The Pitteburgh fazette, of the 23d, has at article speaking in glowing terms of the proepects of the above named railread. As our read era are aware, who are familiar with the rail road system of the country, this road is intended to connect. Pitteburgh with the New York State line, where it will become united with line of railroad to Rochester. To show how th "movement" is going forward we extract t following from the article referred to in the Gastate:

"The President, Managers and Chief Engineer of the Allegheny Varley Bailroad will start this (kinoday) morning on a tour along the line of the road to the New York State line—holding meetings on the route, as was announced; early last week. This will afford an opportuninity to any of the friends of the road to make an interesting tour through that has thy and picture que valley, and it will give the mand
the people along the line a fine opportunity of conferring together as to the beat measures to be adopted for the property of the enterprise.

The meetings of the Board will be as follows:

**At the last annuel, place, it is a graceful that At the last name! place it is expected that they will be joined by the efficers of the Pittisburgh and Rochester Railread, which road will meet the Allegheny road at the state line. We are informed that that Company have overcome all their difficulties respecting their route, and are now prepared to unite cordulty with their friends of Pennsylvania in making their two roads form one direct and continuous road from come over use one and remayivania, and skeabeaville roads, to that city! This is the kind of affection felt for Philadelphia, whither Pittsburgh had sent Mr. Bobinson to defeat any proposition for aid to the Hempfield Bailroad—which work, although not promising any material advantages to Pittsburgh, is nevertheless destined, with the connections it will form at Wheeling with certain railroads centering there from the West and Southwest, to be of immense benefit to our city. Quite affectionate, indeed, is the tose of the Pittsburgh press towards us, when every effort is making by it to endeavor to check our progress and lessen our trade with the West, over the roads between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and to be transferred at that point to the A. V. Bailroad to the New York State line, thence into the Erie Bailroad and over it to New York city!

The Gasstie further remarks that, "the Ohio and Pennsylvania Road has not and never will have anything like the amount of heavy freight that the Allegheny Valley Road will have; and it has to contend with the great New York and Erier road as a competitor, while the Allegheny, road will be the great anoth-western begight of that Erie road as a competitor, while the Allegheny road will be the great south-vestern byggleh of that road, unting it with the Ohio river dig sumerous western restracted at Pittsburgh. In fact the more we look at the subject—viewing lit in reference to the rich mineral region through which it will pass, or extending the riow further, and seeting it as one of the principal links which will unite the great set work of railroads of New Fort and the New England States, with (at Pittsburgh) the still greater system which is rapidly stretching over the West and Southwest, we feel fully persuaded that it will be no sooner completed than it will be occupied with trade and travel to its utmost capacity."

In the above paragraph we may clearly and plainly assertian the state of the railroad barcplainly assertain the state of the railroad barc-meter of Plitsburgh as regards this city. Their roads, "stretching westward, particularly the Ohio and Pennsylvania Boad, (which would have Onlo and Fennyiwania Road, (which would have had no aristence at this day had it not been su perinduced, as a new order of trade and of traffit to Philadelphia, by the construction of our Central Road, and the advancement of a sufficiency for that purpose, of capital to push it on west ward from Pittiburgh) it acems, are to be turned. for that purpose, of capital to push it on west-ward from Pittiburgh) it seems, are to be turned to the secommodation of New York, that the trade of Pittiburgh may be increased and built up, no matter how much her neighbors may be made to suffer thereby.

But, we are probably attaching too much importance to the Aliepheny Valley Railroad in viewing it as likely to affect seriously the interests of this city. We have strong doubts as to whether that road is destined to eventually prove of so much value as the Gazette expects to realize by it. It will scarcely cause Pittaburgh to be the great distributing market for goods, that she valuely imagines and hopes and longs for; nor can it seriously endanger Philadelphia, or any dry goods market of equal cheapness, variety and extent. And the reason why we feel thus assured is that the Hempfeld Boatis rigorously going forward—the Sunbury and Eric Road—that great eye sere to New York, is admening—that great eye sere to New York, is a decading—as linking us to Eric—on Lake Eric—and the its advantages to them.

But, in conclusion, we cannot but refer again to the increasing effection of Pitzsburgh for us in playing into the hands of New York, by means of the A. V. Railroad. We think the course that city is pursuing, in this respect, will effectually change the feelings of those who were disposed to favor Mr. Robinson's will schemes in defeating the Intention of siding the Hempfield Read and per consequence the injury of the trade of Philadelphia. Pittsburg, in the A. V. Railroad, has taught us another lesson of her warm regard for us.; Shall we profit by it? We shall see.

o regard with pride and satisfaction-would reccirc any countenance from the people of that city, we could easily scatter to the winds all he stys by way of complaint or objection. We maiting to be annexed; Cubs remains in statu might ask our Philadelphia friends, in reply, whether they suppose they can subserve their throw herself into our arms or those of his shady

When the people of Philadelphia projected the road from that city to Eric, called the Sunbury and Eric Railroad, which is to pass along some hundred miles on which is to pass along some hundred miles on which is to pass along some hundred miles on which is to pass along the permission of us? or did we complain.

Certainly we have more cause to complain of that road that Philadelphia has to complain of the Alleghany Valley Road. But we did not complain—we had no right to complain;—so far from it, the papers of this city, our own among the number, always spoke encouragingly of that important enterprise. It may, indeed, draw faws some trade from us, but we cannot belp that.

The Hempfield project, however, is a very different affair. In the Pennsylvania Central Road our citizens have a large interest. They held some twelve hundred thousand dollars of the stock, and they protest, as they are bound to the next to the plant of the affair. In the plants and the plant of the stock, and they protest, as they are bound to the next to such a such as the plant of the stock, and they protest, as they are bound to the next three plants are the first of the stock, and they protest, as they are bound to the next three plants are the first of the stock, and they protest, as they are bound to the next three plants are the first of the holds in Boston, an honest to constitute of the whole was ordered to be engrossed by the constitution of the holds in Boston, an honest to constitute of the whole was ordered to be engrossed by the constitution of the holds in Boston, an honest to constitute or the plants of the holds and the plants of the plants of the plants of the stock, and they protest, as they are bound to the next three plants of the plants of t ton would not be undesirable, and she is suffithe stock, and they protest, as they are bound to

Our business relations with them are intimate and extensive, and we hope over will be. The most that can be said of this bill at present is, that it is a necessary and pcy-Dr. M'Lane, the inventor of the celebrated Liver Fills, used these pills for several years in his practice, before he could be induced to Gier them to the public in such a manner as to make them known thoughout the country. This learned physician felt the same respongeance that all high minded men of science itel in entering the list arabant those unscruptions empirice who obtrude their usaless mostrums upon the public, and rely upon a system of puffing to sustain them. Convinced, however, of the real value of the Liver Fills, and influenced by the plain dictates of duty, the Pootrof smally ascrificed his delicate feelings on the sitar of public good. His great medicine has not disappointed the expectations of the medical practitioners, at whose instance he was induced to forego this inclinations.
