PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

OUR COUNTRY'S FLAG.

Air—"Red, White, and Blue."

When war breathed its hot desolation,
And threatened the land to deform,
The spirit arose forth for the nation
And lightened the heart dealing storm.
With his pinions proudly waving above him—
His sweet flashing courage arousal.
His heart that beats near him must love him
Till death lays B cold in the ground.

Then home for our country's protector,
Her son, her sword, and her shield—
The spark that soon must direct her
Is Cabinet, Congress and field.
Then round about the round, ready chorus,
Let the star-spangled banner still wave,
For Scott its defender's before us,
To rescue, defend and to save.

Give honor to him who deserves it,
The statesman and warrior combined—
He deserves, of a country, who serves it,
The very best gift of mankind.
Then let us to work, flagging not, boys!
The reward meets the brave and the true,
Three rousing, hearty cheers then for Scott, boys!
We honor our proud Red, White, and Blue.
