PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

LEARNING THE CURRENCY.—A good thing occurred; however, a few days since, with the keeper of a small "Lager Bier" saloon, who undertook to teach his assistant, a thick-headed sprout of "Faderland," the difference between fivepence and sixpence.

"You see, John, de piece mit de woman ish de fivepence, and de piece midout de woman ish de sixpence."

"Yah!" said John, with a dull twinkle of intelligence.

A wag of a loafer, who overheard the lecture, immediately conceived the idea of a "saw," and "lager bier" gratis, for that day at least. Procuring a three cent piece, he watched the departure of the 'boss,' and going up to John, beaked for a mug of beer, throwing down the coin, and looking as if he expected his change. John, who remembered his recent lecture, took up the piece, and muttered to himself:

"Mildest de womans—'tish von sixpence," and he handed over three coppers change.

How often the aforesaid bier was drank that day we know not; it depended upon his thirst and the number of times he could change three coppers for three cent pieces, but when the 'boss' came home at night the number of small coins astonished him.

"Vat ish dese, John; you take so many?"

"Sixpeces," replied John, with a peculiarly satisfied leer.

"Sixpence! Dunder and blitzen! You take all dese for sixpence! Who from?"

"O man grand, peard like Kossuth; he dhring all day mid milself."

"Der tuyfell. You give him change every time!"

"Ya-ih!" said John, with a vacant stare.

"Der tuyval teach de Yankees," was all the astonished Dutchman could say.
