Mass Convention of the 23d.

PRIZE BANNERS!

☞The Scott Executive Committee for the County will present three Banners. One to the Ward of the two cities having the largest delegation in procession on the 23d inst. One to the township or borough in the county having the largest delegation, taking the distance to their residence, and one to the county, without respect to State, having the largest delegation, distance considered. BY THE COMMITTEE.

Antimasonic and Whig County Convention

☞In consequence of the decease of our respected fellow citizen JOHN GEBHART, who received the nomination as the Whig candidate for the office of the Associate Judges of the Courts of Quarter Sessions, at the Antimasonic and Whig Convention, which met on the second day of June last, it becomes necessary to supply his place on our ticket—we, therefore, the members of the last Convention are requested to meet on the next Friday, September 24th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., at the Court House in Pittsburgh, for the purpose of nominating a person as a candidate for the Associate Judgeship, in Mr. Gebhart's place. JOSIAH KING, Chairman.

☞HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION—The Annual Exhibition of the Pittsburgh Horticultural Society will be held at Masonic Hall, on the 23d, 24th, 25th and 27th days of September. All articles for exhibition must be reported to the Committee of Arrangements, before 9 o'clock, A. M., on the 23d day of September.

Family tickets $1; single tickets 25 cents. By order of the EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Frontier Convention.

☞In addition to the speakers before announced 2 to be present on the 23rd inst. Hon. LESLIE COMBS of Kentucky, Hon. CHARLES ANDERSON of Ohio, and Hon. THADDEUS STEVENS of Pa., have signified their intention to be present.

The County, Ward, Borough and Township Delegation, competing for the prize Banners, will be counted on their entry into the inclosure.

Both of the Railroad Co's have reduced their fare to half prices. By order of the EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

WHIGS HANG OUT YOUR BANNERS!

We are desired by the Scott Executive Committee to request all the friends of Whig principles, and the veteran old Hero, who is our leader in this Presidential campaign, to hang out their flags, and other emblems of their political faith, prior to our great Mass Meeting to-morrow. The day of trial draws near. It is time to enter on the campaign in earnest. Come, brother Whigs, arouse! Let us give the intervening time before the election to our country, our cause, our candidate and principles. Hang out your banners, one and all, and prepare to give Gen. Scott the largest majority ever given to a Whig candidate in Allegheny County.

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS.

Among the distinguished gentlemen from abroad, who will attend our Mass Convention to MORROW, are Hon. LESLIE COMBS, of Kentucky, Hon. CHAS. ANDERSON, of Ohio, and Hon. THADDEUS STEVENS, of Pa., all of them famous on the stump, powerful, soul-stirring orators. Large delegations will be here from various quarters, and we hope our Whig citizens will turn out en masse, and give a day to their country.

Come from the hills where your cattle are grazing,
Come from the glen of the buck and the doe,
Come from the woods where the Scott fire is blazing,
Come from the plains of the valleys below.
Come from the peaks where the eagles are screaming,
Come from the forest where wild flowers bloom,
Come from the cottage where young Hope is dreaming,
Come up and show our opponents their room.
Come upon horseback, but come without fooling,
Come in your carriages, wagons and carts,
Come where the thunder of freemen is rumbling,
Come and replenish the hopes of your hearts.
Come in good spirits, and come without feasting,
Come with your neighbors, your friends, and what not,
Come, for the truth will be quite sickening,
Come and hear "Leslie Combs" talk about Scott.

The new Catholic Cathedral is fast rising in its magnificent proportions. When it is finished, with its splendid dome, and its two lofty spires, each two hundred feet in height, it will be not only the most imposing and magnificent structure but the finest specimen of architecture of which our city can boast, and will hardly be equaled in any city in the United States. Trinity church, New York, notwithstanding it cost so large an amount of money, is not as imposing an edifice as this will be.

Pittsburghers have reason to be proud of the many fine buildings clustering about what used to be Grant's Hill. Our Court House, the finest in the country, and admired by all strangers; St. Peter's church, a unique and most beautiful structure, substantial as the rock on which it stands, with its tall spire pointing to the skies; the splendid cathedral above noticed; and the Custom House, a very fine building, are all in that neighborhood.

THE HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION.—Yesterday evening we stopped in for a few moments, to the Horticultural Fair, and confess we were both surprised and delighted with the fine display of flowers, Green House Plants, Fruits and Vegetables. The arrangements are all in good taste, and evince both artistic skill and cultivation. We hope none of our citizens will fail to embrace the opportunity to enjoy so rare an exhibition of the loveliness of nature. There is a duty connected with it, as well as a privilege, as a large attendance encourages and enables our horticulturalists to put forth greater efforts for the future. The exhibition year this surpasses all which have gone before it, as we have no doubt the next year will surpass this. The Fair is open during the day and evening.

The Alton and Springfield, Illinois, Rail Road was opened a few days since. The Telegraph of the 9th says, the distance which separates the two places is reduced to less than three hours, and their facilities for trade and commerce are in the same proportion increased. Henceforth these two cities and the intervening country enter upon a new career of business and prosperity, the ultimate effects of which we can only conjecture.

HURRAH FOR GREENE COUNTY!

The gallant Whigs of Greene county are full of enthusiasm, and the excitement among them spreads like wild fire. The last Greene County Whig displays the most ardent enthusiasm, and among other cheering announcements has the following:

OUR FLAG IS THERE!

On Saturday last the Whigs of Waynesburg and vicinity, raised a SCOTT and GRAHAM Pole 187 feet high. A beautiful streamer and National Flag, wrought by the fair hands of the Whig Ladies of this Borough, and nailed to the mast, now float beautifully to the breezes of Heaven. The same 'broad Stripes and bright Stars,' that bore by American soldiers led on by WINFIELD SCOTT, have floated victoriously over a hundred hard fought battle fields. And now destiny has again decreed that in this, his last and greatest battle, the ever victorious banner of WINFIELD SCOTT, shall be crowned with such a victory as will draw forth the cheers, and gladden the hearts of millions of Freemen!

THE OFFICE OF SHERIFF.

The contest for the office of Sheriff is overruling all other considerations to be decided in this county at the approaching annual election. That unprincipled and notorious individual, JOE BARKER, who has been so long the nuisance and the disgrace of this city, has succeeded, by his smooth tongue and unscrupulous statements, in making a most extraordinary impression, and there are many good men who are really alarmed, for fear that this great county, the second in population and position in the Commonwealth, is to be ineffably disgraced by the election of such a disreputable man to the office of High Sheriff. We feel confident that this is a mistake. We cannot believe that we have a sufficient number of voters, who can be so dereliet to their duty as American citizens, so forgetful of their own honor, and the welfare of their families, so regardless of the character and prosperity of the county, to secure the election of Joe Barker. The idea seems incredible to us, and we repel it as unworthy to be entertained. We cannot think so meanly of our fellow citizens.

We admit, however, as we said above, that Joe Barker has succeeded in making a most extraordinary impression, by a constant reiteration of the grossest falsehoods and slanders upon Mr. Magill and others; and that there are men to be found, and many of them, too, who appear resolved to brave the contempt and scorn of all sensible and reflecting men and good citizens; by throwing away their votes upon an individual so utterly unworthy. It therefore behooves all good citizens to rally to Mr. Magill's support, not so much for his sake as their own. If there is any danger of Joe Barker's election, as some persons aver there is, but which we cannot believe, there is only one man who can defeat him—Mr. Magill—and there is no time to be lost, in rallying to the rescue of the county from such a foul reproach. From all we can learn, and we have made diligent inquiry, Barker will injure the opposition fully as much as the Whigs, so that the only way to avert the danger, if danger there is, is to support Mr. Magill, who is a highly worthy citizen, and is deserving of the vote of every Whig in the county.

People who are so ready to listen to the foul slanders of Barker, against Mr. Magill, should recollect that they are shamefully wronging a good man, and disgracing their own manhood. Let them recollect that it may be their fortune some day to be placed in a public position, when some low bred blackguard, to subserve his own interests, or gratify a hellish revenge, may assail them and asperse their characters. Will they then think it a decent, manly act for others to stand by and wink at the foul wrong, and urge on the slanderer, and encourage him by promising him their votes! And yet such is the course some men in this county are pursuing, which lay claim to respectability! Shame, shame! Such men ought never again to look an honest man in the face!—and no one who votes for Joe Barker can ever expect to be respected by his fellow-citizens, or be supported for any office, while the recollection of so disgraceful an act endures.

The city of Pittsburgh was sufficiently disgraced when Joe Barker was promoted from a felon's cell to the Mayor's seat, but there was more excuse for that act, bad as it was, than any which can be offered now. Joe was then less known, it was thought that he had been hardly used, and there was strong sympathy in his favor. In a moment of reprehensible infatuation he was elected, and bitterly did the inhabitants regret their ill-advised and thoughtless act. There was neither safety, peace nor decency in the administration of the city affairs while he held the reins of power. He displayed more the character of a madman than that of a reasonable being, and so outrageous was his conduct, that at the end of his term he was rejected by the people, and again consigned to a felon's cell, where he exploited his crimes. Is it not a matter of that such a man can obtain any credence for his slanderous statements, or secure any votes for the high and dignified office of Sheriff. If the people of this county desire to be sorely punished for their folly, they will persist in their efforts to consummate their own disgrace by electing Joe Barker, and their punishment will follow quick, and be richly deserved. The calamity would be that the innocent would suffer with the guilty.

As we said above, for ourselves we do not fear that Joe Barker will succeed. We have too much faith in the good sense and high moral tone of a large majority of our citizens. Still, many believe there is danger, and it is possible there may be. The emergency is sufficient to require that every good citizen should be on the alert. We, therefore, call upon every true man, and true Whig in the county to go to work to avert this impending calamity. Let each Whig see that his own district is right, that the minds of the voters are disabused of Barkers slanders, and that all attend the polls, and vote for the regular Whig candidate, WM. MAGILL.

TO THE FRIENDS OF LIBERTY AND HUMANITY.

We cheerfully give place to the following appeal to the benevolent, whom God has blessed with country, home, and friends, and with an abundance of the good things of this life, in behalf of an exiled Hungarian, a gentleman of learning and standing in his own country, who has been compelled to seek a home here, to escape the oppressions of the heartless tyrant who now rules with a rod of iron over his hapless fatherland.

The undersigned feels it to be his duty, as a Christian and patriot, to introduce to the benevolent regard and friendly aid of Christians and other philanthropists, Mr. John Meray, an exiled Hungarian, who came with a number of other Hungarians, with me from Liverpool, last year, in the steamship "City of Manchester."

His love of country and hatred of oppression brought down upon him and many others the persecuting arm of the tyrannical House of Hapsburg. The result was, he was cast into prison and lost all his earthly means of support. He is now destitute of making his way to the Hungarian settlement in Iowa, but is nearly penniless, and has to make his appeal to the lovers of freedom, virtue and religion, for "material aid" to help him on his way.

From all I saw of him on the voyage, and which I learn from others, I believe the above to be true history, and that he is worthy of assistance.

GEORGE MARSHALL,
Pastor of Pres. Church of Bethel,
Allegheny County, Pa.

The friend of liberty and humanity who will find a pleasure to give a little material aid to help this exile on his way, can leave it at this office, and it will be faithfully devoted to the object for which it is designed. Whatever is done should be done to-day, as M. Meray wishes to hasten on his journey.

THE PITTSBURGH AND ERIE RAILROAD.—The Greenville Press says that $500,000 have been subscribed to the Pittsburgh and Erie Railroad, which renders it certain that the work will be successfully prosecuted to completion. Of this amount $450,000 have been subscribed by the counties of Lawrence, Mercer and Crawford, in their corporate capacity. The Greenville paper makes the following appeal to Pittsburgh:

While on this subject we cannot forbear saying that we think the citizens of Pittsburgh ought to show some liberality towards this work. It is seldom spoken of in their papers, as their whole attention is given to their Ohio connections and the Alleghany Valley. Now the truth is, this Pittsburgh and Erie Railroad will carry a great trade and travel to that city, part of which will be along their own road, the Penna. And Ohio Road, unless the Pittsburghers by their course, succeed in entirely alienating the feelings and business of this section of the country. We may add that many of our business men are now hesitating between Pittsburgh and Buffalo and New York. Representations have been made, that our road can get assistance in New York if necessary. We do not doubt this, but would prefer to have it entirely Pennsylvanian in its means and character. The county of Allegheny gave a million of dollars to the Central Road—perhaps an equal amount to the Ohio connection. They now propose to give half a million to the Alleghany road. Can they not give 50, or 100,000 dollars to the Pittsburgh and Erie Road? This would serve to conciliate the citizens along the entire route, and would be amply repaid to that city in the trade and travel it would bring to that point.

A vote was taken on the Buckeye State, while on her last trip from Buffalo to this port, the result of which was as follows:—Scott, 99; Pierce, 38; Hale, 12; Abbey Folsom, 1. If Abbey can't make a better show than that, she will begin to think 'republics are ungrateful."—Cleve. Herald

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN AND THE TIMES.

The London Times has certainly [illegible] the right to take its place at the h[illegible] cofoco press. In ability it is fo[illegible]ably in advance of its American adjuncts; [illegible] its advocacy of Pierce's election is quite as ardent and probably more efficient than their for although its English readers cannot vote they can pay, and a few thousand pounds of "material aid" will be of great service to its party in this country in this hour of tribulation. England can well afford to back up the arguments of the Times and other kindred prints with munificent contributions, to secure the election of the "valuable practical ally to the commercial policy of that country."

The whole weight of the Times has for years been thrown into the scale of despotism against liberty. In the fearful struggle between Hungary and the House of Hapsburg, the latter found a powerful ally in that greatest of papers; and the butcher Haynau ever found in it an apologist and advocate. When Kossuth escaped from his Turkish prison and made his appearance amongst freemen, the heaviest thunders of the Times were directed against him. Its very instincts are despotic; and, true to those instincts, it has come out with an article of tremendous power against "Uncle Tom's Cabin" That the great advocate of Haynau and his master should labor to nullify the influence of such a book is not surprising; for it is dangerous to the "peculiar institutions" of Europe as well as America, and is spreading among the people there with the same marvelous rapidity that it is doing here. The Times says:

"In England several large editions of it have been issued in rapid succession, and it is read with universal avidity. The great mass of English readers fasten upon it, of course, as material from which to feed their prejudices against the United States. The great body of the English journals speak of it in this light and hold it up as a great work to show how miserably towards this work. cacy of Pierce's election is quite as ardent and [illegible] sit

"For half a century Ireland has had perfectly free trade with the richest country in the world; and what has that free trade done for her? She has even now no employment for her teeming population, except upon the land. She ought to have had, and might easily have had, other and various employments, and plenty of it. Are we to believe the calumny that the Irish are lazy and worthless? Is Irish human nature different from other human nature? Are not the most laborious of all laborers in London and New York, Irishmen? Are Irishmen inferior in understanding? We Englishmen who have personally known Irishmen in the army, at the bar, and in the church, know there is no better head than a disciplined Irish one. But in all these cases, that master of industry, the stomach, has been well satisfied. Let an Englishman exchange his bread and beer, and beef and mutton, for no pay, for a lukewarm bumper at dinner, and no supper. With much dirt how much better is he than an Irishman—as Cobbett, an Irishman, can tell, he calls him! No, the truth is, that the misery of Ireland is not from the human nature that grows there—it is from England's perverse legislation, past and present."—Barnard Sykes.

"Throughout the South and West of Ireland," said an English traveller in 1842, before the potato famine, "the traveller is haunted by the face of the popular starvation. It is not the exception—it is the condition of the people. In this fairest and richest of countries, men are suffering and starving by millions. There are thousands of them, at this moment, stretched in the sunshine at their cabin doors with no work, scarcely any food, no hope seemingly. Strong men are lying in bed for the hunger—because a man only living on [illegible] can't work. He need so much food as a person else. Many of them have torn up the unripe potatoes from their little gardens to exist now, and must look to winter, when they shall have to suffer starvation and cold."

"Everywhere throughout all parts, even in the best towns, and in Dublin itself, you will meet men and boys—nor dressed nor covered—but hung round with a collection of rags of unrivalled variety, squalidity, and filth, walking dungbills—no one ever saw an English scarecrow with such rags."—Quar. Review.

The population numbered in 1850 one million six hundred and fifty-nine thousand less than it did in 1840, on the land, while in the towns the population increased. Announcing these facts, the London Times, the great organ of the British free traders, stated that "for a whole generation man had been a drug in Ireland, and population a nuisance. The Times further rejoices in the prospect that the resources of Ireland will now probably be developed, as the Saxon takes the place of the Celt, who has so long been the wood and drawn the water, for his Saxon masters. Prosperity and happiness may some day reign over that beautiful island. Its fertile soil, its rivers and lakes, its water power, its minerals and other materials may one day be developed; but all appearances are against the belief that this will ever happen in the days of the Celt. That tribe will soon fulfill the great law of Providence, which seems to enjoin and reward the union of races. It will mix with the Anglo Americans, and will be so more known as a jealous and separate people. Its present place will be occupied by the more mixed, more docile, and more servitude, race which has long borne the yoke of sturdy industry on this island, which can submit to a master and obey the law. This is no longer a dream, for it is a fact now in progress, and every day more apparent. The destruction of the Celtic race at the rate of a quarter of a million a year, a surer remedy for the inveterate Irish disease than any human wit could have imagined. When the Celt has crossed the Atlantic, to begins for the first time in his life, to consume the manufactures of this country, and indirectly to contribute to its customs. We may possibly live to see the day when the chief product of Ireland will be cattle, and English and Scotch the majority of her population.

The nine or ten millions of Irish, who by that time will have settled in the United States, cannot be but friendly to England, and will certainly be much better customers to her than they now are."—London Times.

IMPORTANT FROM YUCATAN.—The New Orleans Picayune of the 10th inst says—"We have received some private information from Yucatan, that a movement is on foot in that state, to apply to the United States for protection and annexation. Some of the leading men in the country are engaged in the movement."

The Best Liniment in use.

BUSHFIELD'S NERVE & BONE LINIMENT—Words fail to express, that having sprained my ankle so bad as to be unable to work for a long time without relief, I was induced after applying other remedies without relief, I was induced to use Bushfield's Liniment. I procured a bottle of it, applied it as directed and it proved an almost immediate relief, and with one bottle I was cured, sound and well, and am pleased to say I have used it in my family ever since, and have never, or is now in use. GEORGE H THOMPSON.

Allegheny City, Sept. 10th, 1852.

Still More Testimony.

Mr. James McGuffy—Dear Sir—I wish to say to you, that from the use of Bushfield's Invaluable Nerve and Bone Liniment, I have saved the life of a valuable horse that was among the few, by W V Wallace, Kitty Neil, Home sweet Home, Hope and the Rose, Nursery of Harmony, Early Lost Early Saved, Fleurs-en-ton Polka, Little Red Riding Hood, My Baby's Polka, Gipsy Girl's " Pearl " " Fashion " " Queen of the Lake " World's Fair " Polka Mazurka, Happy Family Polka, Albion Scottish, Maiden's " Polka Mazurka, Lark " Waltz, Heavenward Waltzes Also—a large assortment of all the new and popular Songs, Polkas, Waltzes, &c., published just rec'd and for sale by JOHN H.
