanged shots, and the ball of Mr. Clay hit the centre of the visible object, but Mr Randolph was not there! The latter had fired in the air, and immediately after the exchange of shots he walked up to Mr. Clay, parted the folds of his gown, pointed to the hole where the bullet of the former had pierced his coat, and, in the shrillest tones of his piercing voice, exclaimed, 'Mr. Clay, you owe me a coat—you owe me a coat!' to which Mr. Clay replied in a voice of slow and solemn emphasis, at the same time pointing directly at Mr. Randolph's heart, 'Mr. Randolph, I thank God that I am no deeper in your debt.'"

HEAT.—The thermometer yesterday stood, in the shade, in various parts of our city, at noon, at from ninety-one to ninety-six degrees. It reached ninety-eight during the afternoon.

GEN. SCOTT IN GEORGIA.—The Savannah Republican, which has hesitated to support the election of Gen. Scott, published on Tuesday, a telegraphic report (all right) of Gen. Scott's letter of acceptance, and says:

Should his letter be all that it is described to be in the despatch, it will change very materially our opinions of the position and future course of Gen. Scott. We shall await the arrival of the letter, however, when we and our readers will be better able to form a correct estimate of it.

A Washington despatch in the New York Herald says:

Mr. Webster, it is stated, has expressed himself as strongly opposed to the movement in favor of an independent nomination. He sees that it would be a miserable failure, and he has no desire to be placed in such a mortifying position. The President has written a very touching letter to Secretary Graham upon the occasion of his resignation.

The St. Louis Intelligencer makes the following rough estimate of the cost of the Western roads now in progress of construction, together with those that will probably be contracted for within a year or less:

Great Central Illinois, $16,000,000; Ohio and Mississippi, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, $9,000,000; Springfield and Alton, Illinois. $1,600,000, Galena and Chicago, Illinois, $4,000,000; Rock Island and Peru, Illinois, $2,000,000; Alton and Terre Haute, Illinois, $3,000,000; Indianopolis and Terre Haute, Indiana, $3,000,000; Pacific and Branches, Missouri, $6,000,000; other and lateral roads, $1,000,000. Making $45,600,000.

IRELAND.—The London Herald speaking of the "Ribband Conspiracy" says:

There is nothing in modern times that has reached the same extent of fearful enormity which distinguishes this dreadful combination. It pervades all society, as spies and agents surround the families of the gentry in their halls, and are mingled with the groups which assemble in the houses of entertainment, and around the farmers' hearths. Every word, and even look, is eavesdropped and reported by these familiars to the midnight council. The unsuspecting victim upon the scene of some subsequent day presents upon his ordinary business, having perhaps behind him at his home all that can confer real happiness in life. Before night closes in, the mangled body of their protector is carried back to the appointed gaze of the helpless beings dependent upon him. He has been slain by the secret stroke of this horrible tribunal. Not one fearful act is ever made manifest, but what done by the hands of merciless cowards from behind some hedge.

IMPRISONMENT OF AN AMERICAN CONSUL.—Intelligence from Acapulco to the 11th of June, states that much excitement has been caused on the part of the American population there, by the imprisonment of Francis W. Rice, U. S. Consul It seems that the American steamship Com. Stockton had been unlawfully seized by the Mexican authorities, some six months since, and Mr Rice has been labouring to get her clear from the Government ever since The steamer was advertised for sale, and was purchased by the Chief Engineer, on behalf of himself and some others of the crew, but not having complied with the terms, she was again advertised, and advertisements were posted about the city, which the Chief Engineer tore down. The steamship was not sold, as no bidder could be found willing to risk his money

The Chief Engineer lodged a complaint against the Consul, and a file of grass farmers were sent, as a sort of Mr. Rice and conducted him to prison in his uniform and with his bag

A letter from Acapulco says

I have visited Mr Rice at the Juzgado, and find him in full uniform, in company with many friends Her Britannic Majesty's Consul was conversing with him, and in fact I learn that the British Consul walked with him to prison.

The U S Consular flag is struck, and the office is closed How matters will terminate is quite uncertain, there seems to be but little prospect then to life and property of Americans at Acapulco

The American ships, the Meteors and steamship Independence, are obliged to get out of port as best they can The Independence will be obliged to be searched out of port by the British Consul, and the Meteor will have to work over as the authorities refused to let her have a pilot. The papers are endorsed by the U Consul who of course cannot sign any papers as matters stand at present

CHOLERA.—This disease still exists amongst us, but we have not been able to learn the precise number of cases or deaths We can only say that it is no longer confined to particular localities, but that it is not so rapid, violent and fatal in its effects as when it first broke out We have heard of three or four deaths since Tuesday, all but one among the Irish residents.—Maysville Eagle

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—A man in Albany, while trying whether a gun was loaded or not by blowing into the barrel, it went off and the contents, a blank cartridge, passed through his mouth and lodged in his stomach. He bled freely from his mouth, and was taken home in a dangerous condition.

CLARET STRAWBERRIES.—Mr Jas Monroe, a colored gentleman residing at No 9 Desig street, exhibited on Monday, two strawberries that measured 16 inches, and three that measured 15 inches These are among the largest specimens that we have seen. Mr. M can take the palm. —Rock Dem.
